DOESN'T BELIEVE IN SIGNS

Photographer Ty Barber caught this deer tip-toeing delicately across the soft green turf of the Tamalpais High School athletic field. Why the deer strayed from the protective brush and better grazing in nearby hills onto the open, exposed field, no one knew. But, obviously, the creature figured it was immune from any of the bans emblazoned on the sign.

Apollo 16 Heading Home

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Apollo 16's lunar explorers returned to their orbiting mother ship today with a record 245-pound surprise package of rocks. A leading scientist predicted it will be the most important cache yet brought back from the moon.

John W. Young and Charles M. Duke left on the moon a 18.4 mile web of car tracks and footprints as testimony to man's only planned expedition to the rocky central highlands.

The two moonwalkers and command module pilot Thomas K. Mattingly were adding more moon photography today to their scientific harvest, and they were to deploy a small satellite before blasting out of lunar orbit at 9:16 p.m. EST and heading back home.

They are due to splash down in the Pacific Ocean Thursday, a day early and 50 pounds overweight. Their heavy load of moon samples will be rushed to the Lunar Receiving Laboratory at the Space Center Saturday for preliminary analysis by impatient scientists.

Scientists were elated over the results of the three days Young and Duke spent exploring a hummocky valley between Stone Mountain to the south and North Ray Crater on the flank of the smokies to the north. Their investigations may force major revisions in the chronicle of the moon's early history.

"I think these findings will be the single most important set of elements in understanding the history of the moon," said Dr. Harold Masursky, an Apollo geologist from the U.S. Geological Survey.

Of the five-hour moon exploration Sunday, flight director M. Pete Frank said: "It was really the crowning achievement for the Apollo 16 crew. I just don't know what could have been done better, or done more."

Young and Duke rocketed off Descartes Base in full view of a television camera and rejoined Mattingly in the command ship Casper at 10:35 p.m. Sunday. The camera that showed the launch still is operating and engineers hope it will last until the sun sets over Descartes.

Once docked to Casper, Young and Duke transferred 111 moon rocks and soil samples and 1,745 frames of film from Orion to Casper's storage lockers. The samples were coated with dust and at one point, Duke said:

"Looks like a dust storm in this cockpit."

The two astronauts finally glided through the manhole-sized tunnel linking the two docked craft about 2 a.m. today and retired for most of the morning.

"As the sun sinks slowly in the west, we bid a fond farewell to old MCC (Mission Control Center)," Young said after controllers bade them good night.

Young and Duke went to the moon looking for pieces of fossil lava flows that geologists thought had formed much of the highlands. Instead they found black and white breccia —complex rocks made up of smaller rock fragments welded together by billions of years of meteoroid bombardment.

In roaming the heavily cratered, boulder-littered surface, Young and Duke produced four moon exploration records.

Their 71-hour, 2-minute stay on the surface was four hours longer than the mark set by Apollo 15 last summer, and they also spent more time out of their spacecraft —20 hours and 15 minutes —than did their predecessors. They drove farther than Apollo 15, and Apollo 16's haul of lunar samples is 75 pounds heavier, than Apollo 15's, and 50 pounds more than originally planned for this mission.

The greatest success of Young and Duke came Sunday when they drove their moon buggy up the slopes of the largest crater man has ever visited on the moon. They sampled rocks as big as houses; found soil in a "gopher hole" that had been shielded from the sun for millions of years; and measured the strongest magnet yet found on the moon.

While Young and Duke were investigating the surface, Mattingly was mapping the moon from Casper in orbit and scientists said the results of the ship's radiation sensors were excellent.

Before his colleagues left the moon, Mattingly changed his orbit without difficulty. It was such an orbital change that led to the harrowing drama Thursday that nearly scrubbed the landing.

High Court Switch On Miranda Decision Hearing

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Without explanation, the Supreme Court changed its mind today and decided against reconsidering the controversial 1966 Miranda confession ruling.

The action reversed a Court order on March 20 that it would hear arguments in a Philadelphia case which might have resulted in modification at least of the Miranda decision that confessions may not be used against a suspect who has not been advised of his right to remain silent.

The appeal involving the Miranda rule had been brought by Philadelphia authorities from a state supreme court finding in favor of Paul D. Ware who was accused of four robbery-murders.

In today's reversal, the Court merely denied a request for a hearing and said the state court decision in Ware's case "rests upon an adequate state ground."

It had been widely believed that when the Court decided last month to hear the Ware case, it meant that four justices appointed by President Nixon could join with opponents of the original 5-4 Miranda ruling and perhaps overturn it.

The Miranda ruling was one of the most controversial of the Court under former Chief Justice Earl Warren. It was blamed by "law and order" advocates for handcuffing the police and allowing criminals to go free.

Only two justices who voted for the landmark 1966 decision, William J. Brennan Jr. and William O. Douglas, are still on the Court.

Philadelphia District Attorney Arlen Specter had asked the Court to review state court rulings that quashed Ware's confession to four murders. Specter contended in part that the 1968 crime control act setting new standards for confessions should apply.

The state court ruled out the use of Ware's confessions on grounds he had not been advised of his right to a lawyer and to remain silent as required under Miranda.

Ware confessed to the murders in 1963 but trial was delayed until 1970 when authorities found him mentally competent to stand trial. Meanwhile, the Supreme Court had made its confessions ruling applicable to all cases tried after the Miranda decision.

Specter urged the Court to reconsider Miranda, calling it an "unjust rule that has existed for too long in this nation." He said it was never meant to apply to confessions made so long ago.

President Nixon's two most recent court appointees — Justices Lewis F. Powell Jr. and William H. Rehnquist —are both on record as criticizing the Miranda decision. Justices Potter Stewart and Byron R. White dissented in the original finding. Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Nixon-appointee Harry A. Blackmun have indicated in other opinions that they would not extend Miranda.

Justice Thurgood Marshall was the only other considered likely to join Brennan and Douglas in favor of Miranda.

Whether Marin's Maverick grand juror, Richard W. Beban, will be held in contempt for refusing to turn over documents about the Sausalito police probe leaked to the press won't be known until at least Friday.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court continued the contempt hearing from today so that transcripts can be obtained of the April 11 jury session at which Beban allegedly refused and the hearing at which the presiding judge issued the order to show cause.

Deputy Atty. General Timothy A. Riordan said the documents had not been prepared because he expected presiding Judge Henry J. Broderick to hold the contempt hearing.

Beban's attorney, Carl B. Shapiro, challenged the order to show cause, saying the subpoena was invalid and claiming Riordan had not established either that the papers sought were relevant to the investigation or that Beban had them and could produce them.

At issue is a preliminary report by a grand jury subcommittee studying the Sausalito police which appeared in newspapers before it had been adopted by the grand jury.

The report finally adopted was a stronger document because it recommended firing the police chief and his two top subordinates as well as noting what amounted to a quota system of arrests.

But an investigtion was undertaken and Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales turned it over to the attorney general's office saying he didn't want to conduct it because he is the jury's legal advisor.

Subpoenaed, Beban appeared before the grand jury April 11, but he refused to turn over the leaked report despite Riordan's warning he could be held in contempt.

Riordan, who was assigned to the investigation, said today that Beban's is the only one of the original 21 copies that has not been turned in.

However, he said he still doesn't have a suspect. Studying all the copies of the report, possibly for fingerprints, is only the first step in his investigation of the leak, he said.

Audit Withheld By Top EOC Personnel

Undistributed Due To 'Press Of Business'

By ERIK M. INGRAM

A long-awaited federal audit of the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council has been in the hands of some officials for days, unbeknownst to others.

The Independent-Journal learned today that the poverty agency received eight copies of the document Thursday but due to the "press of other business" neglected to inform the board of directors.

Most directors reached today said the first they saw of the confidential document was the article in Saturday's I-J.

As reported Saturday, a preliminary federal audit of the financially troubled agency disclosed that the agency and two former employees misused more than $100,000 last year.

Included in that figure was nearly $63,000 mistakenly sent to the agency and then used to cover operating deficits accumulated somehow during the past two years.

Also, the federal audit revealed that former executive director W. Robert Lomax Jr. and a top aide used nearly $12,000 of agency funds for personal expenses.

Lomax and his aide, Alfred Edmonds, have repaid the agency for the bulk of their private expenditures but more than $2,500 remains unpaid.

Asked about the document today, board chairman Barbara Eaton said the agency staff received eight copies last Thursday but hadn't got around to distributing them, although the board of directors had previously been promised copies as soon as they became available.

Mrs. Eaton said they hadn't been sent out because not enough copies were received.

She said the documents might have been reproduced but added staff members had been too busy with other business. "That (reproducing the documents) would have been fine if you have nothing else to do," she said.

Two other board members gave different versions today, however, charging that neither Mrs. Eaton nor Ben Young, acting executive director, had any intention of distributing the documents Friday to the full board.

Gerald J. Hood, who represents the Marin County Labor Council, said he was asked Friday by both Mrs. Eaton and Young if he would attend a "special meeting of selected directors" to review the document.

Hood said he declined the invitation to attend the clandestine meeting since the full board had been promised copies of the document and such a meeting would violate tha promise.

Mrs. Eaton acknowledged today that some thought had been given to a special meeting but said it was scrapped in favor of sending the document out as promissd.

She said, however, that the document still has not been distributed. "There was no deliberate attempt to keep anything from the board," she added.

Another member of the board, William J. Bielser of San Rafael, said today he also was informed of a "pre-audit committee" which would review and comment on the document before it was released to the full board.

"It sounded like a whitewash job to me, so I said no," Bielser said.

Bielser, like Hood and several others, has been an outspoken critic of the EOC during the past three months.

"The federal audit underscores the necessity to dissolve this agency and start over again," Bielser said.

Board secretary Adelaide P. Wilson of Fairfax, past vice chairman, said she knew the extent of the audit findings months ago. "There's a lot more to it" than appears in the audit, she said.

Mrs. Wilson explained that some items listed as misused may eventually be judged to be proper expenditures after negotiations are held with the federal Office of Economic Opportunity in San Francisco.

North Vietnamese Strike Five Dak To Area Bases

SAIGON (UPI)—North Vietnamese forces led by tanks have knocked out five government bases in the Dak To region of the Central Highlands and sent the defenders retreating southward toward Kontum with thousands of refugees, front dispatches said today.

The developing threat to Kontum Province in the Central Highlands 280 miles north of Saigon came as Communist forces attacking at close range pinned down two South Vietnamese battalions only 38 miles north of Saigon in a new threat to the city. In Cambodia the Communists captured 10 more miles of Highway 1 leading to Saigon.

The air war over North Vietnam heated up and B52s joined fighter-bombers in strikes today against the port of Thanh Hoa, 82 miles south of Hanoi. Hanoi said the B52s bombed the port city "indiscriminately" and its surrounding regions.

One B52 was hit today by shrapnel from an exploding SAM missile but landed safely at Da Nang with no injury to the six crew members. One Navy F4 Phantom was lost Sunday but the two crew members were picked from the Tonkin Gulf. Hanoi claimed one B52 and two fighter-bombers shot down today and said shore batteries set fire to a U.S. warship shelling Thanh Hoa.

South Vietnamese sources said a full North Vietnamese division of 13,000 men led by 20 tanks was involved in the Kontum Province attacks and called it the start of the longawaited Communist offensive there. U.S. military advisers at the scene said about 3,000 North Vietnamese were believed involved and that nine or 11 of the tanks had been knocked out.

The principal base to fall today was Tan Canh, forward headquarters of the South Vietnamese 22nd Division, two miles northwest of Dak To. Front dispatches said communications were knocked out and the defenders fled. Other bases captured by the North Vietnamese Sunday and today were all nearby—Dak To II, a regimental base and artillery bases Dien Binh, Hotel and Zulu.

In today's fighting the Communists shot down a U.S. helicopter, killing the four crewmen, and field reports said six U.S. military advisers were "missing" in ground action.

Groundfire forced down a helicopter flying former Lt. Col. John Paul Vann, now a civilian adviser in the area, but he flew off in a Loach observation chopper. A third helicopter flipped over on its back when it became overloaded with South Vietnamese troops fleeing the area, UPI correspondent Matt Franjola reported.

Some of the defenders were reported falling back toward Kontum, 55 miles to the south. Kontum itself is heavily defended by airborne troops. The airport there was put briefly out of action today when it was hit by nine rounds of 122 mm fire.

Tiburon Vote Is Recounted

Vote recounting got under way at 9 a.m. today in Tiburon City Council chambers in an effort to clear up who won one seat on the council before councilmen are seated at tonight's meeting.

Counting was expected to finish by midafternoon, city officials said. The recount was requested by Councilman Anne L. Ellinwood, who according to county figures lost her council seat by two votes to attorney Allan N. Littman.

Tiburon residents performing the recount are Vivienne Winblad, Harry Matthews, Dorothy Levitan and Gertrude Schleiger.

Unidentified Teen-Ager Is Found Electrocuted

An unidentified youth was electrocuted yesterday when he touched a 60,000-volt electrical wire with a crowbar while climbing a 54-foot Pacific Gas and Electric Company transmission tower on Alto Hill.

Mill Valley police and Alto fireman, called at 4:42 p.m. found the teen-ager lying on the tower's base, his body aflame from the waist up.

They said the body was discovered by two girls riding horses in the area who saw the youth catch fire and drop to the ground after hanging briefly from the transmission line. A blackened, partially melted crowbar was found nearby, officers reported.

The youth, who suffered extensive burns on the shoulders, arms and left side of the face and several fractures from the fall, was apparently killed instantly, according to the Marin County coroner's office.

He was described as between 16 and 18 years old, 5 feet, 10 inches tall, 150 pounds, with brown eyes and hair and wearing boots, blue levis, a blue and gray striped shirt and a brown jacket.

Police today were trying to discover his identity from high school class notes found in a paperback book in his pocket.

Big Dip In Prices Soon — Grayson

NEW YORK (UPI)—Price Commission Chairman C. Jackson Grayson announced today there will soon be millions of dollars in price reductions, some of them resulting in refunds to persons who have bought items during the last few months.

The big firms involved will be making the reductions, he said, because their financial statements for the first quarter of this year, now being filed with the Price Commission, reveal they have exceeded the government's profit margin ceiling.

"...beginning late last week, the Price Commission inaugurated a series of major actions which will result in hundreds of millions of dollars of price reductions, which will roll back current prices of some of the country's largest companies to their base period levels," Grayson said.

"These reductions will result in actual refunds to known customers, or through reduced prices in the market place, when customers aren't identifiable," he added.

"In fact, in the news pages of your papers this week you will begin to read some stories of price reductions by major American companies, some of them considerable. Next week you will see more, and the week after, more. The reason is that for the first time the Price Commission has begun to receive first-quarter and annual reports of companies under orders to us.

"In such reports, a new kind of price violation, not hitherto discernible since we took office, will become clear for the first time—if it exists—a violation of the profit margin ceiling. We imposed such a ceiling on all companies under our jurisdiction."

Grayson, in remarks prepared for the Associated Press annual meeting, called the development "a major breakthrough, a major landmark in this country's war on inflation."

Profit margin refers to the percentage of dollar profit compared to dollar sales. When the Price Commission took over last November it told firms under its jurisdiction that price increases had to be justified by cost increases, less productivity gains.

"But we also put in a second line of defense—the one that is now beginning to take hold," Grayson said. "We said that no matter what the results of the first controls were, we would put an upper control over the total firm profit margin."

Of the reports in to date, Grayson said, there have been cases of willful violation; but about half who did not pass the profit margin check had justifiable reasons while the balance "have been asked to justify their overages, and those that can't are subject to price reductions, refunds and penalties".

Car Prices May Climb In August

DETROIT (UPI) — Donald Rumsfeld, director of the Cost of Living Council, indicated today that auto manufacturers should not increase prices of 1973 models.

But he conceded that there probably would be higher prices on the new models in August, although the Price Commission would not approve "large price increases."

Rumsfeld said auto manufacturers should follow the precedent of big steel producers and maintain current price levels.

"Even though the steel industry will have to absorb a wage increase in August, most of the major producers have followed the lead of Bethlehem Steel in announcing they will not pass the August wage increase along to the consumer in the form of higher steel prices," Rumsfeld said.

"This is a significant step in the effort to reduce inflation, a step which should be reflected in the prices of 1973 model cars," he said in a speech prepared for the Economic Club of Detroit.

Times, Kaiser To Be Honored

OAKLAND (UPI)—The California Water Pollution Control Association announced Sunday it was honoring the Kaiser Steel Corp. and the Los Angeles Times' publisher for contributions to the improvement of water quality.

Publisher Otis Chandler will receive an award for his contributions to environmental programs, association president Raymond Walsh said.

Kaiser's Fontana plant will get the association's industrial waste award for its treatment of waste and reuse of effluents in the manufacture of steel.

Sunkist Growers is to be given a special honorable mention certificate for a program of segregating, recycling and concentrating liquid wastes.

Awards will be made at South Lake Tahoe on May 4 during a joint conference of the California and Nevada waer controls associations.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Brandt Struggle

BONN (UPI) — Chancellor Willy Brandt fought today to prevent the erosion that already has whittled his parliamentary strength to the bare minimum necessary for approval of his controversial nonaggression pact with Moscow.

With the defection of 49-year-old farmer Wilhelm Helms Sunday, Brandt's ranks in parliament were reduced to 249 deputies. Opposition Christian Democrats numbered 247.

One more defection to the opposition would make it impossible for Brandt to win passage of his treaty with Moscow or approval of his 1972 budget, and probably force new federal elections.

Man Sandbags

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Gunmen openly manned sandbagged fortifications around Roman Catholic areas of Londonderry today in anticipation of a British army attempt to oust them from the strongholds.

In continuing violence Northern Ireland gunmen wounded a policeman, a civilian and a soldier in Londonderry, another soldier in Belfast and fought a 30-minute battle with militia forces troops along the Irish Republic border.

Letter To Nixon

PARIS (UPI) — The Communists have sent a letter to U.S. congressmen urging them to stop President Nixon's Vietnam policies, a spokesman said today.

The letter, signed by Viet Cong chief negotiator Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, accuses Nixon of wanting "to live again the same old tragedy" in Vietnam by renewing bombing raids over the north. Mrs. Binh called on senators and representatives to block the President.

The letter was due to arrive by mail today.

Famed War Mother Dies

WATERLOO, Iowa (UPI) — When a torpedo sunk the USS Juneau off the Solomon Islands in World War II, among the many victims were the five sons of Mrs. Thomas F. Sullivan.

Sullivan

The simultaneous loss of her five boys devastated the patriotic housewife but her fortitude won her the admiration of a nation at war.

She and her husband, who died several years ago, traveled across the country in government-sponsored "morale" tours after the tragedy. They also helped in the filming of a motion picture about their sons.

Mrs. Sullivan, who survived her sons by 30 years, died Saturday at a nursing home. Funeral services for the 77-year-old woman are scheduled tomorrow.

Convention Move

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Republican party leaders are expected to announce by midweek whether the GOP national convention in August will be moved here from San Diego.

The possible move has been the subject of hurried conferences and contradictory statements in Washington, California and Florida in the past week.

The Republicans began thinking about moving the convention from the planned San Diego site when convention hall construction there lagged behind schedule and a shortage of hotel rooms loomed.

The Los Angeles Times reported today it had learned that Peter Graham, operator of the privately owned San Diego Sports Arena, in recent weeks increased the GOP's rent of the hall from $49,000 to a package amounting to more than $500,000.

Team Leaves South

MEMPHIS (Tenn. (UPI) — The Chinese table tennis team ended a Southern visit today full of fried chicken, grits, chocolate chip cookies and hopes for more people-to-people exchanges with the United States.

The 28-member team spent two days in Memphis, playing no matches with their American counterparts — although their coach, Chang Hsieh-lin, gave the Americans some lessons.

"Our first objective is friendship," he said. "Competition is second."

Troop-Cut Plan

LONDON (UPI) — The Warsaw Pact is preparing a plan on East-West troop cuts in Europe, diplomatic sources said today.

The move is described as an initiative by the Communist bloc on the controversial issue first raised by the West's suggestion that both camps reduce their forces in Europe by an agreed scheme of "mutual, balanced troop reductions."

On present indications the Warsaw pact plans to launch the plan on the eve of the ministerial council meeting in the North Atlantic Treaty organisation NATO next month in Bonn to forestall any possible new allied move, the diplomatic sources said.

French Back Britain Common Mart Entry

PARIS (UPI)—The French government today announced what it said was nationwide support for admitting Britain and three other nations to the Common Market. A record 46 per cent of the electorate abstained or iast blank ballots.

Interior Minister Raymond Marcellin in the announcement after midnight, said that with 67.86 per cent of the valid votes in favor of entry of Britain, Ireland, Norway and Denmark and 32.14 per cent against, it was a clear majority for the government in Sunday's balloting.

The six original Common Market nations—France, Holland, Belgium, Italy, West Germany and Luxembourg— had already approved the entry of Britain, Norway, Denmark and Ireland.

Communist party leader Georges Marchais interpreted Sunday's vote differently. He said that less than 40 per cent of the voters were in favor.

The large no vote was "a great success" for the Communists who had campaigned vigorously against the Gaullist government of President Georges Pompidou, Marchais said.

Marcellin said that under French law, the votes cast were the deciding factor.

"The enlargement of the Common Market is thus adopted by a wide majority of the ballots cast," Marcellin said.

The final tally showed 15,247,649 ballots were cast.

The referendum was called by Pompidou to seek sweeping national support for his European policies and to enhance his bid to lead the enlarged 10-nation Common Market.

It was the first time since Pompidou was elected in June, 1969 that he had submitted an issue to the voters and the first national referendum since the voters overthrew the late President Charles de Gaulle in April, 1969. De Gaulle had said he would resign if the referendum went against him.

Both the Communists and the Socialists led by former presidential candidate Francois Mitterrand claimed credit for the blow to Pompidou's prestige. The Communists campaigned for a no vote in line with Moscow opposition to the Common Market as a threat to the Eastern European Bloc.

The Socialists support a widened European market but they called for voters to abstain from Sunday's referendum on the grounds it was an attempt by Pompidou to rally his Gaullist supporters as a dry-run for parliamentary elections.

83,000 new households here will need electricity this year-and the new power facilities to provide it.

The birth rate has been dropping and fewer people are moving to California, but nevertheless growing population is a fact of life.
We must provide power facilities to serve these families' homes and jobs, plus the new stores, street lights and other public facilities they require.

If our construction program is slowed down unduly or stopped, the growing demand for electricity would exceed supply, and brownouts or blackouts would be inevitable.

Some individuals and groups are trying to slow down or stop construction of electric plants and transmission lines. However, we must continue building. And nowadays it takes about 10 years to acquire a suitable site, obtain regulatory approvals, construct and get a new power plant "on the line."

Qualified, competent and responsible public agencies assure that in building new facilities we serve the best public interests, including environmental and ecological considerations.

To keep your electricity on tomorrow, we must build today. PG and E

Angela Davis Trial Juror Is Excused

SAN JOSE (UPI) —A juror in the Angela Davis trial was excused for health reasons today, under strict instructions not to make any statements about the case.

Judge Richard E. Arnason said he excused Mrs. Mary Borelli, 45, a housewife after receiving a letter from her doctor.

Arnason told her not to give "interviews, comments or statements" about Miss Davis' murder-kidnap trial. "If you want to talk about your medical problems, you can do that," he said. "But don't talk about the trial."

Mrs. Borelli was replaced by alternate Robert Seidel, an elderly retiree.

The state continued its presentation of Miss Davis' letters and an 18-page "diary" today with the testimony of Sherwood Morrill, a state handwriting expert.

The state contends that the letters, written by Miss Davis to slain "Soledad Brother" George Jackson, explain her motive for allegedly entering into a plot to help him escape from prison. The escape attempt ended in death for four persons.

The 28-year-old Communist is accused of helping plot and furnishing the guns used in the escape attempt engineered by Jonathan Jackson, 17, George's younger brother. The state contends the purpose of kidnaping a judge, prosecutor and three jurors was to force officials to free the "Soledad Brothers."

The escape attempt at the Marin County courthouse Aug. 7, 1970, ended in failure and with the deaths of the judge, two other convicts and Jonathan Jackson. George Jackson was killed last Aug. 21 in what authorities said was an escape attempt from San Quentin Prison.

The driver, Dennis Ray Clute, 18, of 450 Ridge Road, suffered chin cuts and a passenger, Dennis B. Anderson, 18, of 220 Denlyn Street, suffered a fractured nose and nose cuts. Clute was treated at Novato General Hospital and Anderson was reported in satisfactory condition there today.

Officers said the car broke a fence and damaged three trees on the property of Dorothy Berry at 1515 Indian Valley Road at 12:15 a.m. yesterday.

Barry Van Couwenberghe, 22, of 115 Oak Avenue, was treated at Marin General Hospital.

San Anselmo police said the driver of the car, which missed a turn on Sunny Hills Drive, was Roger Van Couwenberghe, 24, of Smith Ranch Road, San Rafael. He was cited for driving at an excessive rate of speed, police said.

Crash Injury

Lynn Satheilacker, 22, of 9 Locust Avenue, Larkspur, has been treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut right knee received in an auto accident. Larkspur police have no details on the accident, which occurred Saturday morning.

Hollis Says He'll Seek Re-Election

Marin County Superintendent of Schools Virgil S. Hollis, faced with an early challenge from former Novato Mayor Joseph D. Gargiulo, has announced he will seek reelection in 1974.

Hollis said today he wants "to make sure people would know I would be a candidate." There were rumors that he was going to seek a higher office or accept another job offer, he said.

Hollis has been county superintendent for 14 years and has been unopposed in the past three elections.

He said he wants to remain at the job because "of so many excellent programs that need further attention," and because "I just don't want to leave Marin County."

Gargiulo, principal of Novato Evening Adult School, announced early this year that he would run for the job and didn't seek reelection to the City Council.

Sausalito Fire Destroys Yacht

Flames feeding on a newly-fueled 26-foot yacht in Sausalito's clipper yacht harbor were visible to many San Francisco and Richardson Bay residents last night until firemen quenched them —leaving only a charred hulk still floating.

The boat, which yacht harbor officials say was unnamed, belonged to Richard D. Ensslin of San Francisco and was occuped by Richard K. Powers who, firemen said, was uninjured.

They said the boat had just filled its fuel tanks yesterday afternoon and the blaze broke out about 9:50 p.m. last night. Damage was estimated at $5,-500. Cause of the fire is still under investigation.

Sausalito Shop, Apartment Burn

A Sausalito boatbuilding shop and overhead apartment owned and occupied by William Duffin were destroyed by fire during the weekend, and firemen are still checking the cause of the blaze.

About 16 men from the Sausalito Fire Department and one from the Marin County Fire Department battled the blaze, at 245 Gate Five Road. Flames had engulfed the building by the time firemen had arrived. Firemen said the fire may have started from an electrical short-circuit.

Damage to the property was estimated at $5,000. Firemen declined to estimate loss to the contents.

Two Arrested In Burglary

Two men were arrested Saturday in Corte Madera Shopping Center on suspicion of burglary at the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge maintenance office.

According to Richmond police, Robert James Williams III, 24, of Berkeley, and George Tyrie Vickers, 27, of San Francisco, are suspected of taking walkie-talkie sets from the bridge office Saturday at about 1:30 p.m.

The pair was spotted by bridge employees, followed to the Corte Madera Center and arrested in the Ward's store by Larkspur and Corte Madera police.

They were booked into Richmond city jail and held for arraignment tomorrow.

Committee members have proposed a new, more powerful environmental quality committee that would advise the council and other city agencies on all action that would have a significant impact on the environment.

Committee members also have proposed starting a city health department.

Hiker Finds Body In Creek Bed

Marin authorities today were seeking the identity of a young woman found dumped in a ceek bed near Stinson Beach Saturday.

The coroner's office said death did not appear to be normal because of the body's location. However, there was no sign of violence to the woman found by a hiker in bushes about 50 feet from Highway 1.

Asst. Coroner Eugene R. Fontaine said the body was apparently dumped in the creek bed three miles south of Stinson Beach Friday night.

The woman was described as black, five feet, seven inches tall, weighing 120 pounds, wearing her hair in a semi-afro, and was dressed in black bellbottom pants and a floral print blouse of black and white.

Innocent Pleas To Drug Counts

Jerry Ray Wade, 22, of Santa Venetia, and Patricia Ann Fusilier, 20, of Marin City, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to charges of possessing heroin and marijuana.

The two were arrested April 13 by narcotics agents who raided Wade's apartment after receiving a tip.

Agents said they found "numerous packages" of suspected heroin and televisions and stereo equipment believed taken in burglaries and traded for heroin.

A preliminary hearing date for the pair was to be set today.

$500,000 Offer To Demos Claim

ENGLISH, Ind. (UPI)—International Telephone & Telegraph offered $500,000 to the Democratic National Convention but withdrew the offer after a similar offer to the Republican National Convention stirred controversy, according to Murray M. Chotiner, a former campaign manager and adviser to President Nixon.

Chotiner, speaking at a Republican dinner during the weekend, said the continued silence of Democratic National Chairman Lawrence O'Brien in the face of the ITT controversy serves to back up his contention that the Democrats also were offered ITT money.

Chotiner said O'Brien would have been quick to criticize Republicans on the ITT affair if the Democrats had not received a similar offer.

AEC Grants Hearing On Atom-Plant Construction

BERKELEY (UPI) —The Atomic Energy Commission today granted a hearing to the Scenic Shoreline Preservation Conference on its request for a temporary halt to construction of a nuclear power plant now being built at Diablo Canyon near San Luis Obispo.

The conference, an environmental group based in Santa Barbara, had asked for the review of the AEC's decision to allow construction to go on while the government's environmental study under the National Environmental Policy Act is completed.

Pacific Gas & Electric Company is now building the plant, which is due for completion in two years. The facility was under construction before the Environmental Policy Act law was passed, but nevertheless a broadened study of the plant's impact is required under the law.

That study will not be completed for another eight to 10 months, an AEC spokesman said.

Last December the AEC decided to halt construction of some related facilities temporarily, pending the environmental study's completion, but not to interrupt construction of the plant itself. It is this decision which will be reviewed at the hearing.

The AEC said the hearing will be held and a decision reached by the Atomic Safety Licensing Board by June 4. The place and time of the hearing has not yet been set. Participants will include the AEC, the Scenic Shoreline Preservation Conference, and PG&E.

Use, Don't Destroy The Universities — Marcuse

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Marxist philosopher Herbert Marcuse surprised a student audience Sunday by declaring, "I completely reject the argument that universities should be destroyed because they are pillars of the establishment."

The 72-year-old professor, mentor of black militant Angela Davis, told a University of San Francisco audience that "You can still learn what you need to learn in the universities. One doesn't cut off the branch on which one is sitting."

Furthermore, the German-born scholar told 1,500 persons, "Terror is effective only when exercised by the group in power. Hitler showed that."

Marcuse, who teaches philosophy at the University of California at San Diego, said he believed that youthful response in this country to the social, political and economic "evils of their society" has taken negative forms.

He said there was "widespread defeatism, escapism and in some cases, a return to the lap of the establishment," "a flight to personal, private liberation" and a movement "toward individual or small group therapy."

"The radical change in public opinion about the war in Vietnam is 90 per cent due to the student movement," Marcuse said. He said defeatism, "if not stopped, would be an insult to the students who were killed at Kent State University."

Marcuse criticized recent cutbacks in educational funding.

"Reduction of educational budgets is a highly political act, not just the result of financial necessity," he said.

He said the basic ills in America were due to chronic overproduction, inflation, suppression of minorities and a deep seated "instinctual aggressiveness."

"The competitive economic growth of this country consists of ever greater pollution and violation of nature," Marcuse said.

A Surprise For Rowers Of Pacific

BRISBANE, Australia (UPI) —Transpacific rowers John Fairfax and Sylvia Cook flew back to Hayman Island today to a surprise party.

More than 300 guests and the 200 staff members at the island's luxury tourist hotel arranged the party for the British rowers.

The hotel's management said it was to officially celebrate the couple's dramatic arrival there last Saturday.

A spokesman for the island management said an offer was being made for Fairfax's boat, Britannia II, in which they made the 8,000-mile crossing and make it a tourist attraction for the island, 16 miles off the Australian east coast.

Fairfax and Miss Cook return to Brisbane in a chartered light aircraft tonight before leaving for London Tuesday.

On Sunday a Brisbane department store opened especially for the rowers to enable them to choose some fresh clothes for free.

Miss Cook said, "It's like a dream. The first thing I got was some nice pretty underwear and something to fix my hair and make it soft again.

"Fashions have changed but not so much as they would have done if I had disappeared for a year five years ago. Now you seem to be able to wear anything and it's still in fashion."

Open Spaces On Fairfax Agenda

The Fairfax Planning Commission will consider open spaces on the ridges when it meets at 8 p.m., Thursday in the Fairfax Women's Clubhouse.

The Town of Corte Madera passed a resolution to preserve the ridge tops as open space and has asked neighboring cities to help it in this program.

The commission will consider approval of the master plan by Gentry Development Co. for 68 acres adjacent to a two-acre development which the company has on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

The commission will also consider the application of Dr. Howard Burns for a lot split on Lot 12, Bolinas Road one for Robert S. Cary on Bolinas Road, and an application by Miller Unanawich for a Palm Reading Activity at 17 Bolinas Road.

Father's Day Prize

HONOLULU (UPI) — Zero Population Growth announced Sunday that the grand prize of its Father's Day drawing will be a free vasectomy. The group said it will start the contest at signup booths in shopping centers and supermarkets on Mother's Day.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

Who Got How Much From Those Taxes

This is the season for anguished wails from taxpayers.

April is the Month of Terrible Tortures. State, federal and local governments combine in an all-out attack on the pocketbook. And as the payment deadlines pass, leaving the poor taxpayer broke, bereft and in debt. the cries go up: "What happened?" "Where did it go?" And — more to the point: "What did I get for it?"

Leaving aside for the moment the federal and state income taxes, which help pay for such a variety of things as bombs dropped on North Vietnam, a deficit in the postal service, Medi-Cal, and high salaries and per diems for legislators, let's look at the property tax. This one is far smaller than the federal income tax for most of us, but it hurts worse because it is taken in two big bites — one in November and the other in April.

THE TOTAL property tax levy in Marin County for the current fiscal year was, according to the county budget document, $80,640,524. That was an increase of $12,017,369, or about 17.5 per cent, over the previous year's total take of $68,623,155.

Who got it?

The cities got 7.8 per cent of it (down from 8.3 per cent the previous year). Special districts got 8.8 per cent (up from 8.4). Schools got 59 per cent (down from 60.7). The county itself got 24.4 per cent (up from 22.6).

Those percentages are a little deceiving, though. In dollars, cities, special districts, schools and county all got more than the year before — because the pie they were cutting up was a bigger pie (they made it bigger).

The cities got $6,290,642 from this year's property tax levy, up 10.6 per cent over 1970-71. Special districts got $7,059,340, up a whopping 20.6 per cent. Schools got $47,626,224, up 14.2 per cent. And the county (hold your hat!) got $19,664,318, up 26.1 per cent, or more than a fourth.

WHAT DID WE get for it?

For the most part — whether the city, special district, school district or county — we got just about what we did last year. But we paid a higher price — and a price that went up more than the inflation in the whole economy.

The county budget shows a breakdown of where the county spends its money. This shows that cost of welfare, medical and health services went up about $4 million over the previous year. Public protection (courts, the sheriff's department, etc.) went up about $2 million. Capital improvements increased about $600,000. Expenditures on roads and engineering jumped a half million. The "all other" category showed little change.

SO THAT'S WHERE the money went. If you're on welfare, you maybe got more, but anyhow more of what you got came out of the property tax. Combining medical, health and mental health into one department further escalated those costs, though relatively few of us taxpayers realized any additional benefit therefrom. Maybe you got a new road somewhere out of that half-million increase in road costs — maybe none that you ever use. The cost of added security at the Civic Center helped account for the big jump in the public protection budget.

Were any of them worth it? Ask any taxpayer right now and the answer you're likely to get is "no."

Sierra Club Opposes Bill Urged By Conservationists

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

The Sierra Club is headquartered in the Mills Tower in San Francisco, but we wonder if it isn't in an ivory tower when it opposes legislation urgently needed by the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

The legislation is designed to solve the problem of county supervisors on the commission who also serve on so many other bodies they often miss commission meetings. The measure, pending in Sacramento, would allow a supervisor to appoint a citizen to be his alternate on the commission, subject to approval by his fellow supervisors.

This would be the same system the commission used in its first four years. The very success of this provision is what killed it in 1969. The supervisors' alternatives proved to be among the toughest conservationists on the commission, much to the displeasure of developers.

IT WAS IN 1969 that former state Sen. John F. McCarthy of Belvedere had the provision amended out of the law. McCarthy hardly had a reputation as a conservationist, so it seems peculiar to find the Sierra Club siding with him now on this issue.

The club's expert on the commission, attorney Dwight Steele of Tiburon, nevertheless insists that the new legislation is "a step in the wrong direction." He argues that all regulatory bodies should have more, not fewer, elected officials.

This sounds fine in theory, but years of practice show that at least in the case of BCDC it worked better when it had alternates for supervisors. Attendance was better, affording applicants fairer hearings and distributing influence on the commission evenly among its public, federal, state and county representatives.

In Marin's case, the supervisors were represented in those years by Dr. William F. Upton of San Rafael, consistently a strong voice for conservation. One immediate effect of McCarthy's amendment was to kick Upton off the commission, although Upton later returned to it as a representative from the Regional Water Quality Control Board.

IT WAS McCARTHY'S successor, Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, who this year introduced the legislation (SB 181) restoring the alternate system at the request of the commission. The bill, however, is hung up in the Senate Local Government Committee, thanks both to the Sierra Club and the chairman of the committee, Sen. Milton Mark, R-San Francisco.

Marks may be playing peevish politics with the bill because it was introduced by Behr. The two may face one another for re-election in 1974.

If the Sierra Club gets out of its tower, joining the Save San Francisco Bay Association in supporting the bill, Marks probably will give in. He is not likely to carry the burden of being the only Bay Area senator on the committee to oppose the bill — once the Sierra Club deprives him of an excuse.

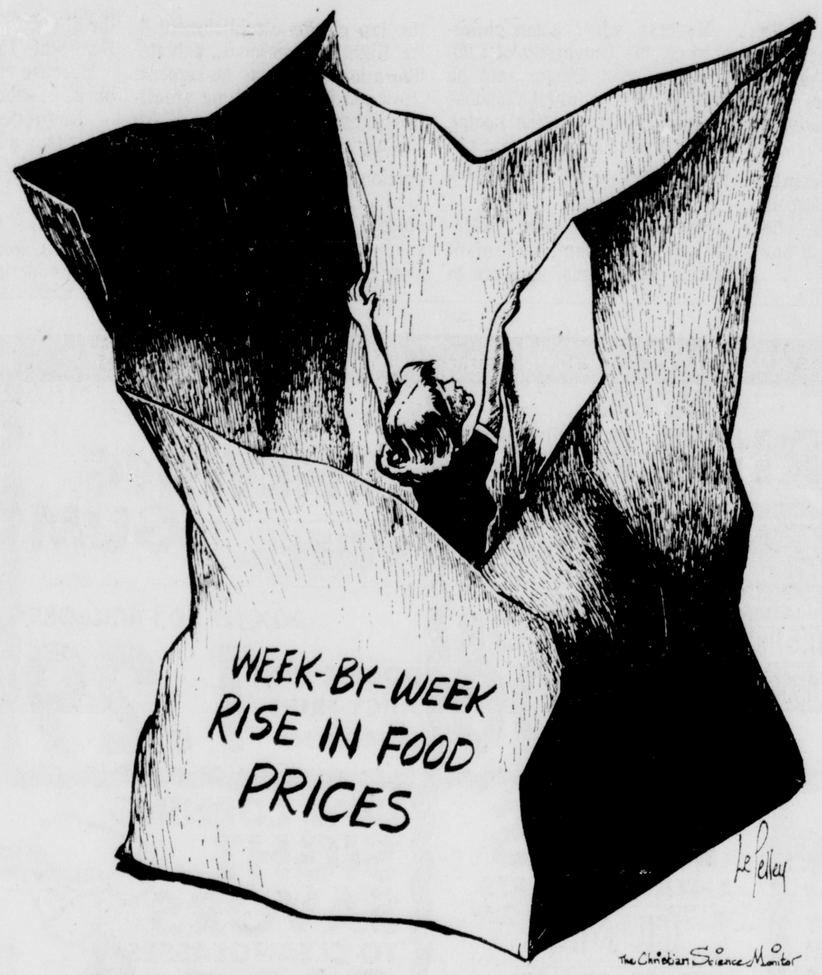
WORTH SAYING AGAIN

There was one who thought himself above me, and he was above me until he had that thought. — Elbert Hubbard.

Improvement in the living standards of the workers must, in the main, come from increased productivity. — Sidney Hillman.

The test of our progress is not whether we add more to the abundance of those who have too much; it is whether we provide enough for those who have too little. — Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Unquestionably, there is progress. The average American now pays out twice as much in taxes as he formerly got in wages. — Henry L. Mencken.



Is it possible we can't fight our way out of a paper bag?

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Story, Picture Stripped Human Of Dignity

I am writing regarding the picture and articles you printed of Don Oliver, the night after he died.

It seems to me, now that he is dead, Mr. Oliver's conflicts with the law are over. To publish facts about his life which should have remained private, and to show that picture of him lying dead stripped him of the respect due to him as a human being and was unfair to his wife and family.

It is as if the consensus of opinion was that Don Oliver was a bad man who deserved to die — no matter how. One fact never reported in the I-J was why the car Mr. Oliver was a passenger in was stopped in the first place.

Whatever Don Oliver did, in death every man deserved to be treated with dignity. There are people who loved him, you know.

Navy Man Speaks For Young Police

As a San Rafael resident on active duty in the Navy, it is a treat to see articles from the Independent-Journal. Spurring this letter is your 31 March headline story concerning San Rafael Police Officer Dick Michaelsen's comments about Sausalito Police Department's administration.

I have known Dick since we attended police science classes at College of Marin and we were police cadets at San Rafael prior to his employment at Sausalito. Dick has always been a conscientious person in his dealings with the public, and I never once saw or heard of him using his authority in an overbearing manner, even when he was the victim of verbal or physical abuse.

I plan to return to San Rafael Police Department after my discharge from the Navy, and I look forward to working with Dick and the other officers of the department. The people of San Rafael should be proud that they have officers of his caliber, facing the innumerable obstacles in law enforcement today.

To Dick, I say best wishes and keep your chin up. To the people of Marin County, I say listen to the young officers while they are still idealistic, for they are the determining factor in tomorrow's law enforcement world.

Reservoir Storage Figure In Error

Yesterday's (Apr. 18) editorial postulated certain "facts" about the water supply situation in our county. It is hard to determine how you arrived at the figure of 70,000 acre feet as the capacity of our reservoirs. Every publication, including the 1971 annual report and all recent reports related to water supply, have stated consistently that we have a total capacity of 52,700 acre feet. You were correct in setting our current annual water use at 32,600 acre feet but our safe yield (which again has been clearly stated) is 30,000 acre feet not 34,000 acre feet. A careful analysis of these figures would lead to the conclusion that the Marin Municipal Water District and its constituents must carefully determine their water supply needs for the future. . .

(The editorial erred in the 70,000-acre foot storage figure. The 34,000-acre foot "annual safe yield" was a figure provided by William R. Seeger, general manager of MMWD, and published in the I-J last October. The "19 Point Study Program" prepared by the MMWD staff shows this figure at 30,000 acre feet. The annual use figure of 32,600 acre feet also was provided by Seeger. The "19 Point Study Program" shows 32,200 acre feet. — Edtor.)

The Time Has Come To Vote Rascals Out

I see by the newspapers that Mr. Moretti is getting ready to serve the people of California some "1968 hash". Translated, it means a warmed over version of proposition 1-A. He's planning to give us a property tax reduction — isn't that nice of him? The last time this happened, we lost the entire benefit in the second year after the proposition passed.

No tax reform should be accepted by the people unless it contains a limit or ceiling which can be put on property taxes. (We still have a good possibility of the Jarvis Amendment and the Watson Amendment being on our next ballot. These two amendments definitely put a lid on the amount which your property can be taxed.)

These so-called leaders in Sacramento have had more than ample time to come up with a decent tax package — they've been promsiing it for about 12 years now.

There is a growing move afoot to eliminate the "incumbents" in the upcoming election simply by voting against anybody with that stigma behind his name. At first, you may think this is childish or stupid, but think about it for a minute. A whole batch of new blood in our elected officials can't be any worse than what we now have. The only thing they have done for us is to increase the cost of government by creating new bureaus and agencies and then fund them with our taxes. They have increased their own benefits and pensions and expense accounts beyond anything we would dare dream for ourselves. So, let's vote the rascals out and start fresh. The first qualification would be impeccable honesty and candor in a candidate and one who would spend our tax dollars as carefully as he would spend his own money. These men and women would replace the spenders who are now in Sacramento.

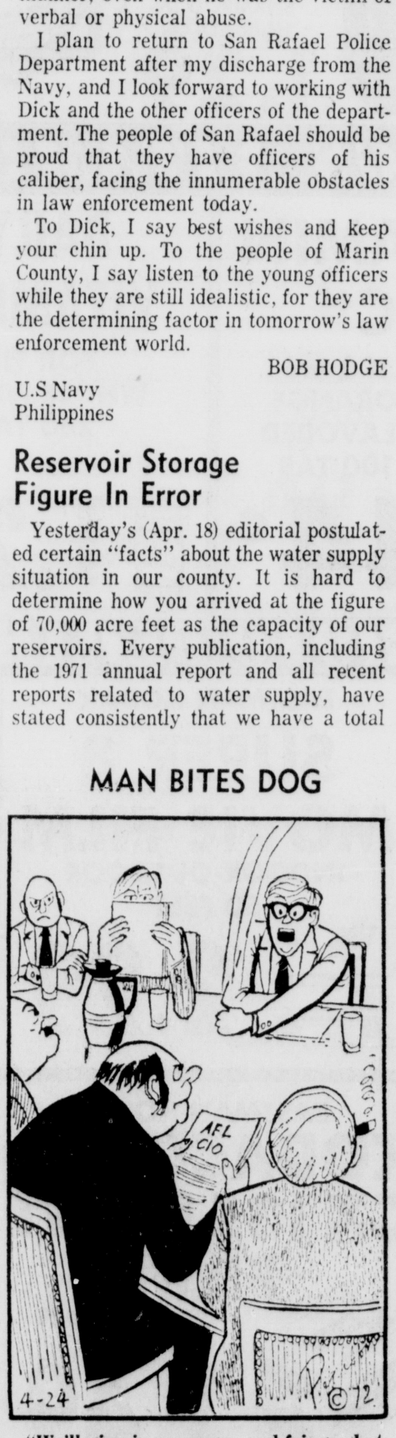
MAN BITES DOG



"We'll give in on wages and fringes but we refuse to promise to vote for Hubert Humphrey."

ALMANAC

Today is Monday, April 24, the 115th day of 1972.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase.

The morning stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Taurus.

American artist Tony Sarg was born April 24, 1882.

On this day in history:

In 1704 the Boston News Letter became the first American newspaper to be published on a regular basis.

In 1877 northern military rule of the South following the Civil War ended. President Rutherford B. Hayes ordered federal troops out of New Orleans.

In 1898 Spain declared war on the United States after receiving an American ultimatum to withdraw from Cuba.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Goal Of Hanoi's Offensive Is Control Of All Indochina

The Vietnamese offensive has a far bigger objective than the Tet offensive four years ago.

The goal of the 1968 Tet campaign was to conquer South Vietnam. It failed.

The goal this time is to take over all of Indochina.

This is the judgment of the most experienced Vietnam observers in Saigon and in Washington.

Hanoi is mounting more men, more weapons, more firepower than ever. It is committing nearly all of its regular army and it is leaving its own country exposed.

It is a winner-take-all gamble.

NIXON-TRUDEAU SUMMIT EMPTY. It produced good words and a show of good intention, but little else. U.S.-Canadian economic policies are in conflict and will improve only very slowly.

The Great Lakes cleanup agreement is also just another promise after 60 years of unkept promises.

The agreement contains nothing which each side hasn't already pledged to do — but hasn't.

Every one of the Great Lakes — Superior, Michigan, Huron, Erie and Ontario — is more polluted than it was five years ago.

THE WHOLE SAVE-THE-ENVIRONMENT CRUSADE is slowing down. Two years ago nearly everybody was saying that whatever is needed must be done.

Now a big ecological backlash is setting in. It isn't just industry which is worried about high costs. Organized labor is worried about jobs if antipollution standards shut down plants. The poor tend to view the ecology movement as a middle-class plaything which has little in it for them.

Nixon himself is leading the slowdown. "We are not going to allow the environmental issue," he warns, "to destroy the industrial system that made this the great country it is."

The task is to find a practical middle course between the doomsayers and the tandem of "too little and too late."

MORE ENERGY FROM THE SUN. Scientists see technology being perfected in the next few years so that solar energy can be used to heat and cool buildings, refrigerate food, and provide electricity for specialized low-power needs.

Solar energy will be a special benefit to the developing nations because most of them are in or near the tropics where sunshine is plentiful and conventional fuels scarce.

SECRETARY OF STATE ROGERS ON THE RISE. The importance of his role and his influence within the administration is increasing. This is newly visible at two key points:

1—He is proving himself a most credible, influential and effective administration advocate before hostile congressional committees. He is the only figure in the administration who maintains civil, nearly cordial relations with Sen. William Fulbright, D-Ark.

2—Secretary Rogers, not Henry Kissinger, is the focal point in preparations for the Moscow summit. State is assembling all the necesssary briefing papers. Rogers is the liaison with Russian Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin and Rogers will brief the European allies after the May 22 Moscow trip.

FEDERAL REVENUE SHARING IS COMING. It will be enacted this year. The turnabout of many Democrats is making it possible.

The decisive switch from active opponent to active advocate is Rep. Wilbur Mills, powerful chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee. Perhaps he sensed the wide public support for it when he began to campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Mills engineered two significant changes in the Nixon plan:

Most of the revenue-sharing money will go to the crises-laden cities instead of state governments.

The federal government will collect state income taxes at the same time it collects federal taxes.

ERNEST B. FURGURSON

Speaker Sets Up Straw Men To Make Villains Of Press

WASHINGTON — The Hon. Kevin T. Maroney, deputy assistant attorney general, Internal Security Division, U.S. Department of Justice, is rather dark of visage but handsome, suitable for casting as the heavy sheriff in a modern turnabout western. That is the way he came on at the American Society of Newspaper Editors here the other day. He did not wear a star and six-gun. He brought a speech, and used it like a can of Mace.

He was the leadoff speaker and catalyst in a seminar about "press rights vs. press responsibilities," a subject that has been a cliche since the drafting of the First Amendment. The very recitation of the title induces mild drowsiness even among the newspapermen who are vitally involved in it.

THE GENERAL PUBLIC, given the opportunity to watch such an argument on television, would likely prefer to switch instead to the educational channel, to follow a symposium on hybrid Melanesian geraniums. Let the editors and the government fight it out, the channel-flipper might understandably say, it has nothing to do with me.

That is where he is wrong, and why here, for neither the first nor last time, I am going to nudge him to wake up to that fact. The press' problems with government are the public's own problems.

True, the government tries to convince the public that the press seeks to print unpleasant facts about government merely to advance some mysterious financial or political aims of its own. That is what Mr. Agnew has been doing all these months, trying to create an alliance of brave, clean, trustworthy and reverent politicians and the public — against the terrible conspiracy of the press.

And that is what Kevin Maroney, speaking for the administration, was doing with different tactics when he appeared before the editors. His was the tactic of deterrence, reminding that under the law newspapers are liable to prosecution if they print classified information injurious to national security and if they knowingly use stolen documents.

He warned against "immediate disclosure" of classified information and the "indiscriminate dissemination" of sensitive but unclassified intragovernmental memoranda. The decision to gether and report such material "is necessarily made at the peril of the maker" he declared.

THING IS, there was not an editor in the hall who did not know all that before the deputy assistant attorney general was introduced. What the gentleman was doing was setting up a straw man, to knock it down with a show of bluster backed up by the well-known law.

He talked about "immediate disclosure," when in fact the only kind of immediate disclosure in the business these days is a presidential pronouncement made directly through the tube. To dredge up one example of a menace to national security, Maroney had to go 30 years back to the Battle of Midway, when three papers in the country ignorantly printed something about Japanese fleet movements that might have given away the fact that we had cracked their code. The enemy missed the hint, we won the battle, and Maroney offered no other instance from our long history.

The case most discussed was that of the celebrated Pentagon Papers. Rather than "immediate disclosure," it involved publication after weeks of debate, analysis and legal advice. And now, these months after the fact, a show of hands in the hall indicated that retrospectively about 80 per cent of the editors here would have made that same decision to publish.

As for "indiscriminate dissemination," I can certify that every beat reporter in Washington comes into possession of confidential verbal or written information at least every week, and a vast proportion of it is never disseminated at all.

STRAW MEN. Fortunately, in this case they were set up before an audience that knew the subject better than Maroney himself. Unfortunately, when he and Mr. Agnew and others throw around words like "immediate" and "indiscriminate" it is more often to nonprofessional groups, and they have had some fair success with lay audiences in their campaign to make the press out as lying villains. It is regrettable but remedial.

As a remedy, whenever the words censorship, secret, trust and responsibility are used in anger, the ordinary citizen should merely ask himself: Who has the motivation to cover up, to lie, to mislead — the press, or the politician scrambling to stay in office? The answer is a premanent truth.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

April 24, 1962

Charles Reilley resigned as Marin County fire chief, and the board of supervisors named his assistant, Louis J. Bloom, as his successor.

The Motor Coach Employees Union, AFL-CIO, set a midnight deadline for a strike against Greyhound bus lines in 11 western states.

20 YEARS AGO

April 24, 1952

Heeding protests from what a reporter described as "practically the entire population of Black Point," the Marin County Planning Commission rejected industrial rezoning to permit expansion of the Black Point Aggregate Co. plant.

A citizen committee headed by Mrs. Lee Gustafson was formed to resist "invasion of low-cost housing" into Novato.

Fable Of The Lexicographer Who Was Trashing The Language

"But 'glory' doesn't mean 'a nice knockdonw knockdownAlice objected.

"When I use a word," Humpty Dumpty said, in rather a scornful tone, "it meansQjust what I choose it to mean — neither more nor less."

— "Through the Looking-Glass"

They don't make lexicographers like Humpty Dumpty any more.

Once upon a time your dictionary editor was a tyrant who had his public crying uncle ("slang to concede defeat").

A lexicographer — and thundering bully — like Samuel Johnson would discharge a man from his drawing room, if not the human race, for mispronouncing Hottentot (Hot/n/tot).

Noah Webster, who combined the less gentle qualities of Jonathan Edwards and the Marine sergeant of the year (any year), used word definitions as bluntweapons to enforce his personal concepts of morality.

These were the ramrods of the English language. Laymen consulting their dictionaries felt as if a tentative — instantly retractable — license were being issued to them to speak the English language.

DICTIONARY EDITORS like everybody else, — have fallen upon permissive times. The theory now is "usage" — or even misusage. Language has become a matter of popular majority. If a lot of people say "disinterested" when they mean "uninterested," your obliging lexicographer will pronounce them synonyms. And there just ain't no way to keep "ain't" out of the dictionary. If a grammatical mistake is habitually repeated, so goes the code, it's really no mistake.

Old dictionary editors were verbocrats — men who laid down the absolute law and enforced it. Today's editors merely monitor the traffic. But even these meek usage-chasers have their brief moments of power. All year long the word watchers keep track of new terms entering the language. At year's end — heady moment! — they judge at least which words are used often enough to earn them a place in the dictionary.

G. AND C. MERRIAM Co. — the Webster people — have just announced their annual list of dictionary debutantes, beginning with "Afro-Saxon, n.: a Negro who accepts the values of a white society," and ending with "workfare, n, : a welfare program designed to encourage people to work."

Since usage is all, obviously the thing to do is to take as many of these new words as one can and use them in an illustrative story, "The Dictionary Editor Who Dropped Out":

WHEN FERDIE was a boy, he was a good-for-nothing creepy-bopper whose only interest was monster movies. He watched TV until he got cluttervision just from staring at all those commercials.

Ferdie's father said: "Mark my words, son. You'll grow up to be part of the brawn drain — or worse."

But his father's attitude proved to be just a bad case of kiddielash. When he was old enough to work, Ferdie went to the job bank. All that media-watching, it seems, had been ideal training for a dictionary editor, new-usages division.

Never had Logomania Dictionary, Inc., found a beginner with Ferdie's gift for transatlantese. After all, he had watched British as well as American horror movies.

Ferdie was fragging his way to the top, new verb by new verb, when a strange thing happened. He became an anti-natialist — an advocate of population control at least as far as new words were concerned.

About this time Ferdie began going with an outdoor girl — a real ecofreak — named Adele who told him it was as wrong to trash the language as the environment. After one ride in her snowmobile, Ferdie turned into a cold rodder himself.

As they sat by the campfire, lunching on a vegeburger — Adele was also a vegetarian — Ferdie suddenly saw his life in perspective: "I'm turning into a workaholic, Adele," he cried. "A few more years of gasbaggery — words, words, words — and I'll be grossed out.

"Let's split from this whole urbicidal rat-race. We can join the Sierra Club and imploit natural resources instead of exploit them. And in the summer we can trade in your snowmobile for a boat and live in a condomarinium. Marry me, Adele."

"Right on," said Adele.

And they lived happily ever after. Honest, no shucking.

Old Courthouse Site Sale Hearing Set

The Marin County Board of Supervisors, meeting tomorrow at 9 a.m. at the Civic Center, will hold a hearing on sale of the old courthouse site in San Rafael.

Sale price of the Fourth Street property had been set at $750,000, but negotiations with a Sacramento firm have settled at $650,000 in return for leaving 45 per cent of the land in open space.

Two weeks ago, when tomorrow's hearing was set, supervisors appeared receptive of the $650,000 figure offered by Mckeon Construction Co. and supported by the City of San Rafael.

McKeon has proposed building a six-to-eight-story office building with another three-story structure attached. A three-story parking building also is proposed.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors agenda also includes:

SEWAGE — Review of the countywide sewage master plan prepared by Brown and Caldwell. The report is expected to be referred to the planning commission for study along with the countywide general plan.

CAPITAL — Continued hearing on the proposed capital improvement program for the next six years. The program, drafted by County Administrator John F. Barrows, projects a $37.5 million expenditure on roads and other projects.

POVERTY — A report from the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council on new "redirection" of the agency which calls for four months of "brain storming" and planning for the future.

Sentence Is The Same After Trial

Roy Chester Johnson, 27, of San Francisco, who once pleaded guilty to burglary then changed his mind when ordered to serve 30 days in jail, will have to serve the 30 days anyway.

Judge Henry J. Broderick of Marin Superior Court Friday sentenced him to the county jail term a week after a jury convicted him of burglarizing a Kent Woodlands home.

Johnson had pleaded guilty to the charge earlier this year on the understanding he would get 10 days in jail, but backed off when Superior Court Judge Samuel W. Gardiner said he would have to serve 30 days.

A codefendant, A nthony Paul Bell, 18, of San Francisco, pleaded guilty, but failed to make court dates and a bench warrant has been issued for his arrest.

The two were arrested Sept. 16, with a carload of electrical equipment taken shortly before from the home of Herman A. Vanderkamp of Ridgecrest Road.

It was Johnson's first arrest.

Marin Italia Club Chooses Officers

John Velvich has been elected president of the Club Italia of Marin County.

Health Fair Is Announced

A Health Fair — featuring a complete operating room and the latest telemetric equipment for coronary care — will be held June 11 at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building.

The fair is being sponsored by Marin General Hospital and several public and private health care agencies in the county to mark the 20th anniversary of the opening of the hospital in 1952.

A total of 47 exhibits will be on display from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Other topics covered will be new health care programs and job opportunities in the field.

Marin Juvenile Unit To Expand

The Marin County Juvenile Justice Commission has agreed to expand its membership from seven seats to 15, probation officer John W. Brewer reported.

Brewer said the increase in size is permitted under new legislation passed in Sacramento.

He said the commission, which met Wednesday at Juvenile Hall, also elected John Donovan as its new chairman, replacing Dr. William H. Pemberton whose term as chairman had expired.

Lecture Set On Adobe Bricks

A lecture and demonstration on making adobe bricks for home construction will be given Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the student lounge at Sonoma State College.

Gene Boudreau of Sebastopol, author of the book, "Making the Adobe Brick," will demonstrate various techniques and explain how adobe bricks can be used in home construction to reduce costs by 60 per cent.

Proceeds will benefit Virginia's Earth Corps, a Sonoma State club working for election of Virginia Hechtman as Sonoma supervisor for the Fifth District.

Corte Maderan Fair Coordinator

Jack Haehl, of Corte Madera, chairman of the art department at Terra Linda High School, has been named crafts coordinator for the 1972 Marin County Fair, fair manager Marcelle McCoy announced today.

This year's fair will be held from August 31 through September 4 at the fairgrounds at the Marin County Civic Center.

OEO Chooses San Jose For Voucher Experiment

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO), which has rocked few boats lately, has decided to go ahead with a controversial educational experiment that seems sure to cause high winds and hot words.

The OEO today chose Alum Rock Union Elementary School District in San Jose, Calif., to receive its first educational voucher grant.

The basic purpose of the plan is to try to improve the education of children from poor families by making it possible for their parents to choose the schools their youngsters will attend. This would be done by giving the parents "vouchers" backed by government funds to be used as tuition in public, private or church-related schools participating in the program.

By giving the poor as well as the affluent an educational choice, the experimenters hope to introduce an element of competition into school systems that will push up the quality of schooling all along the line.

Advocates of the voucher experiment say it might be the solution to what many regard as a general downward trend in educational standards and the best way to give the childen of poor families an equal chance to improve themselves.

Opponents take several positions. Those who think the voucher proposal might work as planned object that it would leave the already under-funded public schools without the support they must have to improve. Those who see the voucher plan as a harebrained experiment complain that it would waste scarce money that could be used to improve public schools.

And there are specialized objections. Some minority groups are concerned about the use of vouchers to support segregated schools. Persons concerned about church-state separation object to any public funds being used to support parochial schools. Planners of the experiment say safeguards against both racism and unconstitutional aid to churches will be built into the program.

McGovern Strength Is Reported Gaining

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Sen. George S. McGovern was reported gaining strength in public opinion polls on the eve of key primaries in Pennsylvania and Massachusetts that could finish off Sen. Edmund S. Muskie's bid for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The two states have 239 elected convention delegates at stake, or about one-sixth of the 1,509 delegate votes needed to win the nomination at Miami Beach in July.

McGovern picked up 17 delegates from his native South Dakota over the weekend to take the delegate-count lead for the first time, according to UPI calculations. McGovern had 118 1-2 committed delegates to 107 1-2 for Muskie. Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace had 75. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey was fourth with 20.

President Nixon got 14 delegates from South Dakota, raising his total to 161 with 674 needed for the Republican nomination at the San Diego convention in August. Rep. John M. Ashbrook, Nixon's only declared opponent, has no delegates.

Humphrey, predicting victory in Pennsylvania's popularity vote Tuesday, is expected to move up and has the support of party leaders in many states without primaries.

Humphrey Sunday discounted the effect of committed delegates and said that it was impossible for McGovern to win the nomination.

"Coming to the convention with delegates doesn't mean you get the nomination," he said in a television interview (CBS' Face the Nation). "I've said time and time again that I doubt that anyone will come to this convention with sufficient votes to get the nomination on the first ballot."

Committed delegates are bound to a candidate for the first ballot only.

McGovern drew weekend endorsements from Americans for Democratic Action and Yippie leaders Jerry Rubin and Abbie Hoffman, who entered conventional politics for the first time.

Rubin and Hoffman led anti-war demonstrations that ended in violence at the 1968 Democratic convention in Chicago.

The Boston Globe said its latest poll gave McGovern 43 per cent of the vote in Tuesday's Massachusetts primary. Muskie got 19 per cent and Humphrey 14. McGovern had only 11 per cent in February compared with 46 for Muskie and 15 for Humphrey.

Noting a "sharp erosion" of Muskie's support in Pennsylvania, the Philadelphia Bulletin said that only 24 Democratic oounty chairmen now back Muskie compared with the 44-49 Gov. Milton Shapp gave him in January.

Muskie called off an 11th hour visit to Massachusetts to concentrate on Pennsylvania. A Muskie spokesman in Pennsylvania said, "We're really on an upsurge and we don't want to dampen the thrust."

FOR WILDFLOWERS

Snatcher's Return To Stinson Beach

By MARC NURRE

Bumping and lurching in their station wagons along California backroads from Oregon to Death Valley, the Stinson Beach plant snatchers are at it again.

With their side windows blocked by sheets of newspaper to keep out the drying sun, and flats crammed with water-filled bottles and cans, the raiding parties prowl the state in search of their prey.

Formally, they're the Stinson Beach Wildflower Committee, but as their annual show nears they become almost full time specimen-grabbers and plant morticians — complete with their own techniques for making drooping wildflowers look "just as they were in life."

This year's 14th annual Stinson Beach Wildflower show, as have all preceding ones, will be the work of women who appreciate the flowers they present, but certainly don't hold them in romantic awe.

Anne Leary, Roberta Shockey and Barbara Menzies have begun the task of amsassing the nearly 350 plants necessary for the show, which will be held May 6 and 7 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Stinson Beach Community Center. They'll have help this year from Marna Griffin, one of the early originators of the show who has returned from living in Italy for many years.

Theme of this year's show is oddities of the California plant kingdom, though the women are quick to admit, "when we say oddities, they're our idea of oddities, not botanists'."

The search for the plants is conducted like an African safari, usinv pruning shears instead of guns. Each woman averages more than 2,000 miles of driving and more than a week's time during the intense preparation for the show.

They go everywhere. "There's hardly a backroad in the state of California that we haven't been on," said Mrs. Shockey.

They collect on freeway roadsides. "We backed up for a mile one time on the grapevine (between Bakersfield and Los Angeles) to get a flower," she said.

They collect near the Santa Rita prison farm. "Most people want to get out. We're trying to climb in," she remembered.

After years of collecting, they know just where to look. Downingia, for example, presents a problem this year. "I don't know whether that will be out there by the motor movie or not," said Mrs. Menzies. Her companions, mentally recalling the spot, weren't sure either.

They all agree that they're really going to have to work this year. It has been so dry that many of the areas which produce wildflowers are already rock-hard. It will take a sharper eye than usual to come with as many of the old familiar plants.

Plants featured this year include the coral root, a reddish stalk which feeds on decaying plant matter and which contains no chlorophyll, broom rape, bastard toad flax, the pitcher or cobra plant which eats flies and other insects, ground cones and pine drops.

The oddities theme was born out of desperation. "We were getting sort of pressed for a different theme this year," said Mrs. Menzie.

But next year's show, the 15th annual, will end it, they all promise. "We're tired," said Mrs. Shockey, and the others nodded.

When they began the project, they did it because they were interested and had seen similar shows very poorly done. They knew little about botany, but have now reached the point where they can identify most of the plants they find, although they have the assistance of a botanist the day before their show to put names to really difficult specimens.

"We'll probably cry when it's over," said Mrs. Shockey. But, admitted Mrs. Menzies, every year the task begins to weigh on their minds beginning in January.

When they return to Stinson Beach with their prizes after a collecting trip, they store them in the community center, which is perfect, they say, because it is cool and dark.

In most cases, they pick only the bloom of the plant, leaving the rest of it to reproduce again the following year. Some of the blooms wilt quickly, even though they are plunged into water immediately, and need rejuvenation.

This is accomplished in the "recovery room" where the women dip the stalks into hot water, heat them, or do whatever has proven effective for the particular plant.

When it's all over, the blooms so carefully gathered are up for grabs. The women get first pick themselves, then the public takes what is left for dried flower collections, botany exhibits and models for paintings.

After they finish next year's show, the women plan to rest, then take on the state Division of Highways and county road departments who are in charge of planting many varieties of wildflowers along roadsides.

California poppies, they cite as an example, are encouraged at the southern end of Shoreline Highway in Marin, but routinely cut down by road department mowers along the road in North Marin.

A yellow Mediterranean plant called genistra is taking over the hillsides near Stinson Beach, they said, and needs spraying for control.

About 10 years ago, they said they got spraying stopped by official agencies in the area, but now they favor selective spraying with less dangerous chemicals to control specific problems.

They'll be sad when the annual show is over, but on the other hand, "it's like watching a child grow up," they said.

Mt. Tamalpais Program Planned

Mount Tamalpais will be examined by the Mountain Play Association in a special program: "A Potpourri of Things to Do On, For, With, Around, Up and Down the Mountain," at 8 p.m. Friday, at Olney Hall, College of Marin.

Columnist Margot Patterson Doss will offer practical suggestions for leisurely hike on the mountain.

William R.Allison of the State Department of Parks and Recreation, will discuss the problems of traffic and vandalism on the mountain and at the outdoor theatre.

Byrd Coleman, Sandra Davidson and Fay Trevor, physical therapists in Marin County, will lecture and demonstrate how to get into physical shape for the mountain's steeper trails.

School Trustees Plan Meetings

The San Anselmo School District Board of Trustees has scheduled meetings for Tuesday and Thursday at the Red Hill School library.

At 7 p.m. Tuesday it will hold a closed meeting to instruct its negotiating team and meet with the screening committee to discuss selection of a superintendent to replace Ivan D. Chappell who took the position on a temporary basis.

At 7:30 p.m. Thursday it will hold a business meeting to review a proposed $1,909,806 budget for next fiscal year, review the report of the Citizens Advisory Committee and hear a progress report from the negotiating team on nonsalary items.

Muir Woods Group Opposes Townhouses

The Muir Woods Park Improvement Association members have opposed a plan for 50 townhouses on Panoramic Highway, according to Association Secretary Elsie Heimann.

Representatives of Environmental Planning and Design Associates of Sausalito explained the plans to the meeting Friday night, she said.

The plans call for 50 cluster houses with a stable and pool on 10 acres opposite Kent Way, she said. The area is now zoned for single family residential, she said.

KTIM Will Celebrate Its 25th Anniversary

Radio Station KTIM in Marin will celebrate its 25th anniversary between 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. Friday when Hugh Turner, station manager, brings back some of the voices that were on the air a quarter-century ago.

Turner himself has been with KTIM since 1948, when he acquired the corporate holdings of Ernest L. (Lou) Smith, the first station manager.

The station, which was "This Is Marin," signed onto the air at 8:55 a.m. April 28, 1947, operating from studios in a remodeled house at 1117 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael. The first voice on the air was Mark Gerstle III, scion of a longtime Marin County family, who was chief announcer.

Gerstle will visit KTIM's studios for the anniversary, Turner said. He now is associated with the San Francisco Police Department. Another guest will be Gordon B. Greb, then program chief and staff announcer, who now is a professor at San Francisco State College.

Among the original corporate officers were the late Roy A. Brown, then publisher of the San Rafael Independent, and his son, Wishard, now publisher of the Independent-Journal.

The station's one-kilowatt AM transmitter was located at the College of Marin in Kentfield, and in 1960 moved to the shoreline near the Smith Brother Ranch. In 1948, according to former I-J reporter Jack Eisen, now in Washington, D.C., the station set up a pioneering rebroadcast arrangement with KRCC, an East Bay FM station owned by another newspaper, the Richmond Independent.

By 1950, KTIM had taken over the station. It operated studios both in San Rafael and Richmond, until 1956 when the Richmond operation was closed.

KTIM's daytime-only AM transmitter was joined in 1960 by its FM station, operating day and night from a transmitter atop San Rafael Hill.

Organic Cosmetics Return

Kitchen garden and pantry shelves are beginning to replace the chemist's laboratory as a source of beauty aids as the organic cosmetics craze turns the clock back to the past century when Grandma cherished her secret recipes for beautiful skin and shining hair.

Two Mill Valley women, Mrs. Gerald Frank and Mrs. William Smith, have been delving into old books of "household recipes" and "toilet suggestions" for some of these secrets to be bottled and sold at Grandmother's Cupboard of the Marin County Antiques Show, which opens Thursday at the IDESST Hall in Sausalito.

The women, members of the Episcopal Church Women of the Church of Our Saviour, Mill Valley, which will sponsor the three-day event for the 20th year, combined their respective interests in devising a line of old fashioned cosmetics.

Joan Smith is a history buff with a house full of 19th Century treasures brought from her native Helena, Mont., and Arlene Frank was a professional cosmetologist who still likes to experiment with skin-softeners and face creams along with her gourmet recipes.

GRANDMA'S GLAMOUR Goo, a facial for oily skin; Sissy's Golden Bath Emollient; Grandma's Hand Softener; and Auntie's Ting, an astringent, are the results of their collaboration.

Although many of the ingredients for organic cosmetics are as accessible as the garden or neighborhood grocery store — among them avacados, lemons, roses, cucumbers, herbs, eggs, milk, oatmeal and cornmeal — the pharmacist is not suffering, for he still supplies the glycerine, witch hazel, coconut oil, cocoa butter, almond and other essential oils.

Also the large cosmetics manufacturers are getting into the organic act with their own exclusive lines of organic cosmetics. Most featured among these are products which include avocado, lemon or milk protein.

One of the books used by the Grandmother's Cupboard researchers was "the 1902 Blue Ribbon Cookbook" owned by Mrs. Charles McCormick of Mill Valley. Along with specific recipes for a "lady's toilet" are bits of advice which grandma considered more important to beauty, such as these:

"A cheerful disposition and an optimistic view of life do much toward making the beauty supppiant plump of outline and charming of countenance."

"Good humor should be cultivated and the hour spent at the table should be dedicated to the goddess of leisure. . . . the family should early be trained to avoid all unpleasant themes at table."

"Think joy—not sorrow... and never speak unkindly."

"To have a rounded throat, sing whether you have a voice or not."

AMONG THE more interesting recipes in this book were a complexion cream using strawberry juice as its principal ingredient, cucumber juice and elder flower water to reduce the pores of the skin. If you need "cure for a brown throat" the book advises, "beat up an egg, add one ounce of honey, one teaspoon of lemon juice, six drops of bitter almond oil and enough oatmeal to make into a paste. Use morning and night."

"The Blue Ribbon Cookbook" also suggests that a "nice dressing for the hair is cold tea (use every day and a head of glossy hair will result); eyebrows can be thickened by brushing nightly with cocoa butter; rub beaten egg whites into the roots of the hair and leave on to dry, then clean head with equal parts of rum and rosewater."

A tooth cleaning compound includes, of all things, two tablespoonsfull of white sugar.

Freckles must be avoided at all costs, with no less than four "cures" provided, but wrinkles are dismissed as inconsequential with "if you have lost any teeth, that will account for the lines; otherwise you should not have wrinkles before 60."

MRS. WILLIAM Smith's 19th Century antiques provide an appropriate setting for Mrs. Gerald Frank (left) to demonstrate her Grandma's Glamour Goo on Mrs. Smith. This is one of the organic cosmetics to be sold at Grandmother's Cupboard in the Marin County Antiques Show, which opens Thursday in Sausalito. The women are members of the Episcopal Church of Our Saviour, Mill Valley, which benefits from the annual event.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Maybe Males Can Rescue This Henpecked Husband In Chains

DEAR HELEN:

Recently my husband and I were guests of three couples at a local club.

Upon arrival, I was informed by one of my hostesses not to accept a dance from one of the husbands, as his wife was insanely jealous. As the latter danced with our spouses, it was quite evident that her man was so well trained he wouldn't even chance a smile at any woman, let alone talk or dance with us.

We'll be in contact often as we're part of the crowd. Must we kowtow to a jealous wife? — NON-JEALOUS

DEAR NON:

Someone should free this poor henpecked husband from his cage — and perhaps the best way is to enlist YOUR men. Surely they'll help a fellow male by ignoring his wife until she unchains her prisoner.

A few danceless, attentionless parties, and she'll either give him a break or they'll both remain home on Saturday nights... until boredom and jealousy do them part. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

How can you fight "creeping commercialism?"

We live in a nice woodsy residential area, seven miles from our small town, where two scenic rivers converge. Several homes are on this winding lane, bordered by trees — a real parklike natural wonderland.

But a gravel company wants to remove the huge gravel bar at the confluence of the rivers. This means widening the county road, cutting down trees on either side, noisy trucks, earth-tearing machinery, and pollution to the river, as well as ruination of our environment.

The county has agreed to widen the road. We've petitioned against this threat to serenity and beauty, but commissioners say an improved road will be "good for us."

We'd guess we are only a few of millions threatened by creeping commercialism. What can we do, when no one seems to listen? — MR. G.

DEAR MR. G.:

Public opinion — especially when it concerns ecology — can work near miracles. Get the word to your local newspaper, start a "save our natural parkland" campaign, circulate petitions, do a spot of picketing.

If every landowner (except the gravel company) is against widening your county road, you'll have a big talking point. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My woman friends wants to have my name tattoed inside a heart — and not exactly on her arm. I have heard females are going for tattoos these days, but I still think it's unladylike. You? — NO INK JOB

DEAR IJ:

Well, anyway — unwise. What if the lady has a change of heart? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm not sure whether I heard this somewhere or originated it, but I like the saying, "Sex without love is like a butterfly without wings." — RIGHT?

DEAR RIGHT:

Right! Without love, sex can be pretty "grubby." — H.

PERSONAL TO WORRIED MOTHER OF AN INDELICATE INFANT: Your baby is normally inquisitive. If you don't believe me, ask your pediatrician — who will tell you kids try eating anything — except what their mothers say is good for them. — H.

Merit Of Volkswagen Beetle In Safety Area Is Debated

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — Is the Volkswagen Beetle "the safest car" or "the most hazardous car" currently in use in significant numbers in the United States?

The answer may not be known for a long time, if ever. Indeed, the truth may lie somewhere between these two extreme statements, for they both cannot be right.

On the negative side is Ralph Nader, the consumer advocate who has been a longtime critic of the Volkswagen because of its alleged safety defects. A 200-page report by his Center for Auto Safety last September found little to praise about the popular vehicle now owned by 3.2 million Americans.

It said the Beetle is "more likely than most other cars to cause serious or fatal injury in an collision than virtually any other car in common use in this country." The report urged that the VW Microbus or Van be recalled immediately by the manufacturer and its production discontinued.

Although some of the charges were not new, the detailed documentation and strong language used by Nader caused a sensation among VW owners around the world. News stories may have played a major role in a sweeping shakeup in management at Volkswagen headquarters in Germany.

NEEDLESS TO say, the company denied the accusations, and it did not initiate the massive recall demanded by Nader.

Meanwhile, Road and Track magazine began its own investigation of the matter, beginning with the Nader report.

Its detailed answer to the Nader report appears in the current (April) issue of the magazine. Its findings contradict almost every one in the Nader study. Its conclusion is that the VW Beetle is "the safest car" in wide use in this country.

Road and Track said it checked with the same sources used by Nader and found an almost completely opposite picture. The magazine accused the Nader crew of distorting studies done by others and omitting key data when it was favorable to Volkswagen. It called Nader "wrong."

"Any competent attorney using the same sources," said the magazine, "could make a powerful case to show that the VW Beetle is the safest car currently in use in significant numbers in the United States. It urged that Nader "recall" the study report.

WHEN THE Road and Track article was first released at a press conference, the Nader group accused the magazine of defending the Volkswagen for commercial purposes and strongly backed its own report.

Since then, the group has obtained an agreement with the magazine to publish a 2,500-word rebuttal for the July issue. A preliminary draft of that article takes up Road and Track's objections point by point without conceding any errors or distortions.

How can anyone tell which side is right?

One way is to compare the current article with Nader's reply still to be published. Nader's original report is expected to be published in book form in July.

Pearls Still In Wedding Etiquette

NEW YORK (UPI) — Not long ago every bride wore a bride's necklace — a graduated, princess length strand of cultured pearls.

Cultured pearls still stand as the most appropriate jewels for the bride to wear but the old pearl uniform necklace varies — as wedding etiquette grows less rigid. Weddings vary from the self-composed declaration in a stand of California redwoods to a high, nuptial mass in the Washington Cathedral.

When selecting pearls for the wedding the most important thing to consider is the neckline of the gown. For the high round neckline, for example, the multiple strand dog collar of cultured pearls goes best.

If the bride wearing such a collar is having a formal wedding, the opera-length necklace of cultured pearls, falling softly over the bosom, would be appropriate.

WHEN THE gown is a scooped neckline type, a bib of pearls, falling from the base of the throat to the top of the gown's neckline, makes the bride lovely as can be.

High standing collars call for matinee or opera — length pearls. A cameo or simple brooch hung on the strand gives a more striking effect.

What if the gown is heavily beaded? With pearl seeds. Does that mean the bride can't wear pearls? Not at all. The only caution: don't let the pearls sewn on the dress clash with the pearl necklace. Best is to have a neckline low enough so that the pearl necklace will rest against bare skin.

Pearls, traditionally, are a gift from the bridegroom. When shopping for same, he ought to look for quality. The higher the quality, the higher the price. Whether he plans to spend $50 or $5,000 he ought to shop for quality.

The size is measured in millimeters and fine quality can be found in any size. Shape ranges from perfectly round (the most expensive) to semi-round, to baroque. Baroque pearls, the really odd shaped ones, are about one-third the price of round pearls. There is a larger supply of them.

Mrs. Jones is a graduate of Loma Linda University's School of Dietetics and received the B.A. degree from Pacific Union College. She has taught cooking classes from coast to coast, has served as director of food services for colleges, been a hospital dietitian and diet consultant.

Mrs. Jones is the author of "The Soybean Cookbook" and is dietitian for "Life and Health," a national health journal. She is also associate editor of "Today's Food" magazine and has been an official observed at the Second World Food Congress in the Netherlands, under sponsorship of the World Food Program and the U.S. Food and Agriculture Organization.

Over 30 Years Experience In Nutrition

HERE'S HEALTH!

by JUNE EMBURY

U.C. Berkeley's nutrition department chief, Dr. George M. Briggs, is quoted as recently charging that it's a "sad commentary on our nutrition habits when the cheapest of all nutrients is lacking in so many people's diets." Dr. Briggs refers to iron deficiency, now found to be prevalent in as many as 20 million Americans!

Before industry coated our cookware (with teflon and similar chemicals) to make it easier to clean, the nutritionist points out, Americans got a little something from the pot while cooking meals — enough iron to satisfy our minimum daily requirement.

But modern technology has changed all that. Invest in a new cast iron skillet is his recommendation.

We say Bravo, Dr. Briggs! and would add that other authorities emphasize the need for iron-rich supplements such as desiccated liver and organ meats, prepared for toxin-free, maximum nutrition, available, of course at our store.

ART AUCTION — This primitive "Home for Christmas" is by Girldine Fallon Merrill, who is considered the West's Grandma Moses. It is one of several hundred works being offered at auction Sunday by the Marin Society of Artists.

Marin Society's Annual Art Auction Previewed This Week

By LAURA DEVENDORF

The Marin Society of Artists annual art auction is no attic sale. And whether the inspiration is out of devotion to the organization or to a needed tax deduction, the auction has consistently attracted good work by some of the area's better known artists and craftsmen.

This year's event, which takes place Sunday at the society's gallery in the Ross Art and Garden Center, will be in two parts. Silent bidding on wall-hung work will begin at 1 p.m. and a verbal auction on selected pieces, at 2 p.m. These selected works will be previewed through Friday at the gallery.

Probably in response to public taste, much of the painted work being previewed is realism. And much of it is very good. William Lary is represented with several neat, architectural watercolors of farms and buildings, and there are several oils by East Bay artist Eleanor Elsocht, including a vibrant "Tea Garden at Sunset."

There are pleasant examples covering all subjects from an orange nude with blue drapery by Frank Bacher to a sylvan afternoon painted by Sydney Herschleb in glowing golds which penetrate even the deepest tree-formed shadows.

Among these realistic canvases is a primitive treasure by Girldine Fallon Merrill, who has been referred to as the West's Grandma Moses and whose work has been purchased for the Western White House. Her snow covered "Home for Christmas" is a delight, from the brilliant red apples hanging on a barren tree, to the last chicken in the barn and face at the house window.

While abstract work is at a minimum, what there is, is usually both competent and decorative, particularly the landscapes. In Avis De Monte's "March," greens from emerald to chartreuse indicate spring fresh fields stretching in shadow and occasional sun under a steel-toned sky.

Margaret Smith's "Summer Halo" is a series of warm chunks of color, while Marjorie Cathcart's fluid hues suggest beach and sea on a "Carmel Day," and then a bit more literally, a windy reach of hills and sky.

In shortest supply is purely nonobjective work. But what there is, is climaxed with Fred Herschleb's stunning gray-blue ribbon-run watercolor.

Crafts aren't plentiful either. But they are lovely. Myra Falch's stole is a woven rainbow of soft color mixed with gray. Phyllis Lynch shows a tall bowl in pure rich blue. And there is silver, pearl and torquoise jewelry by such notables as Lida Dear, Alice Shannon and Frieda Burkhart.

In most cases, the work is representative of the artists who have donated them, even if sometimes, the connection is a little dated. It should be kept in mind, however, that the artists give these works away.

A tax deduction really is small help. Yet in spite of this, the preview indicates that there are some treasures in the Marin Society auction. And even as a gallery show, it isn't bad, not bad at all.

MUSIC REVIEW

Rejto, Baller Entrance Small Concert Audience

Cellist Gabor Rejto and pianist Adolph Baller entranced a small but appreciative audience at last night's benefit concert at Dominican College's Angelico Hall with a program of cello-piano sonatas by Hindemith, Schubert, Martinu, and Beethoven.

Each work was performed with the utmost stylistic sensitivity. The heavy driving, almost peasant quality of the opening Hindemith Op. 11, No. 3 Sonata immediately revealed Rejto's phenomenal command of the cello. The tremendous technical demands of this work were no obstacle to the conviction and power of his interpretation.

Almost in complete contrast, Schubert's A Minor "Arpeggione" Sonata became a miracle of ensemble playing. The magic of Schubert, that fresh, bittersweet lyricism, was the object of their attention. Rhythmic articulation, tone color and sensitive variations in dynamic levels were always consistent between the instruments. Piano and cello became one perfectly functioning expressive instrument.

The Czechoslovakian neo-Romantic composer Bohuslav Martinu has been receiving a considerable amount of attention recently by chamber musicians. His Sonata No. 2 for cello and piano is a beautiful work with a great deal of individuality. The sustained Largo movement provided Rejto with the opportunity to display his fluid tone and outstanding bow technic.

They let out all the stops with the concluding A major Beethoven sonata. From the composer's middle period, this sonata has the same warmth and directness of the "Rasoumovsky" string quartets. Both piano and cello are of equal importance — at times a duo and at times accompanying one another. Rejto and Baller's interpretation of this work was masterly.

While such artists can make the most of any situation, it was unfortunate that they had to perform in Angelico Hall. the accoustics of this building are similar to those of a gymnasium — a large echo chamber.

Rejto and Baller presented this concert to benefit the Maurice Wilk Memorial Scholarship Fund for music students at Dominican College. The late Wilk was the violinist with them in the Alma Trio.

Adult Music At Terra Linda High

An adult dance-concert by the Terra Linda High School Stage Band will be held at 9 p.m. Saturday at the Oakview Club, 919 Lea Drive, San Rafael.

The band will perform tunes from the 1930s, 40's and 50's, featuring the music of Count Bassie, Glen Miller and Duke Ellington.

MUSIC REVIEW

Guest Conductor Has 'Great' Style

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Sensational brass playing and the revelation that the San Francisco symphony can achieve maximum impact without Ozawa were the major impressions at Saturday night's third concert in the orchestra's current Marin series.

There were many empty seats in the Veterans Memorial Theater, probably due to the absence of Ozawa, but those who missed the concert for this reason were the losers, for guest conductor Dean Dixon, the first black and probably the youngest musician ever to conduct the New York Philharmonic, made great music in his own style.

Now 57, Dixon has come home to the United States after 21 years in Europe, and his appearance in this series of San Francisco concerts was his debut with the orchestra. Controlled force in broad, dynamic gestures was the keynote of his podium manner, with none of Ozawa's choreographicgrace and demonic fire. At times Dixon did so little that he seemed to be guiding the performance through magnetic radiation.

The program — Brahms's Tragic Overture in D Minor, the contemporary Czech Petr Eben's "Vox Clamantis" and Bruckner's Symphony No. 3 in D Major — was one of great substance and depth and could have been unbearably heavy had it not been performed with such vibrant vitality.

Not only did all three works offer the brasses, especially trumpets, their golden opportunity to shine, but Dixon seemed deliberately to magnify their importance as well as that of the low strings. I have not heard the latter hold their own better and even achieve maximum power as well as in this concert, especially in the Bruckner Symphony. At times the sonority was like that of a mighty pipe organ, not surprising in view of Bruckner's mastery of that majestic instrument.

I found the "Vox Clamantis" (voice crying in the wilderness), which received its West Coast premiere in the first of this series of concerts in San Francisco, quite intriguing and successful in its realization of its theme. This was the collision caused by the convergence of the two worlds when the New Testament burst into the old world, with the voice in the wilderness that of John the Baptist.

Three trumpeters, one standing on the right of the stage, one in the center and one at the left, represented this voice and contributed some of the most brilliant trumpet playing I have heard. All the more credit was due the trumpets, since the first trumpet section was aleatoric, or music of chance, in which the performers improvised their own music in the style of synagogical singing.

The orchestration was colorful with sheets of sound reminiscent of Varese.

While not so impressive as the Bruckner Symphony, the opening Brahms's Overture was heard in a dynamic reading conveying vividly the various aspects of tragedy.

New gold outlined panels on the back of the stage enhanced its appearance considerably.

Seven Sailors Jump From Ship During Protest

LEONARDO, N.J. (UPI)— Seven sailors leaped overboard from a Navy ammunition ship that has been the target of antiwar demonstrations this morning and attempted to swim to a protesters' flotilla of 16 canoes as the Navy ship left a pier here, reportedly for Vietnam.

The Coast Guard said all seven sailors who leaped from the U.S.S. Nitro were picked up by two Coast Guard cutters in Sandy Hook Bay and would be returned to the Nitro.

The canoe flotilla was launched earlier this morning by members of an antiwar group that saw 19 of its members arrested Sunday for entering the Earle ammunition depot to protest loading of the Nitro, Middletown Township police said.

Children's Play Set Saturday

A children's play, "The Frog Who Liked Being a Frog," will be presented free at 2 p.m. Saturday in the outdoor children's garden of the new Corte Madera library.

The play is an adaption of a book, "The Strange Sory of the Frog Who Became a Prince," by Elinor Horwitz.

It was directed by Carol Teller, a recent graduate in dramatic arts from University of Calfiornia, Davis.

Ostlind To Give Marin Mayors Air Base Plan

A presentation of his plans for joint use of Hamilton Air Force Base will be made by Benjamin J. Ostlind before the Marin County Council of mayors and Councilmen at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant, San Rafael.

Cocktails will be at 6:30 and dinner meeting at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday with San Anselmo as host city.

Ostlind, one of the original members and first chairman of the Marin County Aviation Commission, has been pushing plans for a joint military-civilian use of Hamilton Air Force Base. His plans call for an industrial complex to the north of the base.

Other items to come before the mayors and councilmen include a report on the urban thoroughfare program, consideration of support for statewide bicycle licensing and the formation of service areas for cities.

Winning Candidates Have Low Budgets

All winning candidates in the Rohnert Park and Cotati City Council elections ran low budget campaigns, according to expense statements filed.

In Cotati, winners Annette Lombardi, Stephen Laughlin and Geoffrey Dunham said they spent less than $500 to win office. In Rohnert Park, Louis G. Beary said he also spent less then $500 and Warren K. Hopkins reported spending $283 and Vernon P. Smith, $265.

Ag Preserve To Be Studied

The Novato City Council will discuss creating agricultural preserves in the Novato area at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the community house.

The city planning commission recommended last week that the Burdell Ranch on San Antonio Creek; the Olompali Ranch, north of Novato; the Magetti Ranch, west of Novato, and the West property, north of Hamilton Air Force Base, be designated agricultural preserves.

Councilmen also will review horse and bicycle paths recommended for the city master plan by the planning commission.

PREDATES CHRISTIANS

Ancient Village Is Uncovered

By BRUCE MARTIN

In a 400-by-500-foot area of Forst Meadows, archaeologist Charles Slaymaker and his students at nearby Dominican College in San Rafael have uncovered a Coast Miwok Indian village that he believes predates the Christian era.

Slaymaker and students in his anthropology class at the college last September began excavation at the site of the village that was known as Awani-wi, now marked by numerous diggings that range up to 20 feet in diameter and two to seven feet in depth.

In one of the diggings, they discovered arrow points, ornaments, shells and beads. The beads were made from clam shells culled from Bodega Bay and were the Coast Miwoks' "most important form of money," the archaeologist said.

He said food-grinding implements and animal bones also were found.

The digging, or "structure" — Slaymaker's term for the hard-packed earth floor found at a three-foot depth — was last occupied by the Coast Miwoks at about 1300 A.D.

The structure was found, Slaymaker said, by probing downward until hard-packed earth was touched, then by spreading the dig on a flat plane until they unearthed the entire floor of what once was a communal home for 11 or 12 persons.

The Coast Miwoks occupied all of Marin and Southern Sonoma. Communities within the tribe bartered with each other, and for this reason Slaymaker believes olivella and clam shells from the ocean came to be found at the San Rafael site.

The Coast Miwoks lived in Marin until about 1860 when they were driven out by increasing numbers of settlers, Slaymaker said. In the early 1900s, archaeologists interviewed some survivors of the tribe who identified the site of the village and called it Awani-wi, Slaymaker said.

By digging down ever deeper, Slaymaker believes he'll find another "living level" that predates the one he's unearthed. Several of these levels may lie below the current structure, "and may go back a couple of thousand years," he said.

The Coast Miwoks lived in buildings that resembled halved, upside-down grapefruits. At Slaymaker's prime digging site, the Indians built their 20-feet-in-diameter, seven-foot-tall thatched huts with an arched top supported by bent poles overlaid with brush, willow and tule mats.

There were about 25 villages in the San Rafael area, but many sites have been covered over by highway and houses, Slaymaker believes.

The time-consuming excavation is done by hand — "a hand trowel is our only tool" — and all earth removed from the ground is sifted through a wire mesh screen in order to retrieve the tiniest of artifacts.

In addition to his current pupils, Slaymaker is assisted in the dig by past students and by a group of Redwood High School students.

Artifacts taken from the site will be on display through May 5 at Alemany Library on the college campus.

Debate Set On Black Education Progress

More than 300 educators will gather in San Rafael May 23-26 to discuss, debate and evaluate educational progress of black students at all levels.

The conference, entitled "Emerging Trends in the Education of Black Students," will probe the problems of busing, freedom schools, special college admissions, black studies, black universities, international perspectives and funding for special minority programs.

While the conference was designed to attract primarily black educators, all educators have been invited to attend, particularly those involved in compensatory programs.

Headlining the roster of speakers will be Dr. Andrew Billingsley, vice president of academic affairs at Howard University in Washington, D.C.

Dr. Roland Patterson, superintendent of the Baltimore public schools and Dr. Vernon Broussard, chief of the state bureau of compensatory education program development, will be featured luncheon speakers.

The conference, to be held at the Holiday Inn in San Rafael, is sponsored by Breakthrough of the Tamalpais High School District; Black Scholar magazine, the Marin County Superintendent of Schools Office and the Marin County Human Rights Commission.

Ten workshops a day will be held at the conference. Organizers hope the participants will return to their respective jobs with additional information to initiate improvements in their areas.

A panel of college students also will participate in the workshops.

Martin Will Take Over As Old School Provost

Dr. Warren B. Martin, researcher and educator, has been named provost of Old School at Sonoma State College.

Martin will replace Dr. Yvette Fallandy as provost of Old School, which includes all academic departments of the college except those of the new cluster schools.

Martin is now a researcher and coordinator of development for the Center for Research and Development in Higher Education at University of California at Berkeley. He previously had been provost of the first cluster college at University of the Pacific and had teaching and administrative experience at Cornell College, Mount Vernon, Iowa.

He received the senior research award for 1972-73 from University of London institute of education, under the Fulbright-Hays Act. Martin declined the honor to go to London for a year to accept the Sonoma State position.

Martin holds a doctor of philosophy degree from Boston University. He has written several articles for professional journals and will assume the position on July 1.

Overdose Treatment

Carol Schneider, 27, of 154 Alpine Street, San Rafael, was taken to Marin Genera Hospital Saturday for treatment of an overdose of pills taken at Holiday Inn at 1010 Northgate Drive, San Rafael police reported. Hospital officials declined comment on her condition.

Man, 19, Booked In 'Cycle Theft

A 19-year-old San Rafael man was arrested Saturday on suspicion of theft of a motorcycle, San Rafael police reported today.

Thomas Kenneth Caro, of 11 Brentwood Drive, was released on $1,200 bail to appear Wednesday in Marin Municipal Court.

According to police, two juvenile witnesses saw Caro take the motorcycle from in front of 15 Fernwood Court. The motorcycle belonged to Donald Charles Timmer of 20 K Street, San Rafael.

Caro later was arrested on Knight Drive and told police that he had left the motorcycle on Main Drive, police reported. They recovered the motorcycle and returned it to Timmer, according to reports.

School Building Decision Pending

Mill Valley School District trustees will meet at 8 o'clock tonight to rule on a request for a construction deadline extension by the contractor building Mill Valley Middle School.

The request was submitted in mid-March when the school was to be finished, according to director of business services Carroll D. Killingsworth, but has not yet come before the board even though the school is not finished.

He said the request was delayed because the district's architect and building inspector were negotiating with the contractor, Dickman Construction Company of Mountain View, for a reduction in the number of days asked.

Killingsworth said Dickman had asked 67 days because of rain-caused delay, and the district's representatives now recommend the board approve 54 days. Killingsworth said estimates are that the building will be finished by May 30, which he said was enough time to ready it for the coming school year.

The board will also hear reports on the screening committee for the principalship of Old Mill School, and a recommendation that the district have summer school classes only for educationally and visually handiicapped children.

Santa Rosan Denies Assault Of Coed

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Larry S. Coffey, 20, of Santa Rosa, has pleaded innocent in Sonoma County Superior Court to a charge of rape.

Judge Lincoln F. Mahan said a trial date will be set May 24. Coffey was arrested March 29 on suspicion of raping an 18-year-old Sonoma State College coed in an oatfield off East Cotati Avenue near the campus.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Learning To Relax Yourself Helps Develop Independence

A California housewife writes: "I can't unwind and don't think I'll ever be able to relax. But people need to relax and you must help me."

The above is an excerpt from a letter written by a woman who needs psychiatric care. We assume she has a severe anxiety neurosis, or perhaps, an unreasonable fear (phobia) is making it impossible for her to relax. A number of procedures may help depending upon the cause of her problem.

A VARIETY of drugs such as the muscle relaxants promote relaxation. Hypnosis has also been used. In addition to these measures, several systems of self-relaxation are more practicable because they encourage independence. One of these utilizes the calming effects of warm baths and cold compresses. The patient sits in the tub and repeats suggestions that different parts of his body are warm or cold.

In another method, the individual is taught to relax by sitting or lying in a comfortable position, and contracting and then relaxing successive groups of muscles. Both procedures are good, but take a month or more to master.

AT THE Maudsley Hospital in London, 92 psychiatric patients were introduced to a different technique; all but three achieved relaxation within two minutes. The three failures were women who developed more anxieties on closing their eyes when someone else was in the room.

In this procedure the individual rests comfortably in a chair or couch and the physician quickly repeats a series of phrases in a quiet, rhythmical, and monotonous voice. He says, "Let your toes," then pauses a moment and continues, "relax."

THE PAUSE continues until the patient begins to breathe out. This is followed by some 24 phrases naming different parts of the body. The toes are followed by the soles, tops of the feet, ankles, calves, shins, and upwards ending with the eyes.

Another group of 58 individuals were taught to relax in half a minute by making themselves comfortable and counting down from 10 to 1.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

ASPIRIN FOR DIABETES

J. W. writes: If aspirin reduces the amount of sugar in the blood, why can't it be used in the treatment of diabetes?

REPLY

It could, but the amount required would be so great, the diabetic would develop indigestion, ringing in the ears and bleeding from the intestines or under the skin. It takes from 15 to 18 (5 grain) aspirin tablets to lower the blood sugar level.

ULCER AND FEVER

M. S. writes: Does the person who is hemorrhaging from peptic ulcer run a temperature?

REPLY

There may be a slight fever from the absorption of blood, but usually the temperature is subnormal because of shock. Incidentally, everyone has a temperature, but when it goes above 98.6, we call it fever.

TREATING DEPRESSION

A reader writes: If shock treatments fail, can anything be done for a depressed person?

REPLY

Several drugs are useful in the treatment of depression, but they are prescription items that your physician knows about.

Hitler Birthday Celebration

TRENTON (UPI)—Garbed in brown shirts and black stormtrooper uniforms, about 35 persons gathered Sunday in a swastika-bedecked banquet room near the New Jersey statehouse to commemorate the 83rd birthday of Adolf Hitler.

The gathering, held by at least three white supremacist organizations, had been delayed for five days after 12 hotels had refused to rent the group space. The party-goers, from the National Renaissance party, the Ku Klux Klan and the White Action movement, sang "Happy Birthday, Dear Fuehrer," and cut a four-layer white birthday cake decorated with red swastikas.

Under an American Nazi party flag, a German naval battle flag and emblems of the Klan and the Renaissance party, the group chanted "Seig Heil, Seig Heil, White Power, White Power," and then, with arms outstretched in a Nazi salute, recited:

"Our sword is the truth. Our shield is our faith and honor in age or youth. Our hearts and minds we pledge. Though we may die to save our people, and our land, our race shall stand—our millions marching on—Seig Heil!"

Donation For Bulletin Board

Directors of the Friends of the Larkspur Library have donated $30 to purchase a bulletin board for the adult library, Joi Losee, board president, reported yesterday.

The board also donated 25 books to the library in honor of the late Daniel Allen, former city councilman and member of the library's board of directors.

A book on Irish houses and castles also was donated in honor of Janice Huey, a past president of the organization, and her husband, Samuel Huey; a former member of the library board.

Mr. J. Oliver Finds Way To Help Shrink Painful Swelling Of Hemorrhoidal Tissues

...caused by inflammation and infection.

Junction City, Kansas.—Mr. J. Oliver writes: "I couldn't get relief. Then I bought Preparation H. I surely recommend it. It's worth its weight in gold."

(Note: Doctors' tests have proved Preparation H® actually helps shrink swelling of hemorrhoidal tissues caused by inflammation. It's so effective that in many cases the first applications give prompt, temporary relief from pain and itching in such tissues. There's no other formula like Preparation H.)

Scouts Set Litter Drive On Saturday

If all goes well, about 1,000 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers will fan out across Marin County Saturday on an all-day drive to pick up litter.

The effort in Marin is part of a nationwide "Keep America Beautiful Day," sponsored by the Boy Scouts of America.

Last year, a similar drive enlisted the energy of 1,000 scouts in Marin who collected five tons of litter.

"This year, we're hoping for at least 1,000 volunteers," said William Deedy of Ross, one of the project's organizers. "We already have 250 signed up and returns are still coming in strong."

Among the key litter areas that will be patroled by the scouts are Samuel P. Taylor State Park; Paper Mill Creek in Mill Valley; the Sun Valley area in San Rafael; Corte Madera Creek area, Ross; Bel Marin Keys, Stafford Lake and Novato Creek Park, both Novato.

This year's drive will have a helping hand from Pepsi Cola Bottling Co., Coca-Cola Bottling Co. and McDonald's Restaurants. The soda companies have donated 10 cases of soda to the volunteers, while McDonald's has offered free hamburgers, french fries and drinks.

Other organizers of the cleanup effort include Bruce Roberts, John Spencer and Jeffrey Schultz, all of Ross, and Samuel Wright of Orinda.

Crackdown On Mail Diet Fraud

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Postal Service, coming to the aid of gverweight people "desperate" for a reducing shortcut, has begun a crackdown on fraudulent promotion of grapefruit diets.

The service said one promoter made $250,000 in illicit earnings receiving as many as 1,000 letters daily requesting $2 copies of a worthless diet based on grapefruit.

"Overweight people do get desperate about finding a quick and easy shortcut to weight loss," Postal Service attorney Thomas Ziebarth said in discussing the crackdown in a weekend statement.

Dr. Vincent F. Cordaro, medical review officer for the Food and Drug Administration, said grapefruit has no special properties or capabilities for weight reduction, but could have ill effects on persons with abnormal heart or kidney conditions.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Young Bridge Player Spends Much Time Learning How

We spend our youth learning how to do things that we avoid in middle age. The youthful bridge player spends much of his life learning how, when and with whom to finesse. The middle-age bridge player spends just as much time and effort trying to avoid finesses.

SOUTH RUFFED

West opened a diamond, and East took the first two tricks in that suit. South ruffed the third diamond with a high trump, drew three rounds of trumps and finessed with the queen of hearts.

This lost, and South eventually lost another heart trick. It was all over very quickly, and South felt practically no pain. He never saw that he had a much better play for his contract.

Declarer couldn't tell who had the king of hearts. East would have made his overcall of one diamond with just the strong diamonds and no side strength.

PLAY ON FEAR

Since South doesn't know who has the king of hearts, his best chance is to play on the enemy's fear. Declarer draws three rounds of trumps, ending in the dummy, and then leads a low heart from dummy.

If East has the singleton king of hearts, he must play it. If East has the doubleton king of hearts, will he have the courage to play low? Even if East does have this courage, will he do so without giving himself away?

EASY TO ANSWER

These questions are easy to answer. Lead the low heart from dummy, and all but one East player in a million will rise to the bait by playing the king of hearts. Then you have no further problem.

If East fails to put up the king of hearts, you must plan to finesse later on. If the finesse were going to succeed early in the play, it would still succeed later.

You hold:

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one spade.

In the absence of an intervening bid your hand is clearly worth a response. Some experts would bid one spade even if there were an intervening bid of one diamond or one heart.

Marin Special Olympics Has 200-Plus Performers

More than 200 mentally retarded children and adults gave it their best try Saturday at the fourth annual Marin County Special Olympics, held at San Rafael High School.

The contestants competed in track and field and swimming events, with some of the top winners advancing to the state championships scheduled for June in San Jose.

Among the outstanding performances was a 217-foot softball throw by John Mendez of Sinaloa Junior High of Novato, 217 feet, in the 13-15 age group. Thirteen-year-old Bill Raudio of Neil Cummins School in Larkspur threw a softball 115 feet. The top standing broad jump was by Tommy Curtis of Cedars Development Foundation, 6 feet, 4 inches, in the 16-18 age group.

Top performances among the women came from Lucy Garcia and Ellie Dufficy, both from Cedars and in the 19 and older category, 116 feet and 100 feet respectively.

Special guests who helped in the day's activities were former Olympic champions George Foreman (boxing), Archie Williams (track) and Steve Clark (swimming), Ted Kwalick of the San Francisco 49ers, and Gordon Tovani of barefoot place kicking fame.

"Public response to the Special Olympics program is growing better every year," said meet director Tom Smith. "This year kids from all over Marin County, many from special education classes within public schools, participated in the event. In the future we hope that the departments of sports and recreation in the county can become involved in year round recreation programs and that we can expand from here in an infinite variety of sports opportunities."

The meet was sponsored by Marin Aid to Retarded Children, Cedars Development Foundation and Easter Seal Society Recreation for the Handicapped.

Golfer Mitchell In La Costa Win

Rancho La Costa (UPI) — Bobby Mitchell has been known to complain about his lack of recognition in the pro golf world.

That should be all over now. Bobby Mitchell, as seen on television Sunday, was the guy wearing the hat who beat Jack Nicklaus on the first hole of a sudden-death playoff for the 1972 Mony tournament of champions at La Costa Country Club.

Mitchell sank a 20-foot birdie putt to win the 33,000 first prize.

Nicklaus, still the no. 1 money-winner on the tour this year with 134,000 plus the 19,000 he won here for second, led by two strokes going into the last round of the tournament of champions. He shot a par 72 while Mitchell precipitated the tie by shooting 70. They were tied at 208, eight under, after 72 holes.

They went to the par-three 14th hole, 202 yards, for the playoff. Nicklaus said he hit a three-iron, explaining, "I cut the ball up into the wind and it drifted a bit to the left." It was in the rough.

Mitchell also hit a three iron but he was on the green about 20 feet short of the pin.

Nicklaus chipped up to five or six feet which made it two strokes for him. Mitchell, hitting his second shot, put the ball in the hole for the victory. It looked like it might lip out.

"The ball sort of was dying and it caught the right hand corner of the hole and the weight of it made it sink," Mitchell said.

In third place behind Mitchell and Nicklaus in the tournament of champions was Lee Trevino, who shot 72 — 282. That was good for $12,000.

Santa Rosa Relay Win By San Marin

San Marin High School's sprint medley relay team of Randy Colfer, Larry Butti, Ron Zechlin and Gary Lathrop ran a 3:37.2 Saturday to become the only Marin County varsity winner in the Santa Rosa Junior College Relays.

Darrell Elder of Redwood won twice at the Class B level, setting meet records with a shot put of 55 feet, 1 inch and a discus throw of 148-5.

Several other outstanding performances were recorded, including a 10.0 clocking by Terra Linda freshman Steve Johnson in the Class B 100-yard dash — the fastest 100 by any Marin runner, varsity or B, this year. Johnson finished fourth.

Jan-Eric Moller of Redwood ran Marin County's fastest two-mile of the year, 9:39.1, finishing second. Gary Lathrop of San Marin ran a fine half-mile, 1:58.5, as part of a relay.

Although not placing, teams from Terra Linda bettered the current Marin County Athletic League best times for the 440 relay (44.1) and mile relay (3:31.0).

No MCAL team finished in the top five in team score. Individuals and relay teams who placed:

BASEBALL

Moroski, Novato Triumph

Marty Moroski, walking a tightrope on the edge of disaster, stranded 12 San Rafael High School baserunners and pitched Novato High to a 7-3 baseball victory Saturday night at Albert Park in San Rafael.

With the triumph, Novato moved into a tie for second place in the Marin County Athletic League with San Marin at 4-2, two games behind undefeated Redwood. San Rafael slipped to 2-4, tied for sixth.

Moroski was touched for two unearned runs in the fourth inning, one scoring on a walk to Dave Urquhart and the other on a single by Bruce Howard, but pitched out of trouble by striking out slugger Dirk Gansloser. In the sixth, Moroski hit Howard to force in a run, but again whiffed Gansloser with the bases loaded.

Novato went on top to stay with three runs in the second inning. Jim Askim doubled and scored on Tom Conklin's triple. Moroski walked and advanced to second on a fielder's choice, and Bill Busher drove in two runs with a single.

The Hornets scored again in the sixth on a bad throw to the plate by the San Rafael shortstop on a bases-loaded grounder by Tom Conklin. Novato tallied three insurance runs in the seventh, one on a double by Mike Lamb and two on a double by Bob Lawrence.

Clymer Fund Gains $600; Schaal Wins

The Paul (Dutch) Clymer Scholarship Fund at College of Marin is $600 fatter today after Saturday's second annual College of Marin Alumni Golf Tournament at Meadow Club's course near Fairfax.

Tom Schaal was low net winner with a score of 76, 10 strokes handicap and a net 66. Terry Jarcik shot a 74 for low gross honors and Norb Hartman won the hole-in-one contest, his shot landing 8½ inches from the cup. Callaway winner was Bob Cefalu.

Clobber Lives Up To Name

Living up to its name, Clobber, Inc., batted around twice and scored 15 runs in the fourth inning en route to a 31-4 victory over Fleur De France yesterday in San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department adult softball league play at Aibert Park.

Mario Lamle drove in three runs with a triple and also did the pitching as King Realty defeated Marin District, 10-4. McKee's game with Hobbit's habit was called due to rain in the second inning with McKee's ahead, 6-3.

Paul Vickers hit a three-run homer to pace Hub City to a 15-8 triumph over Pizza Palace, although Joe Thompson hit a two-run homer for the losers. Ken Burns homered for Mudville Nine, but Joe America rallied for five runs in the fifth inning for a 10-7 victory. The Charlie Brown All-Stars topped Holiday Magic, 6-3.

Smitty's bombarded Round Table Pizza, 13-3.

Blyleven Throttles A's, 8-4

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI)—Bert Blyleven gave up only three hits in Minnesota's 84 victory over Oakland Sunday, but he said one of them could be worth $50,000.

"I thought Reggie Jackson's home run was going for the sign," Blyleven said. "Since I knew it was out, I figured it might as well be worth something. Maybe he'd split it with me."

Blyleven was referring to the sign above the right field scoreboard which is worth $50,000 from a Twin Cities savings organization to any player who hits it.

Jackson's homer gave the A's a breif 1-0 lead in the first inning but it was quickly forgotten as the Twins rapped four pitchers for 13 hits. Blyleven didn't allow a second hit until the eighth inning.

Blyleven, who won his last six games last year and his first two this year, credited the play and advice of his roommate, Danny Thompson, for much of his success.

"When things weren't going well last year and the team wasn't scoring many runs for me," Blyleven recalled, "Danny talked me into concentrating on doing the best job I could every time I pitched—every pitch I threw.

"He's helped me other ways, too, like with three hits today." Fourth day this year despite a schedule filled with postponed games and open dates.

Sharing the spotlight with Blyleven Sunday was center fielder Bobby Darwin, who hit a home run, his fourth of the year, on the first pitch he saw in Metropolitan Stadium.

"It wasn't much of a hit," he said. "I barely got a piece of a curve ball and I really didn't think it was going out.

"That makes a home run now off four different pitches, a fast ball, a slider, knuckleball and curve. I think I'm going to like hitting here. There's a good background and you can pick up the ball real well."

The 29-year-old rookie apologized to reporters for not being more colorful. "I'm not used to having sportswriters pay a lot

Giants Not Pushing Panic Button — Yet

Houston Explodes For Win

By JOE SARGIS

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—No one on the San Francisco Giants is hitting the panic button today but a few fingers are getting itchy.

Just before the players strike began the Giants looked like solid contenders for the National League west title they won a year ago on the final day of the season.

The combination of the 13-day strike and the loss of Willie McCovey in the first week of the season, though, seem to have taken its toll. A batting slump that was starting to look ominous came to a halt Sunday when the club put together timely hits for a four-run rally in the eighth and a seemingly comfortable 7-3 lead over the Houston Astros.

Then, the Astros, streaking ahead like their counterparts who conquered the moon this past weekend, sent 14 men to bat in the ninth against Jerry Johnson, Don McMahon and John Morris, and when the dust had cleared around the confused Giants, Houston had scored 10 times and went on to win its sixth in a row, 13-7.

"Seven runs should be enough to win any game," moaned Giants skipper Charlie Fox. "Our pitchers should be able to hold a four-run lead for only one inning but they didn't. I was especially disappointed in Johnson. He's my best reliever and he simply didn't do a job for me."

An RBI single by Bobby Bonds and Dave Kingman's three-run three-run homer were the blows that shot the Giants in front at 7-3 in the eighth and Fox called Johnson in to get three outs.

Jerry, who came on with two saves already under his belt, didn't get a man out of the four he faced. Norm Miller opened the ninth with a pinch-hit double and Johnson walked Roger Metzger. Cesar Cedeno, who had five hits in six at-bats, two stolen bases, three RBIs and boosted his batting average to .444 on 16 hits in 36-at-bats, drove both home with another double and after Johnson walked Jim Wynn, McMahon replaced him.

Lee May greeted the 42-year-old reliever with a homer to left for three more runs. Two more singles finished McMahon. The Astros continued their attack against Morris with five more hits for a total of eight in the inning.

Giants owner Horace Stoneham and a capacity crowd of 40,821 turned out for the game and when it was over there wasn't a happy face in the newly refurbished Candlestick Park.

How about getting help elsewhere, especially a pitcher?

"We're always thinking about getting help," said Fox, "But it's not as easy as it seems. No

Wilt Seeks 'Dream' Title; Knicks Eliminate Celtics

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Wilt Chamberlain looks forward to the "dream" title to go along with his million dollar dream house.

Chamberlain, too tired to even smile after Los Angeles beat Milwaukee, 104-100, for the Western Conference title Saturday, was in the middle of a four-day layover today as the Lakers prepared to host the New York Knicks Wednesday night in the opener of their best-of-seven series for the National Basketball Association championship.

"I've dreamed about beating New York ever since they took us in seven games two years ago," Chamberlain said after stopping the Bucks. "I think we have a good chance of winning this time."

The Knicks clinched the Eastern Conference crown Sunday with a 111-103 triumph over the Boston Celtics and now look for their second NBA title in three seasons. But the odds are stacked against New York.

The Lakers, who set a league record this season with 33 consecutive victories, defeated New York four times in five meetings. They also have the home court advantage.

Jerry West, in his 12th season as a pro, but never on a championship team, and Chamberlain helped rally Los Angeles from 10 points back in the fourth quarter of Saturday's contest to nail Milwaukee in six games. West scored 12 points in that period and Chamberlain added nine.

Jackson's first homer of the year gave the A's a 1-0 lead but Blyleven retired 17 of 18 batters from the second through the seventh innings and Dick Green was the only man to reach base. He was hit by a pitch in the third.

Harmon Killebrew led off the Twins' second with a single and scored when Darwin homered off Ken Holtzman.

The Twins made it 3-1 later in the inning when Eric Soderholm doubled and scored on Blyleven's two-out single.

Minnesota added three more runs off loser Holtzman in the fourth and made it 8-1 in the sixth as Phil Roof doubled and scored when Jim Roland threw wildly past first base on Blyleven's sacrifice bunt. Cesar tovar's single then scored Blyleven from second.

Revised N.L. Odds Favor Los Angeles

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

STATELINE, Nev. — The Los Angeles Dodgers' fast start has made them prohibitive favorites to win the National League West in revised odds released Saturday by Harrah's Tahoe Racebook.

In odds released just before the start of the season the Dodgers were 7-5 favorites, but now have been made 3-5 picks to win the N.L. West.

Alston Day Marred By Padre Victory

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

It may have been Walter Alston's day, but it certainly did not rub off on his Los Angeles Dodgers.

The National League Western Division leaders bowed, 2-1, yesterday to San Diego as the Padres spoiled festivities honoring Alston who is starting his 19th year as the Dodgers' manager.

In the other games, New York swept a doubleheader from Chicago 8-2 and 7-6 in 12 innings, Philadelphia topped Pittsburgh 5-4 in 11 innings, Atlanta nipped Cincinnati 4-3 in 11 innings and St. Louis drubbed Montreal 6-1.

Los Angeles' six game winning streak was snapped when Derrel Thomas hit a sacrifice fly in the eighth inning to give San Diego the victory over the Dodgers. Clay Kirby pitched a six-hitter to boost his record to 2-0 while Tommy John took the loss. The loss left Los Angeles only one-half game ahead of the Astros in the West.

Montreal, which was unbeaten, united and ranked No. 1, finally suffered its first loss of the season after winning its first five games. Rookie Scipio Spinks pitched a five-hitter to give the Cardinals the victory over Montreal. Spinks, obtained last week in a trade with Houston, struck out seven and walked five. Ted Simmons' two-run first inning single off loser Steve Renko started the Cards off to the win.

How about the team batting, which is averaging somewhere around the .200 mark after nine games, five of which the Giants have lost?

"We just have to keep on swinging and hope to come out of it," said Fox. "We have good personnel and now it's just a matter of us playing to our ability."

Fox sought to shake up the batting order in Sunday's game when he inserted the lefthanded hitting Jim Howarth at first and Dave Rader behind the plate with Kingman shifting back to third.

Fox said he will stick with Sunday's lineup for Tuesday night's series opener against the Philadelphia Phillies. Juan Marichal will pitch Tuesday against Steve Carlton and on Wednesday it will be Sam McDowell against Bill Champion.

Allen Bats White Sox To Victory

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

There's a new twist to the Dick Allen story this year: He thinks he's going to stay put and it's the team that's going places.

Baseball's wandering slugger is off to a brilliant start with the Chicago White Sox and said Sunday after leading them to their fifth straight victory that he'll never play for any other major league club.

"I like it here in Chicago and have made up my mind that no matter what happens this is the last club I'm going to play baseball with," said Allen after driving in two runs with a homer and a triple and then scoring the winning run in a 3-2 triumph over the Kansas City Royals. "I'm just too tired of moving around.

The Minnesota Twins defeated the Oakland Athletics, 8-4, the Cleveland Indians nipped the Baltimore Orioles, 2-1, the Milwaukee Brewers beat the Detroit Tigers, 3-0, and the Texas Rangers downed the California Angels, 5-2, in other American League games. New York at Boston was rained out.

Bruins Slam Blues; Rangers End Series

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

The New York Rangers have set the example and it now seems likely that Boston will follow their lead and set up an early start to the final round of the Stanley Cup playoffs.

New York completed the first four-game playoff sweep of its history by whipping the Chicago Black Hawks 6-2 Sunday night to gain the final round for the first time since 1950. Just a few hours earlier, in a nationally televised game, the Bruins routed St. Louis for the third consecutive time 7-2 to take a 3-0 lead in the other semifinal.

Boston can complete its sweep with another victory at St. Louis Tuesday night, and brash Johnny McKenzie, who contributed two goals Sunday, said, "We should be able now to wrap it up in four games."

Bobby Rousseau, playing in the 100th playoff game of his career, scored two goals and two assists to lead the Ranger attack. Rod Gilbert added a goal and two assists and Vic Hadfield had one goal and two assists.

"I got two perfect passes, first from Rod and then from Vic," said Rousseau. "All I had to do was put the puck in."

POLYSTEEL CUSTOM POWER CUSHION TIRE

Here's steel cord belt strength with polyester cord smoothness, in a great long-wearing tire.

Goodyear builds it with two belts of steel cord for long-lasting resistance to impact and penetration. (You wouldn't run over steel drill bits the way we did here — but the demonstration illustrates how tough the steel belts really are.)

Then Goodyear makes the long mileage easy to take, with a flexible polyester cord body to soak up the shocks.

The brute strength of steel. The road-softening smoothness of polyester. Both in this superb new tire.

Redwood Hosts Swim Title Go

The Giants have won 55 straight team matches in the league and 24 straight over-all.

34 Pro Grid Games Set For TV Coverage

NEW YORK (UPI) — A total of 34 nationally televised regular season games, including 15 doubleheader games, 13 Monday night games and four Saturday contests, highlight the National Football League's 53rd season, beginning Sept. 17.

The American Broadcasting Company (ABC) will handle the television chores for the Monday night games for the third straight season.

Some of the standout pairings on Monday nights will include Green Bay at Detroit on Oct. 16, Minnesota at Chicago on Oct. 23, Los Angeles at San Francisco on Dec. 4 and the New York Jets at Oakland on Dec. 11.

The Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS) will televise eight doubleheaders and the National Broadcasting Company (NBC) will telecast seven. Additionally, NBC will show the Cleveland-Cincinnati and Baltimore-Miami contests on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 9 and 16, respectively. CBS will beam the Washington-Dallas and Minnesota-San Francisco games on the same two Saturday afternoon dates.

A pair of Thanksgiving Day games — the New York Jets at Detroit (NBC) and San Francisco at Dallas (CBS) — will also be made available to home viewers.

The divisional playoffs are scheduled for Dec. 23-24, with the conference championships slated for Dec. 31. Super Bowl VII will be played Jan. 14 in Los Angeles. NBC will televise the AFC playoffs and championship game as well as the Super Bowl. CBS will handle the chores for the NFC playoffs and championship as well as the AFC-NFC Pro Bowl, slated for the weekend of Jan. 21.

The Central Division, under the rotation plan adopted before the 1970 season, has first priority for the conference championship game site in both conferences. In the AFC, the next order of priority is the Eastern Division, while in the NFC it is the Western Division.

Dallas, seeking to expand two winning streaks, and Miami, facing the same team with which it shared football's longest game, are involved in the featured opening day contests.

The defending Super Bowl champion cowboys, sporting a carry-over 10-game win streak from last season, play host to the Philadelphia Eagles, a National Football Conference Eastern Division for whom Dallas has defeated nine consecutive times.

The Dolphins, 24-3 losers to Dallas in Super Bow VI, will help open Kansas City's new 78,000-seat Arrowhead Stadium when they battle the Chiefs. Miami earned the right to meet Baltimore in the American Football Conference title game last season by first overcoming the Chiefs 27-24 on a field gaol by Garo Yepremian after 22 minutes, 40 seconds of sudden-death overtime.

Other opening day matchups have Atlanta at Chicago, New Orleans at Los Angeles, the New York Giants at Detroit, Cincinnati at New England and Houston at Denver. Also, the New York Jets at Buffalo, Oakland at Pittsburgh, Green Bay at Cleveland, St. Louis at Baltimore and San Diego at San Francisco.

Washington is at Minnesota on Sept. 18 in the first of the Monday night classes.

Petaluma Track Men Take '5th' In Relays

Petaluma High School scored 17 points in the Large School Division of the Martinez Track and Field Relays Saturday and finished "about fifth out of 40 schools," according to Petaluma coach Doug Johnson.

The Trojans' best showing was in the high jump where Jeff Myers, Lee Lombardi, Ron Shields and Bill Hockerson combined to jump 23 feet, good for a second-place finish.

Petaluma took a pair of thirds with Jon Sisler, Jose Martinez, Stan Hockerson and Steve Bond running a 10:53 in the distance medley and Martinez, Bob Ramirez, John Schuster and Steve Ewing clocking a 2:42 in the sprint medley. The sprint medley team also combined to pick up a fourth in the mile relay with a 3:30.5.

The Trojans picked up two other fourth place finishes in the two-mile relay with Jim Judd, Jim Larsen, Bill Wetjen and Scott Bennett going 8:38.7 and the triple jump with John Zakariassen, Lombardi, Shields and Dale Banda in a 158-7 combined effort.

Petaluma's 480-high hurdles relay team of Zakariassen, Banda, Bob Vaz and Larry David took a fifth to complete the Trojans' scoring.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Royal Dutch Good Retirement Yield

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Having retired I am in need of additional income. Can you give me information on the future of A. H. Robins (NYSRE) and Royal Dutch Petroleum (NYSE)? — A.H.

A. Certainly. Since you require additional income, Royal Dutch Petroleum with its roughly 5.6 per cent yield is suited to your needs. Although the firm experienced some earnings difficulty in its final 1971 half, and while oils in general are depressed, the stock has basic long-term appeal for income investors and offers recovery growth potential.

Robins, on the other hand, is not an income stock but is suited primarily to investors interested in long-pull growth. The company derives a major portion of its sales from ethical drugs, cough and cold preparations being the most important segment. Robins' 14-year string of uninterrupted earnings gains should extend throughout 1972 and beyond sparked by acquisitions, expansion of foreign operations and continued growth in already-established U.S. lines. Hence, while an attractive long-term growth vehicle, shares do not meet your investment objectives —returning only about 0.7 per cent — and may be sold at these all-time high levels for purchase of First Mtge. Investors (NYSE) offering a generous 9 per cent plus yield.

Q. I sold Disney (NYSE) in December at a considerable profit. Do you think it is presently too high to rebuy? — J.H.

A. Earnings estimates for the year to end Sept. 30 range from $2.40 to $3 a share, placing the price/earnings multiple in a substantial 55x to 70x range. At that level I would delay purchase for periods of correction. Attendance at the Florida Walt Disney World complex has surpassed expectations. The two hotels and the camping facility have been solidly booked. Expansion of available space has already begun. Earnings from this park should add 35 cents to net for the full year, with a larger contribution anticipated next year.

The recent retirement of the 4¾ per cent convertible debenture will add five cents to earnings despite the increase in common. With other operations also contributing strongly, shares should continue their overall uptrend.

Stocks, Reacting To War News, Sharply Lower

NEW YORK (UPI) —Stocks moved sharply lower during the first two hours today in moderate trading, apparently in reaction to developments in the Vietnam war.

Declines outnumbered advances, 824 to 402, among 1,594 issues across the tape. Two-hour turnover amounted to more than 6,270,000 shares.

The decline, which actually began Friday, was motivated further by reports of Communist attacks 38 miles from Saigon in the Vietnam war, according to some analysts.

Friday's retreat was attributed in large part to the report mutual fund redemptions in March were at a record high.

EXPERIMENTAL SAFETY CAR

General Motors' experimental safety car is previewed by newsmen and photographers before its appearance at the International Automobile Show in the New York Coliseum. Built to the safety specifications of the U.S. Dept. of Transportation, the five passenger sedan is a totally new vehicle incorporating a pillarless windshield, a "message center" instead of an instrument panel and a computer controlled anti-suid braking system. GM has crash tested four of the experimental cars and plans to test four more before turning two over to the Department of Transportation.

Credit Rating Is Key To Teen-Ager Account

By JOSEPHINE RIPLEY
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

How does a teen-ager open a charge account? It is far from easy.

If, like the majority of teenagers, he never has had such an account, he has no credit reference, no credit rating. There is no record as to whether he pays his bills, or how he pays them.

This is essential information for the merchant, particularly in the case of a minor. He hesitates to extend credit to him because, under the law, any contract entered into with a minor is voidable.

In most states, a minor is anyone under the age of 21. Now, with 18-year-olds eligible to vote, some states are moving to make that the legal age of majority. Thirteen states have already done this, and legislation is pending in several others.

One credit reporting agency, the Associated Credit Bureaus, Inc., has prepared a slide tape called "The Credit Generation." Edward F. Garretson, general manager of the Credit Bureau, Inc., in Washington, D.C., has shown this slide presentation to more than 30 junior and senior high school classes in the Washington area during the past year.

This is the gist of his advice on how to open your first credit account:

When you open that first account, apply for it when you don't really need it — that is, when you have the cash to pay for the item, not when you are hard up.

That first purchase should not be a large one, nor a frivolous one. It should be something you really need, such as new tires, an electric shaver, or a dress.

Make it clear when you apply for credit that you have the cash to pay for the item, but that you would like to open an account so you can use it in the future, when necessary.

Suppose the item costs $40. When credit is granted you pay $10 down and agree to pay the rest in monthly installments at the same rate. These installments will be due on a certain date — say the 10th of the month. That does not mean the 12th, the 20th, or the 30th. It means the 10th, Garretson says.

But since you are a newcomer in the credit world, why not pay it even before that date? Remember, you are establishing a credit record.

DOESN'T BELIEVE IN SIGNS

Photographer Ty Barber caught this deer tip-toeing delicately across the soft green turf of the Tamalpais High School athletic field. Why the deer strayed from the protective brush and better grazing in nearby hills onto the open, exposed field, no one knew. But, obviously, the creature figured it was immune from any of the bans emblazoned on the sign.

Apollo 16 Heading Home

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Apollo 16's lunar explorers returned to their orbiting mother ship today with a record 245-pound surprise package of rocks. A leading scientist predicted it will be the most important cache yet brought back from the moon.

John W. Young and Charles M. Duke left on the moon a 18.4 mile web of car tracks and footprints as testimony to man's only planned expedition to the rocky central highlands.

The two moonwalkers and command module pilot Thomas K. Mattingly were adding more moon photography today to their scientific harvest, and they were to deploy a small satellite before blasting out of lunar orbit at 9:16 p.m. EST and heading back home.

They are due to splash down in the Pacific Ocean Thursday, a day early and 50 pounds overweight. Their heavy load of moon samples will be rushed to the Lunar Receiving Laboratory at the Space Center Saturday for preliminary analysis by impatient scientists.

Scientists were elated over the results of the three days Young and Duke spent exploring a hummocky valley between Stone Mountain to the south and North Ray Crater on the flank of the smokies to the north. Their investigations may force major revisions in the chronicle of the moon's early history.

"I think these findings will be the single most important set of elements in understanding the history of the moon," said Dr. Harold Masursky, an Apollo geologist from the U.S. Geological Survey.

Of the five-hour moon exploration Sunday, flight director M. Pete Frank said: "It was really the crowning achievement for the Apollo 16 crew. I just don't know what could have been done better, or done more."

Young and Duke rocketed off Descartes Base in full view of a television camera and rejoined Mattingly in the command ship Casper at 10:35 p.m. Sunday. The camera that showed the launch still is operating and engineers hope it will last until the sun sets over Descartes.

Once docked to Casper, Young and Duke transferred 111 moon rocks and soil samples and 1,745 frames of film from Orion to Casper's storage lockers. The samples were coated with dust and at one point, Duke said:

"Looks like a dust storm in this cockpit."

The two astronauts finally glided through the manhole-sized tunnel linking the two docked craft about 2 a.m. today and retired for most of the morning.

"As the sun sinks slowly in the west, we bid a fond farewell to old MCC (Mission Control Center)," Young said after controllers bade them good night.

Young and Duke went to the moon looking for pieces of fossil lava flows that geologists thought had formed much of the highlands. Instead they found black and white breccia —complex rocks made up of smaller rock fragments welded together by billions of years of meteoroid bombardment.

In roaming the heavily cratered, boulder-littered surface, Young and Duke produced four moon exploration records.

Their 71-hour, 2-minute stay on the surface was four hours longer than the mark set by Apollo 15 last summer, and they also spent more time out of their spacecraft —20 hours and 15 minutes —than did their predecessors. They drove farther than Apollo 15, and Apollo 16's haul of lunar samples is 75 pounds heavier, than Apollo 15's, and 50 pounds more than originally planned for this mission.

The greatest success of Young and Duke came Sunday when they drove their moon buggy up the slopes of the largest crater man has ever visited on the moon. They sampled rocks as big as houses; found soil in a "gopher hole" that had been shielded from the sun for millions of years; and measured the strongest magnet yet found on the moon.

While Young and Duke were investigating the surface, Mattingly was mapping the moon from Casper in orbit and scientists said the results of the ship's radiation sensors were excellent.

Before his colleagues left the moon, Mattingly changed his orbit without difficulty. It was such an orbital change that led to the harrowing drama Thursday that nearly scrubbed the landing.

High Court Switch On Miranda Decision Hearing

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Without explanation, the Supreme Court changed its mind today and decided against reconsidering the controversial 1966 Miranda confession ruling.

The action reversed a Court order on March 20 that it would hear arguments in a Philadelphia case which might have resulted in modification at least of the Miranda decision that confessions may not be used against a suspect who has not been advised of his right to remain silent.

The appeal involving the Miranda rule had been brought by Philadelphia authorities from a state supreme court finding in favor of Paul D. Ware who was accused of four robbery-murders.

In today's reversal, the Court merely denied a request for a hearing and said the state court decision in Ware's case "rests upon an adequate state ground."

It had been widely believed that when the Court decided last month to hear the Ware case, it meant that four justices appointed by President Nixon could join with opponents of the original 5-4 Miranda ruling and perhaps overturn it.

The Miranda ruling was one of the most controversial of the Court under former Chief Justice Earl Warren. It was blamed by "law and order" advocates for handcuffing the police and allowing criminals to go free.

Only two justices who voted for the landmark 1966 decision, William J. Brennan Jr. and William O. Douglas, are still on the Court.

Philadelphia District Attorney Arlen Specter had asked the Court to review state court rulings that quashed Ware's confession to four murders. Specter contended in part that the 1968 crime control act setting new standards for confessions should apply.

The state court ruled out the use of Ware's confessions on grounds he had not been advised of his right to a lawyer and to remain silent as required under Miranda.

Ware confessed to the murders in 1963 but trial was delayed until 1970 when authorities found him mentally competent to stand trial. Meanwhile, the Supreme Court had made its confessions ruling applicable to all cases tried after the Miranda decision.

Specter urged the Court to reconsider Miranda, calling it an "unjust rule that has existed for too long in this nation." He said it was never meant to apply to confessions made so long ago.

President Nixon's two most recent court appointees — Justices Lewis F. Powell Jr. and William H. Rehnquist —are both on record as criticizing the Miranda decision. Justices Potter Stewart and Byron R. White dissented in the original finding. Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Nixon-appointee Harry A. Blackmun have indicated in other opinions that they would not extend Miranda.

Justice Thurgood Marshall was the only other considered likely to join Brennan and Douglas in favor of Miranda.

Whether Marin's Maverick grand juror, Richard W. Beban, will be held in contempt for refusing to turn over documents about the Sausalito police probe leaked to the press won't be known until at least Friday.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court continued the contempt hearing from today so that transcripts can be obtained of the April 11 jury session at which Beban allegedly refused and the hearing at which the presiding judge issued the order to show cause.

Deputy Atty. General Timothy A. Riordan said the documents had not been prepared because he expected presiding Judge Henry J. Broderick to hold the contempt hearing.

Beban's attorney, Carl B. Shapiro, challenged the order to show cause, saying the subpoena was invalid and claiming Riordan had not established either that the papers sought were relevant to the investigation or that Beban had them and could produce them.

At issue is a preliminary report by a grand jury subcommittee studying the Sausalito police which appeared in newspapers before it had been adopted by the grand jury.

The report finally adopted was a stronger document because it recommended firing the police chief and his two top subordinates as well as noting what amounted to a quota system of arrests.

But an investigtion was undertaken and Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales turned it over to the attorney general's office saying he didn't want to conduct it because he is the jury's legal advisor.

Subpoenaed, Beban appeared before the grand jury April 11, but he refused to turn over the leaked report despite Riordan's warning he could be held in contempt.

Riordan, who was assigned to the investigation, said today that Beban's is the only one of the original 21 copies that has not been turned in.

However, he said he still doesn't have a suspect. Studying all the copies of the report, possibly for fingerprints, is only the first step in his investigation of the leak, he said.

Audit Withheld By Top EOC Personnel

Undistributed Due To 'Press Of Business'

By ERIK M. INGRAM

A long-awaited federal audit of the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council has been in the hands of some officials for days, unbeknownst to others.

The Independent-Journal learned today that the poverty agency received eight copies of the document Thursday but due to the "press of other business" neglected to inform the board of directors.

Most directors reached today said the first they saw of the confidential document was the article in Saturday's I-J.

As reported Saturday, a preliminary federal audit of the financially troubled agency disclosed that the agency and two former employees misused more than $100,000 last year.

Included in that figure was nearly $63,000 mistakenly sent to the agency and then used to cover operating deficits accumulated somehow during the past two years.

Also, the federal audit revealed that former executive director W. Robert Lomax Jr. and a top aide used nearly $12,000 of agency funds for personal expenses.

Lomax and his aide, Alfred Edmonds, have repaid the agency for the bulk of their private expenditures but more than $2,500 remains unpaid.

Asked about the document today, board chairman Barbara Eaton said the agency staff received eight copies last Thursday but hadn't got around to distributing them, although the board of directors had previously been promised copies as soon as they became available.

Mrs. Eaton said they hadn't been sent out because not enough copies were received.

She said the documents might have been reproduced but added staff members had been too busy with other business. "That (reproducing the documents) would have been fine if you have nothing else to do," she said.

Two other board members gave different versions today, however, charging that neither Mrs. Eaton nor Ben Young, acting executive director, had any intention of distributing the documents Friday to the full board.

Gerald J. Hood, who represents the Marin County Labor Council, said he was asked Friday by both Mrs. Eaton and Young if he would attend a "special meeting of selected directors" to review the document.

Hood said he declined the invitation to attend the clandestine meeting since the full board had been promised copies of the document and such a meeting would violate tha promise.

Mrs. Eaton acknowledged today that some thought had been given to a special meeting but said it was scrapped in favor of sending the document out as promissd.

She said, however, that the document still has not been distributed. "There was no deliberate attempt to keep anything from the board," she added.

Another member of the board, William J. Bielser of San Rafael, said today he also was informed of a "pre-audit committee" which would review and comment on the document before it was released to the full board.

"It sounded like a whitewash job to me, so I said no," Bielser said.

Bielser, like Hood and several others, has been an outspoken critic of the EOC during the past three months.

"The federal audit underscores the necessity to dissolve this agency and start over again," Bielser said.

Board secretary Adelaide P. Wilson of Fairfax, past vice chairman, said she knew the extent of the audit findings months ago. "There's a lot more to it" than appears in the audit, she said.

Mrs. Wilson explained that some items listed as misused may eventually be judged to be proper expenditures after negotiations are held with the federal Office of Economic Opportunihy in San Francisco.

North Vietnamese Strike Five Dak To Area Bases

SAIGON (UPI)—North Vietnamese forces led by tanks have knocked out five government bases in the Dak To region of the Central Highlands and sent the defenders retreating southward toward Kontum with thousands of refugees, front dispatches said today.

The developing threat to Kontum Province in the Central Highlands 280 miles north of Saigon came as Communist forces attacking at close range pinned down two South Vietnamese battalions only 38 miles north of Saigon in a new threat to the city. In Cambodia the Communists captured 10 more miles of Highway 1 leading to Saigon.

The air war over North Vietnam heated up and B52s joined fighter-bombers in strikes today against the port of Thanh Hoa, 82 miles south of Hanoi. Hanoi said the B52s bombed the port city "indiscriminately" and its surrounding regions.

One B52 was hit today by shrapnel from an exploding SAM missile but landed safely at Da Nang with no injury to the six crew members. One Navy F4 Phantom was lost Sunday but the two crew members were picked from the Tonkin Gulf. Hanoi claimed one B52 and two fighter-bombers shot down today and said shore batteries set fire to a U.S. warship shelling Thanh Hoa.

South Vietnamese sources said a full North Vietnamese division of 13,000 men led by 20 tanks was involved in the Kontum Province attacks and called it the start of the longawaited Communist offensive there. U.S. military advisers at the scene said about 3,000 North Vietnamese were believed involved and that nine or 11 of the tanks had been knocked out.

The principal base to fall today was Tan Canh, forward headquarters of the South Vietnamese 22nd Division, two miles northwest of Dak To. Front dispatches said communications were knocked out and the defenders fled. Other bases captured by the North Vietnamese Sunday and today were all nearby—Dak To II, a regimental base and artillery bases Dien Binh, Hotel and Zulu.

In today's fighting the Communists shot down a U.S. helicopter, killing the four crewmen, and field reports said six U.S. military advisers were "missing" in ground action.

Groundfire forced down a helicopter flying former Lt. Col. John Paul Vann, now a civilian adviser in the area, but he flew off in a Loach observation chopper. A third helicopter flipped over on its back when it became overloaded with South Vietnamese troops fleeing the area, UPI correspondent Matt Franjola reported.

Some of the defenders were reported falling back toward Kontum, 55 miles to the south. Kontum itself is heavily defended by airborne troops. The airport there was put briefly out of action today when it was hit by nine rounds of 122 mm fire.

Tiburon Vote Is Recounted

Vote recounting got under way at 9 a.m. today in Tiburon City Council chambers in an effort to clear up who won one seat on the council before councilmen are seated at tonight's meeting.

Counting was expected to finish by midafternoon, city officials said. The recount was requested by Councilman Anne L. Ellinwood, who according to county figures lost her council seat by two votes to attorney Allan N. Littman.

Tiburon residents performing the recount are Vivienne Winblad, Harry Matthews, Dorothy Levitan and Gertrude Schleiger.

Unidentified Teen-Ager Is Found Electrocuted

An unidentified youth was electrocuted yesterday when he touched a 60,000-volt electrical wire with a crowbar while climbing a 54-foot Pacific Gas and Electric Company transmission tower on Alto Hill.

Mill Valley police and Alto fireman, called at 4:42 p.m. found the teen-ager lying on the tower's base, his body aflame from the waist up.

They said the body was discovered by two girls riding horses in the area who saw the youth catch fire and drop to the ground after hanging briefly from the transmission line. A blackened, partially melted crowbar was found nearby, officers reported.

The youth, who suffered extensive burns on the shoulders, arms and left side of the face and several fractures from the fall, was apparently killed instantly, according to the Marin County coroner's office.

He was described as between 16 and 18 years old, 5 feet, 10 inches tall, 150 pounds, with brown eyes and hair and wearing boots, blue levis, a blue and gray striped shirt and a brown jacket.

Police today were trying to discover his identity from high school class notes found in a paperback book in his pocket.

Big Dip In Prices Soon — Grayson

NEW YORK (UPI)—Price Commission Chairman C. Jackson Grayson announced today there will soon be millions of dollars in price reductions, some of them resulting in refunds to persons who have bought items during the last few months.

The big firms involved will be making the reductions, he said, because their financial statements for the first quarter of this year, now being filed with the Price Commission, reveal they have exceeded the government's profit margin ceiling.

"...beginning late last week, the Price Commission inaugurated a series of major actions which will result in hundreds of millions of dollars of price reductions, which will roll back current prices of some of the country's largest companies to their base period levels," Grayson said.

"These reductions will result in actual refunds to known customers, or through reduced prices in the market place, when customers aren't identifiable," he added.

"In fact, in the news pages of your papers this week you will begin to read some stories of price reductions by major American companies, some of them considerable. Next week you will see more, and the week after, more. The reason is that for the first time the Price Commission has begun to receive first-quarter and annual reports of companies under orders to us.

"In such reports, a new kind of price violation, not hitherto discernible since we took office, will become clear for the first time—if it exists—a violation of the profit margin ceiling. We imposed such a ceiling on all companies under our jurisdiction."

Grayson, in remarks prepared for the Associated Press annual meeting, called the development "a major breakthrough, a major landmark in this country's war on inflation."

Profit margin refers to the percentage of dollar profit compared to dollar sales. When the Price Commission took over last November it told firms under its jurisdiction that price increases had to be justified by cost increases, less productivity gains.

"But we also put in a second line of defense—the one that is now beginning to take hold," Grayson said. "We said that no matter what the results of the first controls were, we would put an upper control over the total firm profit margin."

Of the reports in to date, Grayson said, there have been cases of willful violation; but about half who did not pass the profit margin check had justifiable reasons while the balance "have been asked to justify their overages, and those that can't are subject to price reductions, refunds and penalties".

Car Prices May Climb In August

DETROIT (UPI) — Donald Rumsfeld, director of the Cost of Living Council, indicated today that auto manufacturers should not increase prices of 1973 models.

But he conceded that there probably would be higher prices on the new models in August, although the Price Commission would not approve "large price increases."

Rumsfeld said auto manufacturers should follow the precedent of big steel producers and maintain current price levels.

"Even though the steel industry will have to absorb a wage increase in August, most of the major producers have followed the lead of Bethlehem Steel in announcing they will not pass the August wage increase along to the consumer in the form of higher steel prices," Rumsfeld said.

"This is a significant step in the effort to reduce inflation, a step which should be reflected in the prices of 1973 model cars," he said in a speech prepared for the Economic Club of Detroit.

Times, Kaiser To Be Honored

OAKLAND (UPI)—The California Water Pollution Control Association announced Sunday it was honoring the Kaiser Steel Corp. and the Los Angeles Times' publisher for contributions to the improvement of water quality.

Publisher Otis Chandler will receive an award for his contributions to environmental programs, association president Raymond Walsh said.

Kaiser's Fontana plant will get the association's industrial waste award for its treatment of waste and reuse of effluents in the manufacture of steel.

Sunkist Growers is to be given a special honorable mention certificate for a program of segregating, recycling and concentrating liquid wastes.

Awards will be made at South Lake Tahoe on May 4 during a joint conference of the California and Nevada waer controls associations.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Brandt Struggle

BONN (UPI) — Chancellor Willy Brandt fought today to prevent the erosion that already has whittled his parliamentary strength to the bare minimum necessary for approval of his controversial nonaggression pact with Moscow.

With the defection of 49-year-old farmer Wilhelm Helms Sunday, Brandt's ranks in parliament were reduced to 249 deputies. Opposition Christian Democrats numbered 247.

One more defection to the opposition would make it impossible for Brandt to win passage of his treaty with Moscow or approval of his 1972 budget, and probably force new federal elections.

Man Sandbags

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Gunmen openly manned sandbagged fortifications around Roman Catholic areas of Londonderry today in anticipation of a British army attempt to oust them from the strongholds.

In continuing violence Northern Ireland gunmen wounded a policeman, a civilian and a soldier in Londonderry, another soldier in Belfast and fought a 30-minute battle with militia forces troops along the Irish Republic border.

Letter To Nixon

PARIS (UPI) — The Communists have sent a letter to U.S. congressmen urging them to stop President Nixon's Vietnam policies, a spokesman said today.

The letter, signed by Viet Cong chief negotiator Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, accuses Nixon of wanting "to live again the same old tragedy" in Vietnam by renewing bombing raids over the north. Mrs. Binh called on senators and representatives to block the President.

The letter was due to arrive by mail today.

Famed War Mother Dies

WATERLOO, Iowa (UPI) — When a torpedo sunk the USS Juneau off the Solomon Islands in World War II, among the many victims were the five sons of Mrs. Thomas F. Sullivan.

Sullivan

The simultaneous loss of her five boys devastated the patriotic housewife but her fortitude won her the admiration of a nation at war.

She and her husband, who died several years ago, traveled across the country in government-sponsored "morale" tours after the tragedy. They also helped in the filming of a motion picture about their sons.

Mrs. Sullivan, who survived her sons by 30 years, died Saturday at a nursing home. Funeral services for the 77-year-old woman are scheduled tomorrow.

Convention Move

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Republican party leaders are expected to announce by midweek whether the GOP national convention in August will be moved here from San Diego.

The possible move has been the subject of hurried conferences and contradictory statements in Washington, California and Florida in the past week.

The Republicans began thinking about moving the convention from the planned San Diego site when convention hall construction there lagged behind schedule and a shortage of hotel rooms loomed.

The Los Angeles Times reported today it had learned that Peter Graham, operator of the privately owned San Diego Sports Arena, in recent weeks increased the GOP's rent of the hall from $49,000 to a package amounting to more than $500,000.

Team Leaves South

MEMPHIS (Tenn. (UPI) — The Chinese table tennis team ended a Southern visit today full of fried chicken, grits, chocolate chip cookies and hopes for more people-to-people exchanges with the United States.

The 28-member team spent two days in Memphis, playing no matches with their American counterparts — although their coach, Chang Hsieh-lin, gave the Americans some lessons.

"Our first objective is friendship," he said. "Competition is second."

Troop-Cut Plan

LONDON (UPI) — The Warsaw Pact is preparing a plan on East-West troop cuts in Europe, diplomatic sources said today.

The move is described as an initiative by the Communist bloc on the controversial issue first raised by the West's suggestion that both camps reduce their forces in Europe by an agreed scheme of "mutual, balanced troop reductions."

On present indications the Warsaw pact plans to launch the plan on the eve of the ministerial council meeting in the North Atlantic Treaty organisation NATO next month in Bonn to forestall any possible new allied move, the diplomatic sources said.

French Back Britain Common Mart Entry

PARIS (UPI)—The French government today announced what it said was nationwide support for admitting Britain and three other nations to the Common Market. A record 46 per cent of the electorate abstained or iast blank ballots.

Interior Minister Raymond Marcellin in the announcement after midnight, said that with 67.86 per cent of the valid votes in favor of entry of Britain, Ireland, Norway and Denmark and 32.14 per cent against, it was a clear majority for the government in Sunday's balloting.

The six original Common Market nations—France, Holland, Belgium, Italy, West Germany and Luxembourg— had already approved the entry of Britain, Norway, Denmark and Ireland.

Communist party leader Georges Marchais interpreted Sunday's vote differently. He said that less than 40 per cent of the voters were in favor.

The large no vote was "a great success" for the Communists who had campaigned vigorously against the Gaullist government of President Georges Pompidou, Marchais said.

Marcellin said that under French law, the votes cast were the deciding factor.

"The enlargement of the Common Market is thus adopted by a wide majority of the ballots cast," Marcellin said.

The final tally showed 15,247,649 ballots were cast.

The referendum was called by Pompidou to seek sweeping national support for his European policies and to enhance his bid to lead the enlarged 10-nation Common Market.

It was the first time since Pompidou was elected in June, 1969 that he had submitted an issue to the voters and the first national referendum since the voters overthrew the late President Charles de Gaulle in April, 1969. De Gaulle had said he would resign if the referendum went against him.

Both the Communists and the Socialists led by former presidential candidate Francois Mitterrand claimed credit for the blow to Pompidou's prestige. The Communists campaigned for a no vote in line with Moscow opposition to the Common Market as a threat to the Eastern European Bloc.

The Socialists support a widened European market but they called for voters to abstain from Sunday's referendum on the grounds it was an attempt by Pompidou to rally his Gaullist supporters as a dry-run for parliamentary elections.

83,000 new households here will need electricity this year–and the new power facilities to provide it.

The birth rate has been dropping and fewer people are moving to California, but nevertheless growing population is a fact of life.
We must provide power facilities to serve these families' homes and jobs, plus the new stores, street lights and other public facilities they require.

If our construction program is slowed down unduly or stopped, the growing demand for electricity would exceed supply, and brownouts or blackouts would be inevitable.

Some individuals and groups are trying to slow down or stop construction of electric plants and transmission lines. However, we must continue building. And nowadays it takes about 10 years to acquire a suitable site, obtain regulatory approvals, construct and get a new power plant "on the line."

Qualified, competent and responsible public agencies assure that in building new facilities we serve the best public interests, including environmental and ecological considerations.

To keep your electricity on tomorrow, we must build today. PG and E

Angela Davis Trial Juror Is Excused

SAN JOSE (UPI) —A juror in the Angela Davis trial was excused for health reasons today, under strict instructions not to make any statements about the case.

Judge Richard E. Arnason said he excused Mrs. Mary Borelli, 45, a housewife after receiving a letter from her doctor.

Arnason told her not to give "interviews, comments or statements" about Miss Davis' murder-kidnap trial. "If you want to talk about your medical problems, you can do that," he said. "But don't talk about the trial."

Mrs. Borelli was replaced by alternate Robert Seidel, an elderly retiree.

The state continued its presentation of Miss Davis' letters and an 18-page "diary" today with the testimony of Sherwood Morrill, a state handwriting expert.

The state contends that the letters, written by Miss Davis to slain "Soledad Brother" George Jackson, explain her motive for allegedly entering into a plot to help him escape from prison. The escape attempt ended in death for four persons.

The 28-year-old Communist is accused of helping plot and furnishing the guns used in the escape attempt engineered by Jonathan Jackson, 17, George's younger brother. The state contends the purpose of kidnaping a judge, prosecutor and three jurors was to force officials to free the "Soledad Brothers."

The escape attempt at the Marin County courthouse Aug. 7, 1970, ended in failure and with the deaths of the judge, two other convicts and Jonathan Jackson. George Jackson was killed last Aug. 21 in what authorities said was an escape attempt from San Quentin Prison.

The driver, Dennis Ray Clute, 18, of 450 Ridge Road, suffered chin cuts and a passenger, Dennis B. Anderson, 18, of 220 Denlyn Street, suffered a fractured nose and nose cuts. Clute was treated at Novato General Hospital and Anderson was reported in satisfactory condition there today.

Officers said the car broke a fence and damaged three trees on the property of Dorothy Berry at 1515 Indian Valley Road at 12:15 a.m. yesterday.

Barry Van Couwenberghe, 22, of 115 Oak Avenue, was treated at Marin General Hospital.

San Anselmo police said the driver of the car, which missed a turn on Sunny Hills Drive, was Roger Van Couwenberghe, 24, of Smith Ranch Road, San Rafael. He was cited for driving at an excessive rate of speed, police said.

Crash Injury

Lynn Satheilacker, 22, of 9 Locust Avenue, Larkspur, has been treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut right knee received in an auto accident. Larkspur police have no details on the accident, which occurred Saturday morning.

Hollis Says He'll Seek Re-Election

Marin County Superintendent of Schools Virgil S. Hollis, faced with an early challenge from former Novato Mayor Joseph D. Gargiulo, has announced he will seek reelection in 1974.

Hollis said today he wants "to make sure people would know I would be a candidate." There were rumors that he was going to seek a higher office or accept another job offer, he said.

Hollis has been county superintendent for 14 years and has been unopposed in the past three elections.

He said he wants to remain at the job because "of so many excellent programs that need further attention," and because "I just don't want to leave Marin County."

Gargiulo, principal of Novato Evening Adult School, announced early this year that he would run for the job and didn't seek reelection to the City Council.

Sausalito Fire Destroys Yacht

Flames feeding on a newly-fueled 26-foot yacht in Sausalito's clipper yacht harbor were visible to many San Francisco and Richardson Bay residents last night until firemen quenched them —leaving only a charred hulk still floating.

The boat, which yacht harbor officials say was unnamed, belonged to Richard D. Ensslin of San Francisco and was occuped by Richard K. Powers who, firemen said, was uninjured.

They said the boat had just filled its fuel tanks yesterday afternoon and the blaze broke out about 9:50 p.m. last night. Damage was estimated at $5,-500. Cause of the fire is still under investigation.

Sausalito Shop, Apartment Burn

A Sausalito boatbuilding shop and overhead apartment owned and occupied by William Duffin were destroyed by fire during the weekend, and firemen are still checking the cause of the blaze.

About 16 men from the Sausalito Fire Department and one from the Marin County Fire Department battled the blaze, at 245 Gate Five Road. Flames had engulfed the building by the time firemen had arrived. Firemen said the fire may have started from an electrical short-circuit.

Damage to the property was estimated at $5,000. Firemen declined to estimate loss to the contents.

Two Arrested In Burglary

Two men were arrested Saturday in Corte Madera Shopping Center on suspicion of burglary at the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge maintenance office.

According to Richmond police, Robert James Williams III, 24, of Berkeley, and George Tyrie Vickers, 27, of San Francisco, are suspected of taking walkie-talkie sets from the bridge office Saturday at about 1:30 p.m.

The pair was spotted by bridge employees, followed to the Corte Madera Center and arrested in the Ward's store by Larkspur and Corte Madera police.

They were booked into Richmond city jail and held for arraignment tomorrow.

Environmental Session Tonight

The Novato City Council will have a joint meeting with the city environmental quality committee at 8 p.m. today at the community house.

Committee members have proposed a new, more powerful environmental quality committee that would advise the council and other city agencies on all action that would have a significant impact on the environment.

Committee members also have proposed starting a city health department.

Hiker Finds Body In Creek Bed

Marin authorities today were seeking the identity of a young woman found dumped in a ceek bed near Stinson Beach Saturday.

The coroner's office said death did not appear to be normal because of the body's location. However, there was no sign of violence to the woman found by a hiker in bushes about 50 feet from Highway 1.

Asst. Coroner Eugene R. Fontaine said the body was apparently dumped in the creek bed three miles south of Stinson Beach Friday night.

The woman was described as black, five feet, seven inches tall, weighing 120 pounds, wearing her hair in a semi-afro, and was dressed in black bellbottom pants and a floral print blouse of black and white.

Innocent Pleas To Drug Counts

Jerry Ray Wade, 22, of Santa Venetia, and Patricia Ann Fusilier, 20, of Marin City, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to charges of possessing heroin and marijuana.

The two were arrested April 13 by narcotics agents who raided Wade's apartment after receiving a tip.

Agents said they found "numerous packages" of suspected heroin and televisions and stereo equipment believed taken in burglaries and traded for heroin.

A preliminary hearing date for the pair was to be set today.

AEC Grants Hearing On Atom-Plant Construction

BERKELEY (UPI) —The Atomic Energy Commission today granted a hearing to the Scenic Shoreline Preservation Conference on its request for a temporary halt to construction of a nuclear power plant now being built at Diablo Canyon near San Luis Obispo.

The conference, an environmental group based in Santa Barbara, had asked for the review of the AEC's decision to allow construction to go on while the government's environmental study under the National Environmental Policy Act is completed.

Pacific Gas & Electric Company is now building the plant, which is due for completion in two years. The facility was under construction before the Environmental Policy Act law was passed, but nevertheless a broadened study of the plant's impact is required under the law.

That study will not be completed for another eight to 10 months, an AEC spokesman said.

Last December the AEC decided to halt construction of some related facilities temporarily, pending the environmental study's completion, but not to interrupt construction of the plant itself. It is this decision which will be reviewed at the hearing.

The AEC said the hearing will be held and a decision reached by the Atomic Safety Licensing Board by June 4. The place and time of the hearing has not yet been set. Participants will include the AEC, the Scenic Shoreline Preservation Conference, and PG&E.

Pedestrian Hit

Dale Austin, 33, of 90 Barbaree Way, Tiburon, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital with broken ribs and a mild concussion suffered last night when struck by a car, according to hospital officials. No details of the accident were available today.

Police Say Larkspur Man Resisted Arrest

A 43-year old Larkspur man has been arrested on suspicion of being drunk near an auto and resisting arrest.

Charles Lafayette Swearingin of 2000 Redwood Highway was booked into Marin County jail and released on $500 bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court Thursday.

At about 4 p.m. Saturday, according to Larkspur police, two officer noticed a car, driven by Swearingin's wife, Maudie Chlo Swearingin, weaving southbound on Magnolia Avenue. After it nearly sideswiped a parked car, they said, they stopped the vehicle, in the parking lot of the Lark Creek Inn.

While the officers were giving Mrs. Swearingin the field sobriety test (which she passed) Swearingin got out ot the car and began interfering, according to police reports. He was arrested, then kicked and bit the two officers, who reported one suffered a torn shirt, torn tie and lost tie tac, the other a torn and bloodied shirt.

Mrs. Swearingin was cited for driving without her license and released.

$500,000 Offer To Demos Claim

ENGLISH, Ind. (UPI)—International Telephone & Telegraph offered $500,000 to the Democratic National Convention but withdrew the offer after a similar offer to the Republican National Convention stirred controversy, according to Murray M. Chotiner, a former campaign manager and adviser to President Nixon.

Chotiner, speaking at a Republican dinner during the weekend, said the continued silence of Democratic National Chairman Lawrence O'Brien in the face of the ITT controversy serves to back up his contention that the Democrats also were offered ITT money.

Chotiner said O'Brien would have been quick to criticize Republicans on the ITT affair if the Democrats had not received a similar offer.

Use, Don't Destroy The Universities — Marcuse

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Marxist philosopher Herbert Marcuse surprised a student audience Sunday by declaring, "I completely reject the argument that universities should be destroyed because they are pillars of the establishment."

The 72-year-old professor, mentor of black militant Angela Davis, told a University of San Francisco audience that "You can still learn what you need to learn in the universities. One doesn't cut off the branch on which one is sitting."

Furthermore, the German-born scholar told 1,500 persons, "Terror is effective only when exercised by the group in power. Hitler showed that."

Marcuse, who teaches philosophy at the University of California at San Diego, said he believed that youthful response in this country to the social, political and economic "evils of their society" has taken negative forms.

He said there was "widespread defeatism, escapism and in some cases, a return to the lap of the establishment," "a flight to personal, private liberation" and a movement "toward individual or small group therapy."

"The radical change in public opinion about the war in Vietnam is 90 per cent due to the student movement," Marcuse said. He said defeatism, "if not stopped, would be an insult to the students who were killed at Kent State University."

Marcuse criticized recent cutbacks in educational funding.

"Reduction of educational budgets is a highly political act, not just the result of financial necessity," he said.

He said the basic ills in America were due to chronic overproduction, inflation, suppression of minorities and a deep seated "instinctual aggressiveness."

"The competitive economic growth of this country consists of ever greater pollution and violation of nature," Marcuse said.

A Surprise For Rowers Of Pacific

BRISBANE, Australia (UPI) —Transpacific rowers John Fairfax and Sylvia Cook flew back to Hayman Island today to a surprise party.

More than 300 guests and the 200 staff members at the island's luxury tourist hotel arranged the party for the British rowers.

The hotel's management said it was to officially celebrate the couple's dramatic arrival there last Saturday.

A spokesman for the island management said an offer was being made for Fairfax's boat, Britannia II, in which they made the 8,000-mile crossing and make it a tourist attraction for the island, 16 miles off the Australian east coast.

Fairfax and Miss Cook return to Brisbane in a chartered light aircraft tonight before leaving for London Tuesday.

On Sunday a Brisbane department store opened especially for the rowers to enable them to choose some fresh clothes for free.

Miss Cook said, "It's like a dream. The first thing I got was some nice pretty underwear and something to fix my hair and make it soft again.

"Fashions have changed but not so much as they would have done if I had disappeared for a year five years ago. Now you seem to be able to wear anything and it's still in fashion."

Open Spaces On Fairfax Agenda

The Fairfax Planning Commission will consider open spaces on the ridges when it meets at 8 p.m., Thursday in the Fairfax Women's Clubhouse.

The Town of Corte Madera passed a resolution to preserve the ridge tops as open space and has asked neighboring cities to help it in this program.

The commission will consider approval of the master plan by Gentry Development Co. for 68 acres adjacent to a two-acre development which the company has on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

The commission will also consider the application of Dr. Howard Burns for a lot split on Lot 12, Bolinas Road one for Robert S. Cary on Bolinas Road, and an application by Miller Unanawath for a Palm Reading Activity at 17 Bolinas Road.

Father's Day Prize

HONOLULU (UPI) — Zero Population Growth announced Sunday that the grand prize of its Father's Day drawing will be a free vasectomy. The group said it will start the contest at signup booths in shopping centers and supermarkets on Mother's Day.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Who Got How Much From Those Taxes

This is the season for anguished wails from taxpayers.

April is the Month of Terrible Tortures. State, federal and local governments combine in an all-out attack on the pocketbook. And as the payment deadlines pass, leaving the poor taxpayer broke, bereft and in debt. the cries go up: "What happened?" "Where did it go?" And — more to the point: "What did I get for it?"

Leaving aside for the moment the federal and state income taxes, which help pay for such a variety of things as bombs dropped on North Vietnam, a deficit in the postal service, Medi-Cal, and high salaries and per diems for legislators, let's look at the property tax. This one is far smaller than the federal income tax for most of us, but it hurts worse because it is taken in two big bites — one in November and the other in April.

THE TOTAL property tax levy in Marin County for the current fiscal year was, according to the county budget document, $80,640,524. That was an increase of $12,017,369, or about 17.5 per cent, over the previous year's total take of $68,623,155.

Who got it?

The cities got 7.8 per cent of it (down from 8.3 per cent the previous year). Special districts got 8.8 per cent (up from 8.4). Schools got 59 per cent (down from 60.7). The county itself got 24.4 per cent (up from 22.6).

Those percentages are a little deceiving, though. In dollars, cities, special districts, schools and county all got more than the year before — because the pie they were cutting up was a bigger pie (they made it bigger).

The cities got $6,290,642 from this year's property tax levy, up 10.6 per cent over 1970-71. Special districts got $7,059,340, up a whopping 20.6 per cent. Schools got $47,626,224, up 14.2 per cent. And the county (hold your hat!) got $19,664,318, up 26.1 per cent, or more than a fourth.

WHAT DID WE get for it?

For the most part — whether the city, special district, school district or county — we got just about what we did last year. But we paid a higher price — and a price that went up more than the inflation in the whole economy.

The county budget shows a breakdown of where the county spends its money. This shows that cost of welfare, medical and health services went up about $4 million over the previous year. Public protection (courts, the sheriff's department, etc.) went up about $2 million. Capital improvements increased about $600,000. Expenditures on roads and engineering jumped a half million. The "all other" category showed little change.

SO THAT'S WHERE the money went. If you're on welfare, you maybe got more, but anyhow more of what you got came out of the property tax. Combining medical, health and mental health into one department further escalated those costs, though relatively few of us taxpayers realized any additional benefit therefrom. Maybe you got a new road somewhere out of that half-million increase in road costs — maybe none that you ever use. The cost of added security at the Civic Center helped account for the big jump in the public protection budget.

Were any of them worth it? Ask any taxpayer right now and the answer you're likely to get is "no."

Sierra Club Opposes Bill Urged By Conservationists

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

The Sierra Club is headquartered in the Mills Tower in San Francisco, but we wonder if it isn't in an ivory tower when it opposes legislation urgently needed by the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

The legislation is designed to solve the problem of county supervisors on the commission who also serve on so many other bodies they often miss commission meetings. The measure, pending in Sacramento, would allow a supervisor to appoint a citizen to be his alternate on the commission, subject to approval by his fellow supervisors.

This would be the same system the commission used in its first four years. The very success of this provision is what killed it in 1969. The supervisors' alternatives proved to be among the toughest conservationists on the commission, much to the displeasure of developers.

IT WAS IN 1969 that former state Sen. John F. McCarthy of Belvedere had the provision amended out of the law. McCarthy hardly had a reputation as a conservationist, so it seems peculiar to find the Sierra Club siding with him now on this issue.

The club's expert on the commission, attorney Dwight Steele of Tiburon, nevertheless insists that the new legislation is "a step in the wrong direction." He argues that all regulatory bodies should have more, not fewer, elected officials.

This sounds fine in theory, but years of practice show that at least in the case of BCDC it worked better when it had alternates for supervisors. Attendance was better, affording applicants fairer hearings and distributing influence on the commission evenly among its public, federal, state and county representatives.

In Marin's case, the supervisors were represented in those years by Dr. William F. Upton of San Rafael, consistently a strong voice for conservation. One immediate effect of McCarthy's amendment was to kick Upton off the commission, although Upton later returned to it as a representative from the Regional Water Quality Control Board.

IT WAS McCARTHY'S successor, Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, who this year introduced the legislation (SB 181) restoring the alternate system at the request of the commission. The bill, however, is hung up in the Senate Local Government Committee, thanks both to the Sierra Club and the chairman of the committee, Sen. Milton Mark, R-San Francisco.

Marks may be playing peevish politics with the bill because it was introduced by Behr. The two may face one another for re-election in 1974.

If the Sierra Club gets out of its tower, joining the Save San Francisco Bay Association in supporting the bill, Marks probably will give in. He is not likely to carry the burden of being the only Bay Area senator on the committee to oppose the bill — once the Sierra Club deprives him of an excuse.

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

There was one who thought himself above me, and he was above me until he had that thought. — Elbert Hubbard.

Improvement in the living standards of the workers must, in the main, come from increased productivity. — Sidney Hillman.

The test of our progress is not whether we add more to the abundance of those who have too much; it is whether we provide enough for those who have too little. — Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Unquestionably, there is progress. The average American now pays out twice as much in taxes as he formerly got in wages. — Henry L. Mencken.

Is it possible we can't fight our way out of a paper bag?

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Story, Picture Stripped Human Of Dignity

I am writing regarding the picture and articles you printed of Don Oliver, the night after he died.

It seems to me, now that he is dead, Mr. Oliver's conflicts with the law are over. To publish facts about his life which should have remained private, and to show that picture of him lying dead stripped him of the respect due to him as a human being and was unfair to his wife and family.

It is as if the consensus of opinion was that Don Oliver was a bad man who deserved to die — no matter how. One fact never reported in the I-J was why the car Mr. Oliver was a passenger in was stopped in the first place.

Whatever Don Oliver did, in death every man deserved to be treated with dignity. There are people who loved him, you know.

Navy Man Speaks For Young Police

As a San Rafael resident on active duty in the Navy, it is a treat to see articles from the Independent-Journal. Spurring this letter is your 31 March headline story concerning San Rafael Police Officer Dick Michaelsen's comments about Sausalito Police Department's administration.

I have known Dick since we attended police science classes at College of Marin and we were police cadets at San Rafael prior to his employment at Sausalito. Dick has always been a conscientious person in his dealings with the public, and I never once saw or heard of him using his authority in an overbearing manner, even when he was the victim of verbal or physical abuse.

I plan to return to San Rafael Police Department after my discharge from the Navy, and I look forward to working with Dick and the other officers of the department. The people of San Rafael should be proud that they have officers of his caliber, facing the innumerable obstacles in law enforcement today.

To Dick, I say best wishes and keep your chin up. To the people of Marin County, I say listen to the young officers while they are still idealistic, for they are the determining factor in tomorrow's law enforcement world.

Reservoir Storage Figure In Error

Yesterday's (Apr. 18) editorial postulated certain "facts" about the water supply situation in our county. It is hard to determine how you arrived at the figure of 70,000 acre feet as the capacity of our reservoirs. Every publication, including the 1971 annual report and all recent reports related to water supply, have stated consistently that we have a total capacity of 52,700 acre feet. You were correct in setting our current annual water use at 32,600 acre feet but our safe yield (which again has been clearly stated) is 30,000 acre feet not 34,000 acre feet. A careful analysis of these figures would lead to the conclusion that the Marin Municipal Water District and its constituents must carefully determine their water supply needs for the future. . .

(The editorial erred in the 70,000-acre foot storage figure. The 34,000-acre foot "annual safe yield" was a figure provided by William R. Seeger, general manager of MMWD, and published in the I-J last October. The "19 Point Study Program" prepared by the MMWD staff shows this figure at 30,000 acre feet. The annual use figure of 32,600 acre feet also was provided by Seeger. The "19 Point Study Program" shows 32,200 acre feet. — Edtor.)

The Time Has Come To Vote Rascals Out

I see by the newspapers that Mr. Moretti is getting ready to serve the people of California some "1968 hash". Translated, it means a warmed over version of proposition 1-A. He's planning to give us a property tax reduction — isn't that nice of him? The last time this happened, we lost the entire benefit in the second year after the proposition passed.

No tax reform should be accepted by the people unless it contains a limit or ceiling which can be put on property taxes. (We still have a good possibility of the Jarvis Amendment and the Watson Amendment being on our next ballot. These two amendments definitely put a lid on the amount which your property can be taxed.)

These so-called leaders in Sacramento have had more than ample time to come up with a decent tax package — they've been promsiing it for about 12 years now.

There is a growing move afoot to eliminate the "incumbents" in the upcoming election simply by voting against anybody with that stigma behind his name. At first, you may think this is childish or stupid, but think about it for a minute. A whole batch of new blood in our elected officials can't be any worse than what we now have. The only thing they have done for us is to increase the cost of government by creating new bureaus and agencies and then fund them with our taxes. They have increased their own benefits and pensions and expense accounts beyond anything we would dare dream for ourselves. So, let's vote the rascals out and start fresh. The first qualification would be impeccable honesty and candor in a candidate and one who would spend our tax dollars as carefully as he would spend his own money. These men and women would replace the spenders who are now in Sacramento.

ALMANAC

Today is Monday, April 24, the 115th day of 1972.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase.

The morning stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Taurus.

American artist Tony Sarg was born April 24, 1882.

On this day in history:

In 1704 the Boston News Letter became the first American newspaper to be published on a regular basis.

In 1877 northern military rule of the South following the Civil War ended. President Rutherford B. Hayes ordered federal troops out of New Orleans.

In 1898 Spain declared war on the United States after receiving an American ultimatum to withdraw from Cuba.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Goal Of Hanoi's Offensive Is Control Of All Indochina

The Vietnamese offensive has a far bigger objective than the Tet offensive four years ago.

The goal of the 1968 Tet campaign was to conquer South Vietnam. It failed.

The goal this time is to take over all of Indochina.

This is the judgment of the most experienced Vietnam observers in Saigon and in Washington.

Hanoi is mounting more men, more weapons, more firepower than ever. It is committing nearly all of its regular army and it is leaving its own country exposed.

It is a winner-take-all gamble.

NIXON-TRUDEAU SUMMIT EMPTY. It produced good words and a show of good intention, but little else. U.S.-Canadian economic policies are in conflict and will improve only very slowly.

The Great Lakes cleanup agreement is also just another promise after 60 years of unkept promises.

The agreement contains nothing which each side hasn't already pledged to do — but hasn't.

Every one of the Great Lakes — Superior, Michigan, Huron, Erie and Ontario — is more polluted than it was five years ago.

THE WHOLE SAVE-THE-ENVIRONMENT CRUSADE is slowing down. Two years ago nearly everybody was saying that whatever is needed must be done.

Now a big ecological backlash is setting in. It isn't just industry which is worried about high costs. Organized labor is worried about jobs if antipollution standards shut down plants. The poor tend to view the ecology movement as a middle-class plaything which has little in it for them.

Nixon himself is leading the slowdown. "We are not going to allow the environmental issue," he warns, "to destroy the industrial system that made this the great country it is."

The task is to find a practical middle course between the doomsayers and the tandem of "too little and too late."

MORE ENERGY FROM THE SUN. Scientists see technology being perfected in the next few years so that solar energy can be used to heat and cool buildings, refrigerate food, and provide electricity for specialized low-power needs.

Solar energy will be a special benefit to the developing nations because most of them are in or near the tropics where sunshine is plentiful and conventional fuels scarce.

SECRETARY OF STATE ROGERS ON THE RISE. The importance of his role and his influence within the administration is increasing. This is newly visible at two key points:

1—He is proving himself a most credible, influential and effective administration advocate before hostile congressional committees. He is the only figure in the administration who maintains civil, nearly cordial relations with Sen. William Fulbright, D-Ark.

2—Secretary Rogers, not Henry Kissinger, is the focal point in preparations for the Moscow summit. State is assembling all the necesssary briefing papers. Rogers is the liaison with Russian Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin and Rogers will brief the European allies after the May 22 Moscow trip.

FEDERAL REVENUE SHARING IS COMING. It will be enacted this year. The turnabout of many Democrats is making it possible.

The decisive switch from active opponent to active advocate is Rep. Wilbur Mills, powerful chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee. Perhaps he sensed the wide public support for it when he began to campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Mills engineered two significant changes in the Nixon plan:

Most of the revenue-sharing money will go to the crises-laden cities instead of state governments.

The federal government will collect state income taxes at the same time it collects federal taxes.

ERNEST B. FURGURSON

Speaker Sets Up Straw Men To Make Villains Of Press

WASHINGTON — The Hon. Kevin T. Maroney, deputy assistant attorney general, Internal Security Division, U.S. Department of Justice, is rather dark of visage but handsome, suitable for casting as the heavy sheriff in a modern turnabout western. That is the way he came on at the American Society of Newspaper Editors here the other day. He did not wear a star and six-gun. He brought a speech, and used it like a can of Mace.

He was the leadoff speaker and catalyst in a seminar about "press rights vs. press responsibilities," a subject that has been a cliche since the drafting of the First Amendment. The very recitation of the title induces mild drowsiness even among the newspapermen who are vitally involved in it.

THE GENERAL PUBLIC, given the opportunity to watch such an argument on television, would likely prefer to switch instead to the educational channel, to follow a symposium on hybrid Melanesian geraniums. Let the editors and the government fight it out, the channel-flipper might understandably say, it has nothing to do with me.

That is where he is wrong, and why here, for neither the first nor last time, I am going to nudge him to wake up to that fact. The press' problems with government are the public's own problems.

True, the government tries to convince the public that the press seeks to print unpleasant facts about government merely to advance some mysterious financial or political aims of its own. That is what Mr. Agnew has been doing all these months, trying to create an alliance of brave, clean, trustworthy and reverent politicians and the public — against the terrible conspiracy of the press.

And that is what Kevin Maroney, speaking for the administration, was doing with different tactics when he appeared before the editors. His was the tactic of deterrence, reminding that under the law newspapers are liable to prosecution if they print classified information injurious to national security and if they knowingly use stolen documents.

He warned against "immediate disclosure" of classified information and the "indiscriminate dissemination" of sensitive but unclassified intragovernmental memoranda. The decision to gether and report such material "is necessarily made at the peril of the maker" he declared.

THING IS, there was not an editor in the hall who did not know all that before the deputy assistant attorney general was introduced. What the gentleman was doing was setting up a straw man, to knock it down with a show of bluster backed up by the well-known law.

He talked about "immediate disclosure," when in fact the only kind of immediate disclosure in the business these days is a presidential pronouncement made directly through the tube. To dredge up one example of a menace to national security, Maroney had to go 30 years back to the Battle of Midway, when three papers in the country ignorantly printed something about Japanese fleet movements that might have given away the fact that we had cracked their code. The enemy missed the hint, we won the battle, and Maroney offered no other instance from our long history.

The case most discussed was that of the celebrated Pentagon Papers. Rather than "immediate disclosure," it involved publication after weeks of debate, analysis and legal advice. And now, these months after the fact, a show of hands in the hall indicated that retrospectively about 80 per cent of the editors here would have made that same decision to publish.

As for "indiscriminate dissemination," I can certify that every beat reporter in Washington comes into possession of confidential verbal or written information at least every week, and a vast proportion of it is never disseminated at all.

STRAW MEN. Fortunately, in this case they were set up before an audience that knew the subject better than Maroney himself. Unfortunately, when he and Mr. Agnew and others throw around words like "immediate" and "indiscriminate" it is more often to nonprofessional groups, and they have had some fair success with lay audiences in their campaign to make the press out as lying villains. It is regrettable but remedial.

As a remedy, whenever the words censorship, secret, trust and responsibility are used in anger, the ordinary citizen should merely ask himself: Who has the motivation to cover up, to lie, to mislead — the press, or the politician scrambling to stay in office? The answer is a premanent truth.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

April 24, 1962

Charles Reilley resigned as Marin County fire chief, and the board of supervisors named his assistant, Louis J. Bloom, as his successor.

The Motor Coach Employees Union, AFL-CIO, set a midnight deadline for a strike against Greyhound bus lines in 11 western states.

20 YEARS AGO

April 24, 1952

Heeding protests from what a reporter described as "practically the entire population of Black Point," the Marin County Planning Commission rejected industrial rezoning to permit expansion of the Black Point Aggregate Co. plant.

A citizen committee headed by Mrs. Lee Gustafson was formed to resist "invasion of low-cost housing" into Novato.

Fable Of The Lexicographer Who Was Trashing The Language

"But 'glory' doesn't mean 'a nice knockdonw knockdownAlice objected.

"When I use a word," Humpty Dumpty said, in rather a scornful tone, "it meansQjust what I choose it to mean — neither more nor less."

— "Through the Looking-Glass"

They don't make lexicographers like Humpty Dumpty any more.

Once upon a time your dictionary editor was a tyrant who had his public crying uncle ("slang to concede defeat").

A lexicographer — and thundering bully — like Samuel Johnson would discharge a man from his drawing room, if not the human race, for mispronouncing Hottentot (Hot/n/tot).

Noah Webster, who combined the less gentle qualities of Jonathan Edwards and the Marine sergeant of the year (any year), used word definitions as bludtweapons to enforce his personal concepts of morality.

These were the ramrods of the English language. Laymen consulting their dictionaries felt as if a tentative — instantly retractable — license were being issued to them to speak the English language.

DICTIONARY EDITORS like everybody else, — have fallen upon permissive times. The theory now is "usage" — or even misusage. Language has become a matter of popular majority. If a lot of people say "disinterested" when they mean "uninterested," your obliging lexicographer will pronounce them synonyms. And there just ain't no way to keep "ain't" out of the dictionary. If a grammatical mistake is habitually repeated, so goes the code, it's really no mistake.

Old dictionary editors were verbocrats — men who laid down the absolute law and enforced it. Today's editors merely monitor the traffic. But even these meek usage-chasers have their brief moments of power. All year long the word watchers keep track of new terms entering the language. At year's end — heady moment! — they judge at least which words are used often enough to earn them a place in the dictionary.

G. AND C. MERRIAM Co. — the Webster people — have just announced their annual list of dictionary debutantes, beginning with "Afro-Saxon, n.: a Negro who accepts the values of a white society," and ending with "workfare, n, : a welfare program designed to encourage people to work."

Since usage is all, obviously the thing to do is to take as many of these new words as one can and use them in an illustrative story, "The Dictionary Editor Who Dropped Out":

WHEN FERDIE was a boy, he was a good-for-nothing creepy-bopper whose only interest was monster movies. He watched TV until he got cluttervision just from staring at all those commercials.

Ferdie's father said: "Mark my words, son. You'll grow up to be part of the brawn drain — or worse."

But his father's attitude proved to be just a bad case of kiddielash. When he was old enough to work, Ferdie went to the job bank. All that media-watching, it seems, had been ideal training for a dictionary editor, new-usages division.

Never had Logomania Dictionary, Inc., found a beginner with Ferdie's gift for transatlantese. After all, he had watched British as well as American horror movies.

Ferdie was fragging his way to the top, new verb by new verb, when a strange thing happened. He became an anti-natialist — an advocate of population control at least as far as new words were concerned.

About this time Ferdie began going with an outdoor girl — a real ecofreak — named Adele who told him it was as wrong to trash the language as the environment. After one ride in her snowmobile, Ferdie turned into a cold rodder himself.

As they sat by the campfire, lunching on a vegeburger — Adele was also a vegetarian — Ferdie suddenly saw his life in perspective: "I'm turning into a workaholic, Adele," he cried. "A few more years of gasbaggery — words, words, words — and I'll be grossed out.

"Let's split from this whole urbicidal rat-race. We can join the Sierra Club and imploit natural resources instead of exploit them. And in the summer we can trade in your snowmobile for a boat and live in a condomarinium. Marry me, Adele."

"Right on," said Adele.

And they lived happily ever after. Honest, no shucking.

Old Courthouse Site Sale Hearing Set

The Marin County Board of Supervisors, meeting tomorrow at 9 a.m. at the Civic Center, will hold a hearing on sale of the old courthouse site in San Rafael.

Sale price of the Fourth Street property had been set at $750,000, but negotiations with a Sacramento firm have settled at $650,000 in return for leaving 45 per cent of the land in open space.

Two weeks ago, when tomorrow's hearing was set, supervisors appeared receptive of the $650,000 figure offered by Mckeon Construction Co. and supported by the City of San Rafael.

McKeon has proposed building a six-to-eight-story office building with another three-story structure attached. A three-story parking building also is proposed.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors agenda also includes:

SEWAGE — Review of the countywide sewage master plan prepared by Brown and Caldwell. The report is expected to be referred to the planning commission for study along with the countywide general plan.

CAPITAL — Continued hearing on the proposed capital improvement program for the next six years. The program, drafted by County Administrator John F. Barrows, projects a $37.5 million expenditure on roads and other projects.

POVERTY — A report from the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council on new "redirection" of the agency which calls for four months of "brain storming" and planning for the future.

Sentence Is The Same After Trial

Roy Chester Johnson, 27, of San Francisco, who once pleaded guilty to burglary then changed his mind when ordered to serve 30 days in jail, will have to serve the 30 days anyway.

Judge Henry J. Broderick of Marin Superior Court Friday sentenced him to the county jail term a week after a jury convicted him of burglarizing a Kent Woodlands home.

Johnson had pleaded guilty to the charge earlier this year on the understanding he would get 10 days in jail, but backed off when Superior Court Judge Samuel W. Gardiner said he would have to serve 30 days.

A codefendant, A nthony Paul Bell, 18, of San Francisco, pleaded guilty, but failed to make court dates and a bench warrant has been issued for his arrest.

The two were arrested Sept. 16, with a carload of electrical equipment taken shortly before from the home of Herman A. Vanderkamp of Ridgecrest Road.

It was Johnson's first arrest.

Marin Italia Club Chooses Officers

John Velvich has been elected president of the Club Italia of Marin County.

Health Fair Is Announced

A Health Fair — featuring a complete operating room and the latest telemetric equipment for coronary care — will be held June 11 at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building.

The fair is being sponsored by Marin General Hospital and several public and private health care agencies in the county to mark the 20th anniversary of the opening of the hospital in 1952.

A total of 47 exhibits will be on display from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Other topics covered will be new health care programs and job opportunities in the field.

Marin Juvenile Unit To Expand

The Marin County Juvenile Justice Commission has agreed to expand its membership from seven seats to 15, probation officer John W. Brewer reported.

Brewer said the increase in size is permitted under new legislation passed in Sacramento.

He said the commission, which met Wednesday at Juvenile Hall, also elected John Donovan as its new chairman, replacing Dr. William H. Pemberton whose term as chairman had expired.

Lecture Set On Adobe Bricks

A lecture and demonstration on making adobe bricks for home construction will be given Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the student lounge at Sonoma State College.

Gene Boudreau of Sebastopol, author of the book, "Making the Adobe Brick," will demonstrate various techniques and explain how adobe bricks can be used in home construction to reduce costs by 60 per cent.

Proceeds will benefit Virginia's Earth Corps, a Sonoma State club working for election of Virginia Hechtman as Sonoma supervisor for the Fifth District.

Corte Maderan Fair Coordinator

Jack Haehl, of Corte Madera, chairman of the art department at Terra Linda High School, has been named crafts coordinator for the 1972 Marin County Fair, fair manager Marcelle McCoy announced today.

This year's fair will be held from August 31 through September 4 at the fairgrounds at the Marin County Civic Center.

OEO Chooses San Jose For Voucher Experiment

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO), which has rocked few boats lately, has decided to go ahead with a controversial educational experiment that seems sure to cause high winds and hot words.

The OEO today chose Alum Rock Union Elementary School District in San Jose, Calif., to receive its first educational voucher grant.

The basic purpose of the plan is to try to improve the education of children from poor families by making it possible for their parents to choose the schools their youngsters will attend. This would be done by giving the parents "vouchers" backed by government funds to be used as tuition in public, private or church-related schools participating in the program.

By giving the poor as well as the affluent an educational choice, the experimenters hope to introduce an element of competition into school systems that will push up the quality of schooling all along the line.

Advocates of the voucher experiment say it might be the solution to what many regard as a general downward trend in educational standards and the best way to give the children of poor families an equal chance to improve themselves.

Opponents take several positions. Those who think the voucher proposal might work as planned object that it would leave the already under-funded public schools without the support they must have to improve. Those who see the voucher plan as a harebrained experiment complain that it would waste scarce money that could be used to improve public schools.

And there are specialized objections. Some minority groups are concerned about the use of vouchers to support segregated schools. Persons concerned about church-state separation object to any public funds being used to support parochial schools. Planners of the experiment say safeguards against both racism and unconstitutional aid to churches will be built into the program.

McGovern Strength Is Reported Gaining

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Sen. George S. McGovern was reported gaining strength in public opinion polls on the eve of key primaries in Pennsylvania and Massachusetts that could finish off Sen. Edmund S. Muskie's bid for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The two states have 239 elected convention delegates at stake, or about one-sixth of the 1,509 delegate votes needed to win the nomination at Miami Beach in July.

McGovern picked up 17 delegates from his native South Dakota over the weekend to take the delegate-count lead for the first time, according to UPI calculations. McGovern had 118 1-2 committed delegates to 107 1-2 for Muskie. Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace had 75. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey was fourth with 20.

President Nixon got 14 delegates from South Dakota, raising his total to 161 with 674 needed for the Republican nomination at the San Diego convention in August. Rep. John M. Ashbrook, Nixon's only declared opponent, has no delegates.

Humphrey, predicting victory in Pennsylvania's popularity vote Tuesday, is expected to move up and has the support of party leaders in many states without primaries.

Humphrey Sunday discounted the effect of committed delegates and said that it was impossible for McGovern to win the nomination.

"Coming to the convention with delegates doesn't mean you get the nomination," he said in a television interview (CBS' Face the Nation). "I've said time and time again that I doubt that anyone will come to this convention with sufficient votes to get the nomination on the first ballot."

Committed delegates are bound to a candidate for the first ballot only.

McGovern drew weekend endorsements from Americans for Democratic Action and Yippie leaders Jerry Rubin and Abbie Hoffman, who entered conventional politics for the first time.

Rubin and Hoffman led anti-war demonstrations that ended in violence at the 1968 Democratic convention in Chicago.

The Boston Globe said its latest poll gave McGovern 43 per cent of the vote in Tuesday's Massachusetts primary. Muskie got 19 per cent and Humphrey 14. McGovern had only 11 per cent in February compared with 46 for Muskie and 15 for Humphrey.

Noting a "sharp erosion" of Muskie's support in Pennsylvania, the Philadelphia Bulletin said that only 24 Democratic county chairmen now back Muskie compared with the 44-49 Gov. Milton Shapp gave him in January.

Muskie called off an 11th hour visit to Massachusetts to concentrate on Pennsylvania. A Muskie spokesman in Pennsylvania said, "We're really on an upsurge and we don't want to dampen the thrust."

FOR WILDFLOWERS

Snatcher's Return To Stinson Beach

By MARC NURRE

Bumping and lurching in their station wagons along California backroads from Oregon to Death Valley, the Stinson Beach plant snatchers are at it again.

With their side windows blocked by sheets of newspaper to keep out the drying sun, and flats crammed with water-filled bottles and cans, the raiding parties prowl the state in search of their prey.

Formally, they're the Stinson Beach Wildflower Committee, but as their annual show nears they become almost full time specimen-grabbers and plant morticians — complete with their own techniques for making drooping wildflowers look "just as they were in life."

This year's 14th annual Stinson Beach Wildflower show, as have all preceding ones, will be the work of women who appreciate the flowers they present, but certainly don't hold them in romantic awe.

Anne Leary, Roberta Shockey and Barbara Menzies have begun the task of amsassing the nearly 350 plants necessary for the show, which will be held May 6 and 7 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Stinson Beach Community Center. They'll have help this year from Marna Griffin, one of the early originators of the show who has returned from living in Italy for many years.

Theme of this year's show is oddities of the California plant kingdom, though the women are quick to admit, "when we say oddities, they're our idea of oddities, not botanists'. "

The search for the plants is conducted like an African safari, usinv pruning shears instead of guns. Each woman averages more than 2,000 miles of driving and more than a week's time during the intense preparation for the show.

They go everywhere. "There's hardly a backroad in the state of California that we haven't been on," said Mrs. Shockey.

They collect on freeway roadsides. "We backed up for a mile one time on the grapevine (between Bakersfield and Los Angeles) to get a flower," she said.

They collect near the Santa Rita prison farm. "Most people want to get out. We're trying to climb in," she remembered.

After years of collecting, they know just where to look. Downingia, for example, presents a problem this year. "I don't know whether that will be out there by the motor movie or not," said Mrs. Menzies. Her companions, mentally recalling the spot, weren't sure either.

They all agree that they're really going to have to work this year. It has been so dry that many of the areas which produce wildflowers are already rock-hard. It will take a sharper eye than usual to come with as many of the old familiar plants.

Plants featured this year include the coral root, a reddish stalk which feeds on decaying plant matter and which contains no chlorophyll, broom rape, bastard toad flax, the pitcher or cobra plant which eats flies and other insects, ground cones and pine drops.

The oddities theme was born out of desperation. "We were getting sort of pressed for a different theme this year," said Mrs. Menzie.

But next year's show, the 15th annual, will end it, they all promise. "We're tired," said Mrs. Shockey, and the others nodded.

When they began the project, they did it because they were interested and had seen similar shows very poorly done. They knew little about botany, but have now reached the point where they can identify most of the plants they find, although they have the assistance of a botanist the day before their show to put names to really difficult specimens.

"We'll probably cry when it's over," said Mrs. Shockey. But, admitted Mrs. Menzies, every year the task begins to weigh on their minds beginning in January.

When they return to Stinson Beach with their prizes after a collecting trip, they store them in the community center, which is perfect, they say, because it is cool and dark.

In most cases, they pick only the bloom of the plant, leaving the rest of it to reproduce again the following year. Some of the blooms wilt quickly, even though they are plunged into water immediately, and need rejuvenation.

This is accomplished in the "recovery room" where the women dip the stalks into hot water, heat them, or do whatever has proven effective for the particular plant.

When it's all over, the blooms so carefully gathered are up for grabs. The women get first pick themselves, then the public takes what is left for dried flower collections, botany exhibits and models for paintings.

After they finish next year's show, the women plan to rest, then take on the state Division of Highways and county road departments who are in charge of planting many varieties of wildflowers along roadsides.

California poppies, they cite as an example, are encouraged at the southern end of Shoreline Highway in Marin, but routinely cut down by road department mowers along the road in North Marin.

A yellow Mediterranean plant called genistra is taking over the hillsides near Stinson Beach, they said, and needs spraying for control.

About 10 years ago, they said they got spraying stopped by official agencies in the area, but now they favor selective spraying with less dangerous chemicals to control specific problems.

They'll be sad when the annual show is over, but on the other hand, "it's like watching a child grow up," they said.

Mt. Tamalpais Program Planned

Mount Tamalpais will be examined by the Mountain Play Association in a special program: "A Potpourri of Things to Do On, For, With, Around, Up and Down the Mountain," at 8 p.m. Friday, at Olney Hall, College of Marin.

Columnist Margot Patterson Doss will offer practical suggestions for leisurely hike on the mountain.

William R.Allison of the State Department of Parks and Recreation, will discuss the problems of traffic and vandalism on the mountain and at the outdoor theatre.

Byrd Coleman, Sandra Davidson and Fay Trevor, physical therapists in Marin County, will lecture and demonstrate how to get into physical shape for the mountain's steeper trails.

School Trustees Plan Meetings

The San Anselmo School District Board of Trustees has scheduled meetings for Tuesday and Thursday at the Red Hill School library.

At 7 p.m. Tuesday it will hold a closed meeting to instruct its negotiating team and meet with the screening committee to discuss selection of a superintendent to replace Ivan D. Chappell who took the position on a temporary basis.

At 7:30 p.m. Thursday it will hold a business meeting to review a proposed $1,909,806 budget for next fiscal year, review the report of the Citizens Advisory Committee and hear a progress report from the negotiating team on nonsalary items.

Muir Woods Group Opposes Townhouses

The Muir Woods Park Improvement Association members have opposed a plan for 50 townhouses on Panoramic Highway, according to Association Secretary Elsie Heimann.

Representatives of Environmental Planning and Design Associates of Sausalito explained the plans to the meeting Friday night, she said.

The plans call for 50 cluster houses with a stable and pool on 10 acres opposite Kent Way, she said. The area is now zoned for single family residential, she said.

KTIM Will Celebrate Its 25th Anniversary

Radio Station KTIM in Marin will celebrate its 25th anniversary between 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. Friday when Hugh Turner, station manager, brings back some of the voices that were on the air a quarter-century ago.

Turner himself has been with KTIM since 1948, when he acquired the corporate holdings of Ernest L. (Lou) Smith, the first station manager.

The station, which was "This Is Marin," signed onto the air at 8:55 a.m. April 28, 1947, operating from studios in a remodeled house at 1117 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael. The first voice on the air was Mark Gerstle III, scion of a longtime Marin County family, who was chief announcer.

Gerstle will visit KTIM's studios for the anniversary, Turner said. He now is associated with the San Francisco Police Department. Another guest will be Gordon B. Greb, then program chief and staff announcer, who now is a professor at San Francisco State College.

Among the original corporate officers were the late Roy A. Brown, then publisher of the San Rafael Independent, and his son, Wishard, now publisher of the Independent-Journal.

The station's one-kilowatt AM transmitter was located at the College of Marin in Kentfield, and in 1960 moved to the shoreline near the Smith Brother Ranch. In 1948, according to former I-J reporter Jack Eisen, now in Washington, D.C., the station set up a pioneering rebroadcast arrangement with KRCC, an East Bay FM station owned by another newspaper, the Richmond Independent.

By 1950, KTIM had taken over the station. It operated studios both in San Rafael and Richmond, until 1956 when the Richmond operation was closed.

Organic Cosmetics Return

Kitchen garden and pantry shelves are beginning to replace the chemist's laboratory as a source of beauty aids as the organic cosmetics craze turns the clock back to the past century when Grandma cherished her secret recipes for beautiful skin and shining hair.

Two Mill Valley women, Mrs. Gerald Frank and Mrs. William Smith, have been delving into old books of "household recipes" and "toilet suggestions" for some of these secrets to be bottled and sold at Grandmother's Cupboard of the Marin County Antiques Show, which opens Thursday at the IDESST Hall in Sausalito.

The women, members of the Episcopal Church Women of the Church of Our Saviour, Mill Valley, which will sponsor the three-day event for the 20th year, combined their respective interests in devising a line of old fashioned cosmetics.

Joan Smith is a history buff with a house full of 19th Century treasures brought from her native Helena, Mont., and Arlene Frank was a professional cosmetologist who still likes to experiment with skin-softeners and face creams along with her gourmet recipes.

GRANDMA'S GLAMOUR Goo, a facial for oily skin; Sissy's Golden Bath Emollient; Grandma's Hand Softener; and Auntie's Ting, an astringent, are the results of their collaboration.

Although many of the ingredients for organic cosmetics are as accessible as the garden or neighborhood grocery store — among them avacados, lemons, roses, cucumbers, herbs, eggs, milk, oatmeal and cornmeal — the pharmacist is not suffering, for he still supplies the glycerine, witch hazel, coconut oil, cocoa butter, almond and other essential oils.

Also the large cosmetics manufacturers are getting into the organic act with their own exclusive lines of organic cosmetics. Most featured among these are products which include avocado, lemon or milk protein.

One of the books used by the Grandmother's Cupboard researchers was "the 1902 Blue Ribbon Cookbook" owned by Mrs. Charles McCormick of Mill Valley. Along with specific recipes for a "lady's toilet" are bits of advice which grandma considered more important to beauty, such as these:

"A cheerful disposition and an optimistic view of life do much toward making the beauty supppiant plump of outline and charming of countenance."

"Good humor should be cultivated and the hour spent at the table should be dedicated to the goddess of leisure. . . . the family should early be trained to avoid all unpleasant themes at table."

"Think joy—not sorrow... and never speak unkindly."

"To have a rounded throat, sing whether you have a voice or not."

AMONG THE more interesting recipes in this book were a complexion cream using strawberry juice as its principal ingredient, cucumber juice and elder flower water to reduce the pores of the skin. If you need "cure for a brown throat" the book advises, "beat up an egg, add one ounce of honey, one teaspoon of lemon juice, six drops of bitter almond oil and enough oatmeal to make into a paste. Use morning and night."

"The Blue Ribbon Cookbook" also suggests that a "nice dressing for the hair is cold tea (use every day and a head of glossy hair will result); eyebrows can be thickened by brushing nightly with cocoa butter; rub beaten egg whites into the roots of the hair and leave on to dry, then clean head with equal parts of rum and rosewater."

A tooth cleaning compound includes, of all things, two tablespoonsfull of white sugar.

Freckles must be avoided at all costs, with no less than four "cures" provided, but wrinkles are dismissed as inconsequential with "if you have lost any teeth, that will account for the lines; otherwise you should not have wrinkles before 60."

MRS. WILLIAM Smith's 19th Century antiques provide an appropriate setting for Mrs. Gerald Frank (left) to demonstrate her Grandma's Glamour Goo on Mrs. Smith. This is one of the organic cosmetics to be sold at Grandmother's Cupboard in the Marin County Antiques Show, which opens Thursday in Sausalito. The women are members of the Episcopal Church of Our Saviour, Mill Valley, which benefits from the annual event.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Maybe Males Can Rescue This Henpecked Husband In Chains

DEAR HELEN:

Recently my husband and I were guests of three couples at a local club.

Upon arrival, I was informed by one of my hostesses not to accept a dance from one of the husbands, as his wife was insanely jealous. As the latter danced with our spouses, it was quite evident that her man was so well trained he wouldn't even chance a smile at any woman, let alone talk or dance with us.

We'll be in contact often as we're part of the crowd. Must we kowtow to a jealous wife? — NON-JEALOUS

DEAR NON:

Someone should free this poor henpecked husband from his cage — and perhaps the best way is to enlist YOUR men. Surely they'll help a fellow male by ignoring his wife until she unchains her prisoner.

A few danceless, attentionless parties, and she'll either give him a break or they'll both remain home on Saturday nights... until boredom and jealousy do them part. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

How can you fight "creeping commercialism?"

We live in a nice woodsy residential area, seven miles from our small town, where two scenic rivers converge. Several homes are on this winding lane, bordered by trees — a real parklike natural wonderland.

But a gravel company wants to remove the huge gravel bar at the confluence of the rivers. This means widening the county road, cutting down trees on either side, noisy trucks, earth-tearing machinery, and pollution to the river, as well as ruination of our environment.

The county has agreed to widen the road. We've petitioned against this threat to serenity and beauty, but commissioners say an improved road will be "good for us."

We'd guess we are only a few of millions threatened by creeping commercialism. What can we do, when no one seems to listen? — MR. G.

DEAR MR. G.:

Public opinion — especially when it concerns ecology — can work near miracles. Get the word to your local newspaper, start a "save our natural parkland" campaign, circulate petitions, do a spot of picketing.

If every landowner (except the gravel company) is against widening your county road, you'll have a big talking point. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My woman friends wants to have my name tattoed inside a heart — and not exactly on her arm. I have heard females are going for tattoos these days, but I still think it's unladylike. You? — NO INK JOB

DEAR IJ:

Well, anyway — unwise. What if the lady has a change of heart? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm not sure whether I heard this somewhere or originated it, but I like the saying, "Sex without love is like a butterfly without wings." — RIGHT?

DEAR RIGHT:

Right! Without love, sex can be pretty "grubby." — H.

PERSONAL TO WORRIED MOTHER OF AN INDELICATE INFANT: Your baby is normally inquisitive. If you don't believe me, ask your pediatrician — who will tell you kids try eating anything — except what their mothers say is good for them. — H.

Merit Of Volkswagen Beetle In Safety Area Is Debated

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — Is the Volkswagen Beetle "the safest car" or "the most hazardous car" currently in use in significant numbers in the United States?

The answer may not be known for a long time, if ever. Indeed, the truth may lie somewhere between these two extreme statements, for they both cannot be right.

On the negative side is Ralph Nader, the consumer advocate who has been a longtime critic of the Volkswagen because of its alleged safety defects. A 200-page report by his Center for Auto Safety last September found little to praise about the popular vehicle now owned by 3.2 million Americans.

It said the Beetle is "more likely than most other cars to cause serious or fatal injury in an collision than virtually any other car in common use in this country." The report urged that the VW Microbus or Van be recalled immediately by the manufacturer and its production discontinued.

Although some of the charges were not new, the detailed documentation and strong language used by Nader caused a sensation among VW owners around the world. News stories may have played a major role in a sweeping shakeup in management at Volkswagen headquarters in Germany.

NEEDLESS TO say, the company denied the accusations, and it did not initiate the massive recall demanded by Nader.

Meanwhile, Road and Track magazine began its own investigation of the matter, beginning with the Nader report.

Its detailed answer to the Nader report appears in the current (April) issue of the magazine. Its findings contradict almost every one in the Nader study. Its conclusion is that the VW Beetle is "the safest car" in wide use in this country.

Road and Track said it checked with the same sources used by Nader and found an almost completely opposite picture. The magazine accused the Nader crew of distorting studies done by others and omitting key data when it was favorable to Volkswagen. It called Nader "wrong."

"Any competent attorney using the same sources," said the magazine, "could make a powerful case to show that the VW Beetle is the safest car currently in use in significant numbers in the United States. It urged that Nader "recall" the study report.

WHEN THE Road and Track article was first released at a press conference, the Nader group accused the magazine of defending the Volkswagen for commercial purposes and strongly backed its own report.

Since then, the group has obtained an agreement with the magazine to publish a 2,500-word rebuttal for the July issue. A preliminary draft of that article takes up Road and Track's objections point by point without conceding any errors or distortions.

How can anyone tell which side is right?

One way is to compare the current article with Nader's reply still to be published. Nader's original report is expected to be published in book form in July.

Pearls Still In Wedding Etiquette

NEW YORK (UPI) — Not long ago every bride wore a bride's necklace — a graduated, princess length strand of cultured pearls.

Cultured pearls still stand as the most appropriate jewels for the bride to wear but the old pearl uniform necklace varies — as wedding etiquette grows less rigid. Weddings vary from the self-composed declaration in a stand of California redwoods to a high, nuptial mass in the Washington Cathedral.

When selecting pearls for the wedding the most important thing to consider is the neckline of the gown. For the high round neckline, for example, the multiple strand dog collar of cultured pearls goes best.

If the bride wearing such a collar is having a formal wedding, the opera-length necklace of cultured pearls, falling softly over the bosom, would be appropriate.

WHEN THE gown is a scooped neckline type, a bib of pearls, falling from the base of the throat to the top of the gown's neckline, makes the bride lovely as can be.

High standing collars call for matinee or opera — length pearls. A cameo or simple brooch hung on the strand gives a more striking effect.

What if the gown is heavily beaded? With pearl seeds. Does that mean the bride can't wear pearls? Not at all. The only caution: don't let the pearls sewn on the dress clash with the pearl necklace. Best is to have a neckline low enough so that the pearl necklace will rest against bare skin.

Pearls, traditionally, are a gift from the bridegroom. When shopping for same, he ought to look for quality. The higher the quality, the higher the price. Whether he plans to spend $50 or $5,000 he ought to shop for quality.

The size is measured in millimeters and fine quality can be found in any size. Shape ranges from perfectly round (the most expensive) to semi-round, to baroque. Baroque pearls, the really odd shaped ones, are about one-third the price of round pearls. There is a larger supply of them.

Tri-Delts Set A Fashion Show

The Delta Delta Delta sorority at the University of California will have its annual fashion show and luncheon presented May 5 at the Berkeley Pi chapter house, presented by the Mothers Club.

Among Marinites attending will be Mmes. John R. Moore of Belvedere and her mother, Mrs. A. H. Deckman of Strawberry, and Mrs. Kenneth A. Frost of Belvedere. Mrs. Moore's daughter, Robin, is a tri-Delta member at Berkeley.

Course On Vegetarian Diets To Be Offered

MRS. DOROTHEA JONES
Vegetarian cookery

A short course on vegetarian diets and alternatives to the high cost of meat proteins will be taught by dietitian Dorothea Von Gundy Jones, sponsored by the Health and Welfare Services of the Seventh-Day Adventist Churches of Marin.

The cooking series will be held at 7 p.m. May 1 through 4 at the Fairfax Seventh-Day Adventist Church, 75 Park Road. A nominal registration fee will cover the course.

Topics will be "What's in Your Grocery Basket," "How to Postpone Your Heart Attack," "The Staff of Life—Is It Broken?" and "World Nutrition and You."

Mrs. Jones is a graduate of Loma Linda University's School of Dietetics and received the B.A. degree from Pacific Union College. She has taught cooking classes from coast to coast, has served as director of food services for colleges, been a hospital dietitian and diet consultant.

Mrs. Jones is the author of "The Soybean Cookbook" and is dietitian for "Life and Health," a national health journal. She is also associate editor of "Today's Food" magazine and has been an official observed at the Second World Food Congress in the Netherlands, under sponsorship of the World Food Program and the U.S. Food and Agriculture Organization.

The classes are open to individuals and families as a community public service.

The dummy is equipped to describe the sights and to respond to touch with such phrases as, "It's been ages since I saw you," and "I'm pretty, am I not?"

Convention Date

The annual state convention of the California Business and Professional Women will be held May 25-28 at the San Francisco Hilton Hotel. Lois McLain of Corte Madera, state president, will preside and new officers will be elected.

Over 30 Years Experience In Nutrition

HERE'S HEALTH!

by JUNE EMBURY

U.C. Berkeley's nutrition department chief, Dr. George M. Briggs, is quoted as recently charging that it's a "sad commentary on our nutrition habits when the cheapest of all nutrients is lacking in so many people's diets." Dr. Briggs refers to iron deficiency, now found to be prevalent in as many as 20 million Americans!

Before industry coated our cookware (with teflon and similar chemicals) to make it easier to clean, the nutritionist points out, Americans got a little something from the pot while cooking meals — enough iron to satisfy our minimum daily requirement.

But modern technology has changed all that. Invest in a new cast iron skillet is his recommendation.

We say Bravo, Dr. Briggs! and would add that other authorities emphasize the need for iron-rich supplements such as desiccated liver and organ meats, prepared for toxin-free, maximum nutrition, available, of course at our store.

ART AUCTION — This primitive "Home for Christmas" is by Girldine Fallon Merrill, who is considered the West's Grandma Moses. It is one of several hundred works being offered at auction Sunday by the Marin Society of Artists.

By LAURA DEVENDORF

The Marin Society of Artists annual art auction is no attic sale. And whether the inspiration is out of devotion to the organization or to a needed tax deduction, the auction has consistently attracted good work by some of the area's better known artists and craftsmen.

This year's event, which takes place Sunday at the society's gallery in the Ross Art and Garden Center, will be in two parts. Silent bidding on wall-hung work will begin at 1 p.m. and a verbal auction on selected pieces, at 2 p.m. These selected works will be previewed through Friday at the gallery.

Probably in response to public taste, much of the painted work being previewed is realism. And much of it is very good. William Lary is represented with several neat, architectural watercolors of farms and buildings, and there are several oils by East Bay artist Eleanor Elsocht, including a vibrant "Tea Garden at Sunset."

There are pleasant examples covering all subjects from an orange nude with blue drapery by Frank Bacher to a sylvan afternoon painted by Sydney Herschleb in glowing golds which penetrate even the deepest tree-formed shadows.

Among these realistic canvases is a primitive treasure by Girldine Fallon Merrill, who has been referred to as the West's Grandma Moses and whose work has been purchased for the Western White House. Her snow covered "Home for Christmas" is a delight, from the brilliant red apples hanging on a barren tree, to the last chicken in the barn and face at the house window.

While abstract work is at a minimum, what there is, is usually both competent and decorative, particularly the landscapes. In Avis De Monte's "March," greens from emerald to chartreuse indicate spring fresh fields stretching in shadow and occasional sun under a steel-toned sky.

Margaret Smith's "Summer Halo" is a series of warm chunks of color, while Marjorie Cathcart's fluid hues suggest beach and sea on a "Carmel Day," and then a bit more literally, a windy reach of hills and sky.

In shortest supply is purely nonobjective work. But what there is, is climaxed with Fred Herschleb's stunning gray-blue ribbon-run watercolor.

Crafts aren't plentiful either. But they are lovely. Myra Falch's stole is a woven rainbow of soft color mixed with gray. Phyllis Lynch shows a tall bowl in pure rich blue. And there is silver, pearl and torquoise jewelry by such notables as Lida Dear, Alice Shannon and Frieda Burkhart.

In most cases, the work is representative of the artists who have donated them, even if sometimes, the connection is a little dated. It should be kept in mind, however, that the artists give these works away.

A tax deduction really is small help. Yet in spite of this, the preview indicates that there are some treasures in the Marin Society auction. And even as a gallery show, it isn't bad, not bad at all.

MUSIC REVIEW

Rejto, Baller Entrance Small Concert Audience

Cellist Gabor Rejto and pianist Adolph Baller entranced a small but appreciative audience at last night's benefit concert at Dominican College's Angelico Hall with a program of cello-piano sonatas by Hindemith, Schubert, Martinu, and Beethoven.

Each work was performed with the utmost stylistic sensitivity. The heavy driving, almost peasant quality of the opening Hindemith Op. 11, No. 3 Sonata immediately revealed Rejto's phenomenal command of the cello. The tremendous technical demands of this work were no obstacle to the conviction and power of his interpretation.

Almost in complete contrast, Schubert's A Minor "Arpeggione" Sonata became a miracle of ensemble playing. The magic of Schubert, that fresh, bittersweet lyricism, was the object of their attention. Rhythmic articulation, tone color and sensitive variations in dynamic levels were always consistent between the instruments. Piano and cello became one perfectly functioning expressive instrument.

The Czechoslovakian neo-Romantic composer Bohuslav Martinu has been receiving a considerable amount of attention recently by chamber musicians. His Sonata No. 2 for cello and piano is a beautiful work with a great deal of individuality. The sustained Largo movement provided Rejto with the opportunity to display his fluid tone and outstanding bow technic.

They let out all the stops with the concluding A major Beethoven sonata. From the composer's middle period, this sonata has the same warmth and directness of the "Rasoumovsky" string quartets. Both piano and cello are of equal importance — at times a duo and at times accompanying one another. Rejto and Baller's interpretation of this work was masterly.

While such artists can make the most of any situation, it was unfortunate that they had to perform in Angelico Hall, the accoustics of this building are similar to those of a gymnasium — a large echo chamber.

Rejto and Baller presented this concert to benefit the Maurice Wilk Memorial Scholarship Fund for music students at Dominican College. The late Wilk was the violinist with them in the Alma Trio.

Adult Music At Terra Linda High

An adult dance-concert by the Terra Linda High School Stage Band will be held at 9 p.m. Saturday at the Oakview Club, 919 Lea Drive, San Rafael.

The band will perform tunes from the 1930s, 40's and 50's, featuring the music of Count Bassie, Glen Miller and Duke Ellington.

MUSIC REVIEW

Guest Conductor Has 'Great' Style

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Sensational brass playing and the revelation that the San Francisco symphony can achieve maximum impact without Ozawa were the major impressions at Saturday night's third concert in the orchestra's current Marin series.

There were many empty seats in the Veterans Memorial Theater, probably due to the absence of Ozawa, but those who missed the concert for this reason were the losers, for guest conductor Dean Dixon, the first black and probably the youngest musician ever to conduct the New York Philharmonic, made great music in his own style.

Now 57, Dixon has come home to the United States after 21 years in Europe, and his appearance in this series of San Francisco concerts was his debut with the orchestra. Controlled force in broad, dynamic gestures was the keynote of his podium manner, with none of Ozawa's choreographicgrace and demonic fire. At times Dixon did so little that he seemed to be guiding the performance through magnetic radiation.

The program — Brahms's Tragic Overture in D Minor, the contemporary Czech Petr Eben's "Vox Clamantis" and Bruckner's Symphony No. 3 in D Major — was one of great substance and depth and could have been unbearably heavy had it not been performed with such vibrant vitality.

Not only did all three works offer the brasses, especially trumpets, their golden opportunity to shine, but Dixon seemed deliberately to magnify their importance as well as that of the low strings. I have not heard the latter hold their own better and even achieve maximum power as well as in this concert, especially in the Bruckner Symphony. At times the sonority was like that of a mighty pipe organ, not surprising in view of Bruckner's mastery of that majestic instrument.

I found the "Vox Clamantis" (voice crying in the wilderness), which received its West Coast premiere in the first of this series of concerts in San Francisco, quite intriguing and successful in its realization of its theme. This was the collision caused by the convergence of the two worlds when the New Testament burst into the old world, with the voice in the wilderness that of John the Baptist.

Three trumpeters, one standing on the right of the stage, one in the center and one at the left, represented this voice and contributed some of the most brilliant trumpet playing I have heard. All the more credit was due the trumpets, since the first trumpet section was aleatoric, or music of chance, in which the performers improvised their own music in the style of synagogical singing.

The orchestration was colorful with sheets of sound reminiscent of Varese.

While not so impressive as the Bruckner Symphony, the opening Brahms's Overture was heard in a dynamic reading conveying vividly the various aspects of tragedy.

New gold outlined panels on the back of the stage enhanced its appearance considerably.

Seven Sailors Jump From Ship During Protest

LEONARDO, N.J. (UPI)— Seven sailors leaped overboard from a Navy ammunition ship that has been the target of antiwar demonstrations this morning and attempted to swim to a protesters' flotilla of 16 canoes as the Navy ship left a pier here, reportedly for Vietnam.

The Coast Guard said all seven sailors who leaped from the U.S.S. Nitro were picked up by two Coast Guard cutters in Sandy Hook Bay and would be returned to the Nitro.

The canoe flotilla was launched earlier this morning by members of an antiwar group that saw 19 of its members arrested Sunday for entering the Earle ammunition depot to protest loading of the Nitro, Middletown Township police said.

Children's Play Set Saturday

A children's play, "The Frog Who Liked Being a Frog," will be presented free at 2 p.m. Saturday in the outdoor children's garden of the new Corte Madera library.

The play is an adaption of a book, "The Strange Sory of the Frog Who Became a Prince," by Elinor Horwitz.

Ostlind To Give Marin Mayors Air Base Plan

A presentation of his plans for joint use of Hamilton Air Force Base will be made by Benjamin J. Ostlind before the Marin County Council of mayors and Councilmen at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant, San Rafael.

Cocktails will be at 6:30 and dinner meeting at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday with San Anselmo as host city.

Ostlind, one of the original members and first chairman of the Marin County Aviation Commission, has been pushing plans for a joint military-civilian use of Hamilton Air Force Base. His plans call for an industrial complex to the north of the base.

Other items to come before the mayors and councilmen include a report on the urban thoroughfare program, consideration of support for statewide bicycle licensing and the formation of service areas for cities.

Winning Candidates Have Low Budgets

All winning candidates in the Rohnert Park and Cotati City Council elections ran low budget campaigns, according to expense statements filed.

In Cotati, winners Annette Lombardi, Stephen Laughlin and Geoffrey Dunham said they spent less than $500 to win office. In Rohnert Park, Louis G. Beary said he also spent less then $500 and Warren K. Hopkins reported spending $283 and Vernon P. Smith, $265.

Ag Preserve To Be Studied

The Novato City Council will discuss creating agricultural preserves in the Novato area at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the community house.

The city planning commission recommended last week that the Burdell Ranch on San Antonio Creek; the Olompali Ranch, north of Novato; the Magetti Ranch, west of Novato, and the West property, north of Hamilton Air Force Base, be designated agricultural preserves.

Councilmen also will review horse and bicycle paths recommended for the city master plan by the planning commission.

PREDATES CHRISTIANS

Ancient Village Is Uncovered

By BRUCE MARTIN

In a 400-by-500-foot area of Forst Meadows, archaeologist Charles Slaymaker and his students at nearby Dominican College in San Rafael have uncovered a Coast Miwok Indian village that he believes predates the Christian era.

Slaymaker and students in his anthropology class at the college last September began excavation at the site of the village that was known as Awani-wi, now marked by numerous diggings that range up to 20 feet in diameter and two to seven feet in depth.

In one of the diggings, they discovered arrow points, ornaments, shells and beads. The beads were made from clam shells culled from Bodega Bay and were the Coast Miwoks' "most important form of money," the archaeologist said.

He said food-grinding implements and animal bones also were found.

The digging, or "structure" — Slaymaker's term for the hard-packed earth floor found at a three-foot depth — was last occupied by the Coast Miwoks at about 1300 A.D.

The structure was found, Slaymaker said, by probing downward until hard-packed earth was touched, then by spreading the dig on a flat plane until they unearthed the entire floor of what once was a communal home for 11 or 12 persons.

The Coast Miwoks occupied all of Marin and Southern Sonoma. Communities within the tribe bartered with each other, and for this reason Slaymaker believes olivella and clam shells from the ocean came to be found at the San Rafael site.

The Coast Miwoks lived in Marin until about 1860 when they were driven out by increasing numbers of settlers, Slaymaker said. In the early 1900s, archaeologists interviewed some survivors of the tribe who identified the site of the village and called it Awani-wi, Slaymaker said.

By digging down ever deeper, Slaymaker believes he'll find another "living level" that predates the one he's unearthed. Several of these levels may lie below the current structure, "and may go back a couple of thousand years," he said.

The Coast Miwoks lived in buildings that resembled halved, upside-down grapefruits. At Slaymaker's prime digging site, the Indians built their 20-feet-in-diameter, seven-foot-tall thatched huts with an arched top supported by bent poles overlaid with brush, willow and tule mats.

There were about 25 villages in the San Rafael area, but many sites have been covered over by highway and houses, Slaymaker believes.

The time-consuming excavation is done by hand — "a hand trowel is our only tool" — and all earth removed from the ground is sifted through a wire mesh screen in order to retrieve the tiniest of artifacts.

In addition to his current pupils, Slaymaker is assisted in the dig by past students and by a group of Redwood High School students.

Artifacts taken from the site will be on display through May 5 at Alemany Library on the college campus.

ARTIFACTS — These clam disc beads, used by Coast Miwok Indians as money, measure no larger than one-half inch in diameter.

Debate Set On Black Education Progress

More than 300 educators will gather in San Rafael May 23-26 to discuss, debate and evaluate educational progress of black students at all levels.

The conference, entitled "Emerging Trends in the Education of Black Students," will probe the problems of busing, freedom schools, special college admissions, black studies, black universities, international perspectives and funding for special minority programs.

While the conference was designed to attract primarily black educators, all educators have been invited to attend, particularly those involved in compensatory programs.

Headlining the roster of speakers will be Dr. Andrew Billingsley, vice president of academic affairs at Howard University in Washington, D.C.

Dr. Roland Patterson, superintendent of the Baltimore public schools and Dr. Vernon Broussard, chief of the state bureau of compensatory education program development, will be featured luncheon speakers.

The conference, to be held at the Holiday Inn in San Rafael, is sponsored by Breakthrough of the Tamalpais High School District; Black Scholar magazine, the Marin County Superintendent of Schools Office and the Marin County Human Rights Commission.

Ten workshops a day will be held at the conference. Organizers hope the participants will return to their respective jobs with additional information to initiate improvements in their areas.

A panel of college students also will participate in the workshops.

Martin Will Take Over As Old School Provost

Dr. Warren B. Martin, researcher and educator, has been named provost of Old School at Sonoma State College.

Martin will replace Dr. Yvette Fallandy as provost of Old School, which includes all academic departments of the college except those of the new cluster schools.

Martin is now a researcher and coordinator of development for the Center for Research and Development in Higher Education at University of California at Berkeley. He previously had been provost of the first cluster college at University of the Pacific and had teaching and administrative experience at Cornell College, Mount Vernon, Iowa.

He received the senior research award for 1972-73 from University of London institute of education, under the Fulbright-Hays Act. Martin declined the honor to go to London for a year to accept the Sonoma State position.

Martin holds a doctor of philosophy degree from Boston University. He has written several articles for professional journals and will assume the position on July 1.

Overdose Treatment

Carol Schneider, 27, of 154 Alpine Street, San Rafael, was taken to Marin Genera Hospital Saturday for treatment of an overdose of pills taken at Holiday Inn at 1010 Northgate Drive, San Rafael police reported. Hospital officials declined comment on her condition.

Man, 19, Booked In 'Cycle Theft

A 19-year-old San Rafael man was arrested Saturday on suspicion of theft of a motorcycle, San Rafael police reported today.

Thomas Kenneth Caro, of 11 Brentwood Drive, was released on $1,200 bail to appear Wednesday in Marin Municipal Court.

According to police, two juvenile witnesses saw Caro take the motorcycle from in front of 15 Fernwood Court. The motorcycle belonged to Donald Charles Timmer of 20 K Street, San Rafael.

Caro later was arrested on Knight Drive and told police that he had left the motorcycle on Main Drive, police reported. They recovered the motorcycle and returned it to Timmer, according to reports.

School Building Decision Pending

Mill Valley School District trustees will meet at 8 o'clock tonight to rule on a request for a construction deadline extension by the contractor building Mill Valley Middle School.

The request was submitted in mid-March when the school was to be finished, according to director of business services Carroll D. Killingsworth, but has not yet come before the board even though the school is not finished.

He said the request was delayed because the district's architect and building inspector were negotiating with the contractor, Dickman Construction Company of Mountain View, for a reduction in the number of days asked.

Killingsworth said Dickman had asked 67 days because of rain-caused delay, and the district's representatives now recommend the board approve 54 days. Killingsworth said estimates are that the building will be finished by May 30, which he said was enough time to ready it for the coming school year.

The board will also hear reports on the screening committee for the principalship of Old Mill School, and a recommendation that the district have summer school classes only for educationally and visually handiicapped children.

Santa Rosan Denies Assault Of Coed

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Larry S. Coffey, 20, of Santa Rosa, has pleaded innocent in Sonoma County Superior Court to a charge of rape.

Judge Lincoln F. Mahan said a trial date will be set May 24. Coffey was arrested March 29 on suspicion of raping an 18-year-old Sonoma State College coed in an oatfield off East Cotati Avenue near the campus.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Learning To Relax Yourself Helps Develop Independence

A California housewife writes: "I can't unwind and don't think I'll ever be able to relax. But people need to relax and you must help me."

The above is an excerpt from a letter written by a woman who needs psychiatric care. We assume she has a severe anxiety neurosis, or perhaps, an unreasonable fear (phobia) is making it impossible for her to relax. A number of procedures may help depending upon the cause of her problem.

A VARIETY of drugs such as the muscle relaxants promote relaxation. Hypnosis has also been used. In addition to these measures, several systems of self-relaxation are more practicable because they encourage independence. One of these utilizes the calming effects of warm baths and cold compresses. The patient sits in the tub and repeats suggestions that different parts of his body are warm or cold.

In another method, the individual is taught to relax by sitting or lying in a comfortable position, and contracting and then relaxing successive groups of muscles. Both procedures are good, but take a month or more to master.

AT THE Maudsley Hospital in London, 92 psychiatric patients were introduced to a different technique; all but three achieved relaxation within two minutes. The three failures were women who developed more anxieties on closing their eyes when someone else was in the room.

In this procedure the individual rests comfortably in a chair or couch and the physician quickly repeats a series of phrases in a quiet, rhythmical, and monotonous voice. He says, "Let your toes," then pauses a moment and continues, "relax."

THE PAUSE continues until the patient begins to breathe out. This is followed by some 24 phrases naming different parts of the body. The toes are followed by the soles, tops of the feet, ankles, calves, shins, and upwards ending with the eyes.

Another group of 58 individuals were taught to relax in half a minute by making themselves comfortable and counting down from 10 to 1.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

ULCER AND FEVER

M. S. writes: Does the person who is hemorrhaging from peptic ulcer run a temperature?

REPLY

There may be a slight fever from the absorption of blood, but usually the temperature is subnormal because of shock. Incidentally, everyone has a temperature, but when it goes above 98.6, we call it fever.

TREATING DEPRESSION

A reader writes: If shock treatments fail, can anything be done for a depressed person?

REPLY

Several drugs are useful in the treatment of depression, but they are prescription items that your physician knows about.

ASPIRIN FOR DIABETES

J. W. writes: If aspirin reduces the amount of sugar in the blood, why can't it be used in the treatment of diabetes?

REPLY

It could, but the amount required would be so great, the diabetic would develop indigestion, ringing in the ears and bleeding from the intestines or under the skin. It takes from 15 to 18 (5 grain) aspirin tablets to lower the blood sugar level.

Hitler Birthday Celebration

TRENTON (UPI)—Garbed in brown shirts and black stormtrooper uniforms, about 35 persons gathered Sunday in a swastika-bedecked banquet room near the New Jersey statehouse to commemorate the 83rd birthday of Adolf Hitler.

The gathering, held by at least three white supremacist organizations, had been delayed for five days after 12 hotels had refused to rent the group space. The party-goers, from the National Renaissance party, the Ku Klux Klan and the White Action movement, sang "Happy Birthday, Dear Fuehrer," and cut a four-layer white birthday cake decorated with red swastikas.

Under an American Nazi party flag, a German naval battle flag and emblems of the Klan and the Renaissance party, the group chanted "Seig Heil, Seig Heil, White Power, White Power," and then, with arms outstretched in a Nazi salute, recited:

"Our sword is the truth. Our shield is our faith and honor in age or youth. Our hearts and minds we pledge. Though we may die to save our people, and our land, our race shall stand—our millions marching on—Seig Heil!"

Speaker, Judges Set For Teacher Award

John H. Edwards, executive vice president of San Francisco State College, will speak at a banquet Thursday honoring this year's winner in the Central Marin Outstanding Young High School Teacher competition.

The San Rafael Jaycees, sponsor of the competition, also announced today the names of the three judges. They are Dr. Margaret Greene, of the College of Marin; Dr. John S. Hadsel, professor of continuing education, San Francisco Theological Seminary, San Anselmo, and Charles Lavaroni of Dominican College, San Rafael.

The banquet, jointly sponsored by the Jaycees and the Independent-Journal, will begin at 8 p.m. at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant, San Rafael.

Nominees in the competition are Donald Ritchie, and William C. Ciabattari of Marin Catholic High School; Arnold Riesen and Sally Markey of San Rafael High; Beth Clawson and Sister M. Dorothea O'Donnell of San Domenico School and Christine Anderson and Susan Dohrman of Sir Francis Drake High School.

Nod Is Sought On Townhouses

The San Rafael Planning Commission will hear a request for architectural approval for the Green Oaks townhouse development at the end of Manuel T. Freitas Parkway when the commission meets at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at city hall.

Owner of the property is Terra Linda Development Co. of San Francisco.

The commission also will hear a request to rezone 6.2 acres at Glen Park and Myrtle avenues from residential to residential-planned unit development. Thirty townhouse units are planned for the site by owner Frank Merz.

Donation For Bulletin Board

Directors of the Friends of the Larkspur Library have donated $30 to purchase a bulletin board for the adult library, Joi Losee, board president, reported yesterday.

The board also donated 25 books to the library in honor of the late Daniel Allen, former city councilman and member of the library's board of directors.

A book on Irish houses and castles also was donated in honor of Janice Huey, a past president of the organization, and her husband, Samuel Huey, a former member of the library board.

Mr. J. Oliver Finds Way To Help Shrink Painful Swelling Of Hemorrhoidal Tissues

...caused by inflammation and infection.

Junction City, Kansas.—Mr. J. Oliver writes: "I couldn't get relief. Then I bought Preparation H. I surely recommend it. It's worth its weight in gold."

(Note: Doctors' tests have proved Preparation H® actually helps shrink swelling of hemorrhoidal tissues caused by inflammation. It's so effective that in many cases the first applications give prompt, temporary relief from pain and itching in such tissues. There's no other formula like Preparation H.)

Scouts Set Litter Drive On Saturday

If all goes well, about 1,000 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers will fan out across Marin County Saturday on an all-day drive to pick up litter.

The effort in Marin is part of a nationwide "Keep America Beautiful Day," sponsored by the Boy Scouts of America.

Last year, a similar drive enlisted the energy of 1,000 scouts in Marin who collected five tons of litter.

"This year, we're hoping for at least 1,000 volunteers," said William Deedy of Ross, one of the project's organizers. "We already have 250 signed up and returns are still coming in strong."

Among the key litter areas that will be patroled by the scouts are Samuel P. Taylor State Park; Paper Mill Creek in Mill Valley; the Sun Valley area in San Rafael; Corte Madera Creek area, Ross; Bel Marin Keys, Stafford Lake and Novato Creek Park, both Novato.

This year's drive will have a helping hand from Pepsi Cola Bottling Co., Coca-Cola Bottling Co. and McDonald's Restaurants. The soda companies have donated 10 cases of soda to the volunteers, while McDonald's has offered free hamburgers, french fries and drinks.

Other organizers of the clean-up effort include Bruce Roberts, John Spencer and Jeffrey Schultz, all of Ross, and Samuel Wright of Orinda.

Crackdown On Mail Diet Fraud

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Postal Service, coming to the aid of gverweight people "desperate" for a reducing shortcut, has begun a crackdown on fraudulent promotion of grapefruit diets.

The service said one promoter made $250,000 in illicit earnings receiving as many as 1,000 letters daily requesting $2 copies of a worthless diet based on grapefruit.

"Overweight people do get desperate about finding a quick and easy shortcut to weight loss," Postal Service attorney Thomas Ziebarth said in discussing the crackdown in a weekend statement.

Dr. Vincent F. Cordaro, medical review officer for the Food and Drug Administration, said grapefruit has no special properties or capabilities for weight reduction, but could have ill effects on persons with abnormal heart or kidney conditions.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

Young Bridge Player Spends Much Time Learning How

We spend our youth learning how to do things that we avoid in middle age. The youthful bridge player spends much of his life learning how, when and with whom to finesse. The middle-age bridge player spends just as much time and effort trying to avoid finesses.

SOUTH RUFFED

West opened a diamond, and East took the first two tricks in that suit. South ruffed the third diamond with a high trump, drew three rounds of trumps and finessed with the queen of hearts.

This lost, and South eventually lost another heart trick. It was all over very quickly, and South felt practically no pain. He never saw that he had a much better play for his contract.

Declarer couldn't tell who had the king of hearts. East would have made his overcall of one diamond with just the strong diamonds and no side strength.

PLAY ON FEAR

Since South doesn't know who has the king of hearts, his best chance is to play on the enemy's fear. Declarer draws three rounds of trumps, ending in the dummy, and then leads a low heart from dummy.

If East has the singleton king of hearts, he must play it. If East has the doubleton king of hearts, will he have the courage to play low? Even if East does have this courage, will he do so without giving himself away?

EASY TO ANSWER

These questions are easy to answer. Lead the low heart from dummy, and all but one East player in a million will rise to the bait by playing the king of hearts. Then you have no further problem.

If East fails to put up the king of hearts, you must plan to finesse later on. If the finesse were going to succeed early in the play, it would still succeed later.

You hold:

ANSWER: Bid one spade.

In the absence of an intervening bid your hand is clearly worth a response. Some experts would bid one spade even if there were an intervening bid of one diamond or one heart.

Blyleven Throttles A's, 8-4

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI)—Bert Blyleven gave up only three hits in Minnesota's 84 victory over Oakland Sunday, but he said one of them could be worth $50,000.

"I thought Reggie Jackson's home run was going for the sign," Blyleven said. "Since I knew it was out, I figured it might as well be worth something. Maybe he'd split it with me."

Blyleven was referring to the sign above the right field scoreboard which is worth $50,000 from a Twin Cities savings organization to any player who hits it.

Jackson's homer gave the A's a breif 1-0 lead in the first inning but it was quickly forgotten as the Twins rapped four pitchers for 13 hits. Blyleven didn't allow a second hit until the eighth inning.

Blyleven, who won his last six games last year and his first two this year, credited the play and advice of his roommate, Danny Thompson, for much of his success.

"When things weren't going well last year and the team wasn't scoring many runs for me," Blyleven recalled, "Danny talked me into concentrating on doing the best job I could every time I pitched—every pitch I threw.

"He's helped me other ways, too, like with three hits today." Fourth day this year despite a schedule filled with postponed games and open dates.

Sharing the spotlight with Blyleven Sunday was center fielder Bobby Darwin, who hit a home run, his fourth of the year, on the first pitch he saw in Metropolitan Stadium.

"It wasn't much of a hit," he said. "I barely got a piece of a curve ball and I really didn't think it was going out.

"That makes a home run now off four different pitches, a fast ball, a slider, knuckleball and curve. I think I'm going to like hitting here. There's a good background and you can pick up the ball real well."

The 29-year-old rookie apologized to reporters for not being more colorful. "I'm not used to having sportswriters pay a lot

Giants Not Pushing Panic Button — Yet

Houston Explodes For Win

By JOE SARGIS

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—No one on the San Francisco Giants is hitting the panic button today but a few fingers are getting itchy.

Just before the players strike began the Giants looked like solid contenders for the National League west title they won a year ago on the final day of the season.

The combination of the 13-day strike and the loss of Willie McCovey in the first week of the season, though, seem to have taken its toll. A batting slump that was starting to look ominous came to a halt Sunday when the club put together timely hits for a four-run rally in the eighth and a seemingly comfortable 7-3 lead over the Houston Astros.

Then, the Astros, streaking ahead like their counterparts who conquered the moon this past weekend, sent 14 men to bat in the ninth against Jerry Johnson, Don McMahon and John Morris, and when the dust had cleared around the confused Giants, Houston had scored 10 times and went on to win its sixth in a row, 13-7.

"Seven runs should be enough to win any game," moaned Giants skipper Charlie Fox. "Our pitchers should be able to hold a four-run lead for only one inning but they didn't. I was especially disappointed in Johnson. He's my best reliever and he simply didn't do a job for me."

An RBI single by Bobby Bonds and Dave Kingman's three-run three-run homer were the blows that shot the Giants in front at 7-3 in the eighth and Fox called Johnson in to get three outs.

Jerry, who came on with two saves already under his belt, didn't get a man out of the four he faced. Norm Miller opened the ninth with a pinch-hit double and Johnson walked Roger Metzger. Cesar Cedeno, who had five hits in six at-bats, two stolen bases, three RBIs and boosted his batting average to .444 on 16 hits in 36-at-bats, drove both home with another double and after Johnson walked Jim Wynn, McMahon replaced him.

Lee May greeted the 42-year-old reliever with a homer to left for three more runs. Two more singles finished McMahon. The Astros continued their attack against Morris with five more hits for a total of eight in the inning.

Giants owner Horace Stoneham and a capacity crowd of 40,821 turned out for the game and when it was over there wasn't a happy face in the newly refurbished Candlestick Park.

How about getting help elsewhere, especially a pitcher?

"We're always thinking about getting help," said Fox, "But it's not as easy as it seems. No

Marin Special Olympics Has 200-Plus Performers

More than 200 mentally retarded children and adults gave it their best try Saturday at the fourth annual Marin County Special Olympics, held at San Rafael High School.

The contestants competed in track and field and swimming events, with some of the top winners advancing to the state championships scheduled for June in San Jose.

Among the outstanding performances was a 217-foot softball throw by John Mendez of Sinaloa Junior High of Novato, 217 feet, in the 13-15 age group. Thirteen-year-old Bill Raudio of Neil Cummins School in Larkspur threw a softball 115 feet. The top standing broad jump was by Tommy Curtis of Cedars Development Foundation, 6 feet, 4 inches, in the 16-18 age group.

Top performances among the women came from Lucy Garcia and Ellie Dufficy, both from Cedars and in the 19 and older category, 116 feet and 100 feet respectively.

Special guests who helped in the day's activities were former Olympic champions George Foreman (boxing), Archie Williams (track) and Steve Clark (swimming), Ted Kwalick of the San Francisco 49ers, and Gordon Tovani of barefoot place kicking fame.

"Public response to the Special Olympics program is growing better every year," said meet director Tom Smith. "This year kids from all over Marin County, many from special education classes within public schools, participated in the event. In the future we hope that the departments of sports and recreation in the county can become involved in year round recreation programs and that we can expand from here in an infinite variety of sports opportunities."

The meet was sponsored by Marin Aid to Retarded Children, Cedars Development Foundation and Easter Seal Society Recreation for the Handicapped.

Golfer Mitchell In La Costa Win

Rancho La Costa (UPI) — Bobby Mitchell has been known to complain about his lack of recognition in the pro golf world.

That should be all over now. Bobby Mitchell, as seen on television Sunday, was the guy wearing the hat who beat Jack Nicklaus on the first hole of a sudden-death playoff for the 1972 Mony tournament of champions at La Costa Country Club.

Mitchell sank a 20-foot birdie putt to win the 33,000 first prize. Nicklaus, still the no. 1 money-winner on the tour this year with 134,000 plus the 19,000 he won here for second, led by two strokes going into the last round of the tournament of champions. He shot a par 72 while Mitchell precipitated the tie by shooting 70. They were tied at 208, eight under, after 72 holes.

They went to the par-three 14th hole, 202 yards, for the playoff. Nicklaus said he hit a three-iron, explaining, "I cut the ball up into the wind and it drifted a bit to the left." It was in the rough.

Mitchell also hit a three iron but he was on the green about 20 feet short of the pin.

Nicklaus chipped up to five or six feet which made it two strokes for him. Mitchell, hitting his second shot, put the ball in the hole for the victory. It looked like it might lip out.

"The ball sort of was dying and it caught the right hand corner of the hole and the weight of it made it sink," Mitchell said.

In third place behind Mitchell and Nicklaus in the tournament of champions was Lee Trevino, who shot 72 — 282. That was good for $12,000.

Moroski, Novato Triumph

Marty Moroski, walking a tightrope on the edge of disaster, stranded 12 San Rafael High School baserunners and pitched Novato High to a 7-3 baseball victory Saturday night at Albert Park in San Rafael.

With the triumph, Novato moved into a tie for second place in the Marin County Athletic League with San Marin at 4-2, two games behind undefeated Redwood. San Rafael slipped to 2-4, tied for sixth.

Moroski was touched for two unearned runs in the fourth inning, one scoring on a walk to Dave Urquhart and the other on a single by Bruce Howard, but pitched out of trouble by striking out slugger Dirk Gansloser. In the sixth, Moroski hit Howard to force in a run, but again whiffed Gansloser with the bases loaded.

Novato went on top to stay with three runs in the second inning. Jim Askim doubled and scored on Tom Conklin's triple. Moroski walked and advanced to second on a fielder's choice, and Bill Busher drove in two runs with a single.

The Hornets scored again in the sixth on a bad throw to the plate by the San Rafael shortstop on a bases-loaded grounder by Tom Conklin. Novato tallied three insurance runs in the seventh, one on a double by Mike Lamb and two on a double by Bob Lawrence.

Santa Rosa Relay Win By San Marin

San Marin High School's sprint medley relay team of Randy Colfer, Larry Butti, Ron Zechlin and Gary Lathrop ran a 3:37.2 Saturday to become the only Marin County varsity winner in the Santa Rosa Junior College Relays.

Darrell Elder of Redwood won twice at the Class B level, setting meet records with a shot put of 55 feet, 1 inch and a discus throw of 148-5.

Several other outstanding performances were recorded, including a 10.0 clocking by Terra Linda freshman Steve Johnson in the Class B 100-yard dash — the fastest 100 by any Marin runner, varsity or B, this year. Johnson finished fourth.

Jan-Eric Moller of Redwood ran Marin County's fastest two-mile of the year, 9:39.1, finishing second. Gary Lathrop of San Marin ran a fine half-mile, 1:58.5, as part of a relay.

Although not placing, teams from Terra Linda bettered the current Marin County Athletic League best times for the 440 relay (44.1) and mile relay (3:31.0).

Wilt Seeks 'Dream' Title; Knicks Eliminate Celtics

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Wilt Chamberlain looks forward to the "dream" title to go along with his million dollar dream house.

Chamberlain, too tired to even smile after Los Angeles beat Milwaukee, 104-100, for the Western Conference title Saturday, was in the middle of a four-day layover today as the Lakers prepared to host the New York Knicks Wednesday night in the opener of their best-of-seven series for the National Basketball Association championship.

"I've dreamed about beating New York ever since they took us in seven games two years ago," Chamberlain said after stopping the Bucks. "I think we have a good chance of winning this time."

The Knicks clinched the Eastern Conference crown Sunday with a 111-103 triumph over the Boston Celtics and now look for their second NBA title in three seasons. But the odds are stacked against New York.

The Lakers, who set a league record this season with 33 consecutive victories, defeated New York four times in five meetings. They also have the home court advantage.

Jerry West, in his 12th season as a pro, but never on a championship team, and Chamberlain helped rally Los Angeles from 10 points back in the fourth quarter of Saturday's contest to nail Milwaukee in six games. West scored 12 points in that period and Chamberlain added nine.

Jackson's first homer of the year gave the A's a 1-0 lead but Blyleven retired 17 of 18 batters from the second through the seventh innings and Dick Green was the only man to reach base. He was hit by a pitch in the third.

Harmon Killebrew led off the Twins' second with a single and scored when Darwin homered off Ken Holtzman.

The Twins made it 3-1 later in the inning when Eric Soderholm doubled and scored on Blyleven's two-out single.

Minnesota added three more runs off loser Holtzman in the fourth and made it 8-1 in the sixth as Phil Roof doubled and scored when Jim Roland threw wildly past first base on Blyleven's sacrifice bunt. Cesar tovar's single then scored Blyleven from second.

Revised N.L. Odds Favor Los Angeles

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

STATELINE, Nev. — The Los Angeles Dodgers' fast start has made them prohibitive favorites to win the National League West in revised odds released Saturday by Harrah's Tahoe Racebook.

In odds released just before the start of the season the Dodgers were 7-5 favorites, but now have been made 3-5 picks to win the N.L. West.

Alston Day Marred By Padre Victory

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

It may have been Walter Alston's day, but it certainly did not rub off on his Los Angeles Dodgers.

The National League Western Division leaders bowed, 2-1, yesterday to San Diego as the Padres spoiled festivities honoring Alston who is starting his 19th year as the Dodgers' manager.

In the other games, New York swept a doubleheader from Chicago 8-2 and 7-6 in 12 innings, Philadelphia topped Pittsburgh 5-4 in 11 innings, Atlanta nipped Cincinnati 4-3 in 11 innings and St. Louis drubbed Montreal 6-1.

Los Angeles' six game winning streak was snapped when Derrel Thomas hit a sacrifice fly in the eighth inning to give San Diego the victory over the Dodgers. Clay Kirby pitched a six-hitter to boost his record to 2-0 while Tommy John took the loss. The loss left Los Angeles only one-half game ahead of the Astros in the West.

Montreal, which was unbeaten, united and ranked No. 1, finally suffered its first loss of the season after winning its first five games. Rookie Scipio Spinks pitched a five-hitter to give the Cardinals the victory over Montreal. Spinks, obtained last week in a trade with Houston, struck out seven and walked five. Ted Simmons' two-run first inning single off loser Steve Renko started the Cards off to the win.

one gives away anyone of any value."

How about the team batting, which is averaging somewhere around the .200 mark after nine games, five of which the Giants have lost?

"We just have to keep on swinging and hope to come out of it," said Fox. "We have good personnel and now it's just a matter of us playing to our ability."

Fox sought to shake up the batting order in Sunday's game when he inserted the lefthanded hitting Jim Howarth at first and Dave Rader behind the plate with Kingman shifting back to third.

Fox said he will stick with Sunday's lineup for Tuesday night's series opener against the Philadelphia Phillies. Juan Marichal will pitch Tuesday against Steve Carlton and on Wednesday it will be Sam McDowell against Bill Champion.

Allen Bats White Sox To Victory

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

There's a new twist to the Dick Allen story this year: He thinks he's going to stay put and it's the team that's going places.

Baseball's wandering slugger is off to a brilliant start with the Chicago White Sox and said Sunday after leading them to their fifth straight victory that he'll never play for any other major league club.

"I like it here in Chicago and have made up my mind that no matter what happens this is the last club I'm going to play baseball with," said Allen after driving in two runs with a homer and a triple and then scoring the winning run in a 3-2 triumph over the Kansas City Royals. "I'm just too tired of moving around.

The Minnesota Twins defeated the Oakland Athletics, 8-4, the Cleveland Indians nipped the Baltimore Orioles, 2-1, the Milwaukee Brewers beat the Detroit Tigers, 3-0, and the Texas Rangers downed the California Angels, 5-2, in other American League games. New York at Boston was rained out.

San Anselman Third In Pelican Boat race

Pete Lind of San Anselmo finished third, about 35 seconds behind the leader, in a San Francisco Bay Pelican Association boat race at the Stockton Sailing Club Saturday.

Arnold Haller of Berkeley won and Dick Weymar of Stockton was second. Mrs. Haller won the women's race, with Mrs. Chuck Fischer of Larkspur second and Mrs. Lind third.

Bruins Slam Blues; Rangers End Series

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

The New York Rangers have set the example and it now seems likely that Boston will follow their lead and set up an early start to the final round of the Stanley Cup playoffs.

New York completed the first four-game playoff sweep of its history by whipping the Chicago Black Hawks 6-2 Sunday night to gain the final round for the first time since 1950. Just a few hours earlier, in a nationally televised game, the Bruins routed St. Louis for the third consecutive time 7-2 to take a 3-0 lead in the other semifinal.

Boston can complete its sweep with another victory at St. Louis Tuesday night, and brash Johnny McKenzie, who contributed two goals Sunday, said, "We should be able now to wrap it up in four games."

Bobby Rousseau, playing in the 100th playoff game of his career, scored two goals and two assists to lead the Ranger attack. Rod Gilbert added a goal and two assists and Vic Hadfield had one goal and two assists.

"I got two perfect passes, first from Rod and then from Vic," said Rousseau. "All I had to do was put the puck in."

STEEL AGAINST POLYSTEEL
Here's the Custom Power Cushion Polysteel tire you've seen on TV, matched against dozens of vicious hardened-steel drill bits and the Goodyear Polysteel tire won!

POLYSTEEL
CUSTOM POWER CUSHION TIRE

Here's steel cord belt strength with polyester cord smoothness, in a great long-wearing tire.

Goodyear builds it with two belts of steel cord for long-lasting resistance to impact and penetration. (You wouldn't run over steel drill bits the way we did here — but the demonstration illustrates how tough the steel belts really are.)

Then Goodyear makes the long mileage easy to take, with a flexible polyester cord body to soak up the shocks.

The brute strength of steel. The road-softening smoothness of polyester. Both in this superb new tire.

34 Pro Grid Games Set For TV Coverage

NEW YORK (UPI) — A total of 34 nationally televised regular season games, including 15 doubleheader games, 13 Monday night games and four Saturday contests, highlight the National Football League's 53rd season, beginning Sept. 17.

The American Broadcasting Company (ABC) will handle the television chores for the Monday night games for the third straight season.

Some of the standout pairings on Monday nights will include Green Bay at Detroit on Oct. 16, Minnesota at Chicago on Oct. 23, Los Angeles at San Francisco on Dec. 4 and the New York Jets at Oakland on Dec. 11.

The Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS) will televise eight doubleheaders and the National Broadcasting Company (NBC) will telecast seven. Additionally, NBC will show the Cleveland-Cincinnati and Baltimore-Miami contests on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 9 and 16, respectively. CBS will beam the Washington-Dallas and Minnesota-San Francisco games on the same two Saturday afternoon dates.

A pair of Thanksgiving Day games — the New York Jets at Detroit (NBC) and San Francisco at Dallas (CBS) — will also be made available to home viewers.

The divisional playoffs are scheduled for Dec. 23-24, with the conference championships slated for Dec. 31. Super Bowl VII will be played Jan. 14 in Los Angeles. NBC will televise the AFC playoffs and championship game as well as the Super Bowl. CBS will handle the chores for the NFC playoffs and championship as well as the AFC-NFC Pro Bowl, slated for the weekend of Jan. 21.

The Central Division, under the rotation plan adopted before the 1970 season, has first priority for the conference championship game site in both conferences. In the AFC, the next order of priority is the Eastern Division, while in the NFC it is the Western Division.

Dallas, seeking to expand two winning streaks, and Miami, facing the same team with which it shared football's longest game, are involved in the featured opening day contests.

The defending Super Bowl champion cowboys, sporting a carry-over 10-game win streak from last season, play host to the Philadelphia Eagles, a National Football Conference Eastern Division for whom Dallas has defeated nine consecutive times.

The Dolphins, 24-3 losers to Dallas in Super Bow VI, will help open Kansas City's new 78,000-seat Arrowhead Stadium when they battle the Chiefs. Miami earned the right to meet Baltimore in the American Football Conference title game last season by first overcoming the Chiefs 27-24 on a field gaol by Garo Yepremian after 22 minutes, 40 seconds of sudden-death overtime.

Other opening day matchups have Atlanta at Chicago, New Orleans at Los Angeles, the New York Giants at Detroit, Cincinnati at New England and Houston at Denver. Also, the New York Jets at Buffalo, Oakland at Pittsburgh, Green Bay at Cleveland, St. Louis at Baltimore and San Diego at San Francisco.

Washington is at Minnesota on Sept. 18 in the first of the Monday night classes.

Petaluma Track Men Take '5th' In Relays

Petaluma High School scored 17 points in the Large School Division of the Martinez Track and Field Relays Saturday and finished "about fifth out of 40 schools," according to Petaluma coach Doug Johnson.

The Trojans' best showing was in the high jump where Jeff Myers, Lee Lombardi, Ron Shields and Bill Hockerson combined to jump 23 feet, good for a second-place finish.

Petaluma took a pair of thirds with Jon Sisler, Jose Martinez, Stan Hockerson and Steve Bond running a 10:53 in the distance medley and Martinez, Bob Ramirez, John Schuster and Steve Ewing clocking a 2:42 in the sprint medley. The sprint medley team also combined to pick up a fourth in the mile relay with a 3:30.5.

The Trojans picked up two other fourth place finishes in the two-mile relay with Jim Judd, Jim Larsen, Bill Wetjen and Scott Bennett going 8:38.7 and the triple jump with John Zakariassen, Lombardi, Shields and Dale Banda in a 158-7 combined effort.

Petaluma's 480-high hurdles relay team of Zakariassen, Banda, Bob Vaz and Larry David took a fifth to complete the Trojans' scoring.

Sonoma '9' Drops Three To Cal State

The Cossacks, now five and 30, dropped Friday's affair 3-0, and a Saturday twin bill, 5-4 and 5-4.

Cossack power hitting aided the Sonoma cause Saturday as Gordon MacLachlan powered a third inning home run in the Saturday opener, and Rich Garretson boomed a three-run homer in the second game.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Royal Dutch Good Retirement Yield

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Having retired I am in need of additional income. Can you give me information on the future of A. H. Robins (NYSRE) and Royal Dutch Petroleum (NYSE)? — A.H.

A. Certainly. Since you require additional income, Royal Dutch Petroleum with its roughly 5.6 per cent yield is suited to your needs. Although the firm experienced some earnings difficulty in its final 1971 half, and while oils in general are depressed, the stock has basic long-term appeal for income investors and offers recovery growth potential.

Robins, on the other hand, is not an income stock but is suited primarily to investors interested in long-pull growth. The company derives a major portion of its sales from ethical drugs, cough and cold preparations being the most important segment. Robins' 14-year string of uninterrupted earnings gains should extend throughout 1972 and beyond sparked by acquisitions, expansion of foreign operations and continued growth in already-established U.S. lines. Hence, while an attractive long-term growth vehicle, shares do not meet your investment objectives —returning only about 0.7 per cent — and may be sold at these all-time high levels for purchase of First Mtge. Investors (NYSE) offering a generous 9 per cent plus yield.

Q. I sold Disney (NYSE) in December at a considerable profit. Do you think it is presently too high to rebuy? — J.H.

A. Earnings estimates for the year to end Sept. 30 range from $2.40 to $3 a share, placing the price/earnings multiple in a substantial 55x to 70x range. At that level I would delay purchase for periods of correction. Attendance at the Florida Walt Disney World complex has surpassed expectations. The two hotels and the camping facility have been solidly booked. Expansion of available space has already begun. Earnings from this park should add 35 cents to net for the full year, with a larger contribution anticipated next year.

The recent retirement of the 4¾ per cent convertible debenture will add five cents to earnings despite the increase in common. With other operations also contributing strongly, shares should continue their overall uptrend.

Stocks, Reacting To War News, Sharply Lower

NEW YORK (UPI) —Stocks moved sharply lower during the first two hours today in moderate trading, apparently in reaction to developments in the Vietnam war.

Declines outnumbered advances, 824 to 402, among 1,594 issues across the tape. Two-hour turnover amounted to more than 6,270,000 shares.

The decline, which actually began Friday, was motivated further by reports of Communist attacks 38 miles from Saigon in the Vietnam war, according to some analysts.

Friday's retreat was attributed in large part to the report mutual fund redemptions in March were at a record high.

EXPERIMENTAL SAFETY CAR

General Motors' experimental safety car is previewed by newsmen and photographers before its appearance at the International Automobile Show in the New York Coliseum. Built to the safety specifications of the U.S. Dept. of Transportation, the five passenger sedan is a totally new vehicle incorporating a pillarless windshield, a "message center" instead of an instrument panel and a computer controlled anti-suid braking system. GM has crash tested four of the experimental cars and plans to test four more before turning two over to the Department of Transportation.

Credit Rating Is Key To Teen-Ager Account

By JOSEPHINE RIPLEY
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

How does a teen-ager open a charge account? It is far from easy.

If, like the majority of teenagers, he never has had such an account, he has no credit reference, no credit rating. There is no record as to whether he pays his bills, or how he pays them.

This is essential information for the merchant, particularly in the case of a minor. He hesitates to extend credit to him because, under the law, any contract entered into with a minor is voidable.

In most states, a minor is anyone under the age of 21. Now, with 18-year-olds eligible to vote, some states are moving to make that the legal age of majority. Thirteen states have already done this, and legislation is pending in several others.

One credit reporting agency, the Associated Credit Bureaus, Inc., has prepared a slide tape called "The Credit Generation." Edward F. Garretson, general manager of the Credit Bureau, Inc., in Washington, D.C., has shown this slide presentation to more than 30 junior and senior high school classes in the Washington area during the past year.

This is the gist of his advice on how to open your first credit account:

When you open that first account, apply for it when you don't really need it — that is, when you have the cash to pay for the item, not when you are hard up.

That first purchase should not be a large one, nor a frivolous one. It should be something you really need, such as new tires, an electric shaver, or a dress.

Make it clear when you apply for credit that you have the cash to pay for the item, but that you would like to open an account so you can use it in the future, when necessary.

Suppose the item costs $40. When credit is granted you pay $10 down and agree to pay the rest in monthly installments at the same rate. These installments will be due on a certain date — say the 10th of the month. That does not mean the 12th, the 20th, or the 30th. It means the 10th, Garretson says.

But since you are a newcomer in the credit world, why not pay it even before that date? Remember, you are establishing a credit record.
